Controls or Partly Owns 6,400 Others.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 23.—[Special.]—Thirty-three of the 100 giant banks which stand at the top of the nation's financial structure are today at least partly owned and controled by the federal government.

This fact was revealed today by an investigation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation's holdings of preferred stock in the country's biggest banking institutions. A comparison with RFC stock holdings of 14 months ago showed also that the banks are slowly buying back their independence from the RFC.

Plays Important Rôle.

While the New Deal, through the RFC, is "partner" in one-third of the 100 largest banks, it plays a much more important rôle in relation to smaller banks, holding stock in almost half of the banks in the country. About 6,400 of the 14,440 banks have sold stock or debentures to the RFC, and thereby have given the New Dealers, like any other stockholder, at least a potential voice in the banks' management.

In many banks, including several among the 100 largest, the RFC appears to hold a dominating "partnership." Fifteen of the banks which are rated among the biggest in the land have a third or more of their entire capital structure in the hands of the RFC, and in most instances 20 per cent of the stock would give the New Dealers working control if they chose to exercise it. In some of these 15 giant banks, however, the RFC actually controls a clear majority of the capital structure.

Among the big banks in which the New Deal, through the RFC, holds approximately a majority of the stock are the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Chicago; the First Wisconsin National bank, Milwaukee; Cleveland Trust company; the Central United National bank, Cleveland; the Detroit Savings bank, and the Trust Company of New Jersey, Jersey City.

Two Largest Banks in U. S.

The two largest banks in the United States, the Chase National bank and the National City Bank of New York, both have sold stock to the RFC. Other large, nationally known banks in which the RFC has preferred stock interest include the First National bank, Chicago; the Security-First National bank, Los Angeles; the Manufacturers' Trust company, New York; the National Bank of Detroit; the First National bank, St. Louis, and the Marine Trust company, Buffalo. Others are listed in the accompanying table.

Altogether, the RFC now has 1 billion dollars invested in the preferred stock of 6,400 banks. Of this total it has put 332½ million dollars, or nearly one-third, into the 99 biggest banks, spreading the other two-thirds out over 6,300 other banks.

Large banks are slowly buying back their stock from the RFC, and the larger they are the faster they are retiring it. This is shown by a comparison of RFC bank stock holdings on May 31, 1935, and on March 31, 1934, the previous date on which THE TRIBUNE made an investigation. The comparison is shown in the accompanying table.

15 Banks Pay Off U. S. Loans.

Whereas the RFC held stock in 39 of the 100 largest banks on March 31, 1934, it now holds stock in only 33. Fifteen of the biggest banks, all but three in New York City, have paid off their RFC stock, amounting to $58,700,000. Meanwhile nine other big banks have sold stock to the RFC for the first time, so that the net reduction of big banks with RFC stock is six. Other large banks gradually are paying off the RFC preferred stock.

Another evidence of diminishing RFC influence is that the government now holds 30 per cent or more of the capital in only 15 of the biggest banks, whereas on March 31, 1934, it appeared to have working control of 24 big banks.

Fear of New Deal meddling in bank affairs has played a partial rôle in the drive among banks to retire preferred stock. On two or three occasions the RFC has used its stock powers openly to force changes in bank management. The most notable instance was the installation of Walter J. Cummings as chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, early in 1934.

This same fear, as well as an absence of any need for additional capital, has been important in making

MEXICO CITY, June 23.—(AP)—A bomb apparently made of several sticks of dynamite and caps exploded early today in the patio of the United States embassy, making a hole about nine inches deep and breaking several windows, including one in the private office of Ambassador Josephus Daniels.

The ambassador called all foreign correspondents to his office tonight and informed them of the incident, which he described as "a matter which has no importance."

Makes No Complaint.

Daniels declined to inform local authorities of the bombing and refused to make a complaint. A policeman on duty at the embassy, however, recovered fragments of the missil and reported the explosion to police headquarters. The matter then was taken up with the foreign office.

No one was hurt.

Foreign Undersecretary Ceniceros, who is acting foreign minister, immediately asked Mr. Daniels to assist his department with the investigation. He also expressed official regrets because of the incident.

Thrown Over Wall.

The ambassador told the correspondents he had received no threats of any kind and could not explain the bombing.

The explosion occurred about 8 a. m. It was learned that an unidentified person or persons threw the bomb over the wall at the chancellery instead of at the residence of the ambassador, which adjoins it.

Heavy police reënforcements immediately were stationed at the embassy, with numerous plain clothes men to guard the building during the day and night. The embassy is located in the Colonia Roma, a fashionable residential section of the city, and is near a hotel patronized by many Americans.

State Department Notified.

Washington, D. C., June 23.—(AP)—The state department said tonight it had been advised that a bomb had been exploded near the embassy building at Mexico City but that "no importance" was attached to the incident.

The report said that about 7:30 a. m. a high explosive package was tossed over a wall into a garden near the embassy offices. The detonation broke several windows, but beyond that did no damage, the department was advised.

ROBBED OF SUIT; SLINKS HOME TO FIND A PARTY ON

George Barnes, 19 years old, kicked last night when four robbers cruising in a dark sedan abstracted his $25 and all his outer garments. Annoyed and feeling active in his track garb, George swung a foot into one robber's midsection. The gang promptly bundled him into the automobile and ejected him in an alley near Fullerton and Crawford avenues.

George scurried around corners and slunk through alleys for nearly a mile to his home at 4249 Palmer street. He peered in a window to find the house full of guests. He perched on some darkened steps to wait and to think things over. At last a man left the party for a breath of air and George prevailed on him to fetch sufficient apparel for a decorous entrance.

Barnes was one of six holdup victims of the pants snatching automobilists. Raymond Zych, 18 years old, 5215 Barry avenue, and Willard Meyer, 26, of 1720 North Kedvale avenue, each lost his outer clothing and $3. Conrad Peterson, 4912 Erie street, was robbed of $4 and his watch, shoes and coat. Thomas Cline, 32 years old, 3319 North Kilbourn avenue, a student at Kent College of Law, and Robert Olson, 26, of 943 North Le Claire avenue, surrendered watches.

Fisherman Gets Nibble, Dies of Heart Attack

Kensington, Conn., June 23.—(AP)—Arnold G. Kerbert, 60, of New Britain, did not live to haul in the fish he caught in Hart's pond today. His body was found upright in the water, one hand clenching a cigar and the other thrust in his hip pocket. Kerbert's line, which he had attached to a stake on the shore, was thrashing about with a fish on the hook. It was believed he had suffered a heart attack and stumbled off the bank of the pond.

Girl Ends Life; Tragedy Mars Dual Wedding

A joyous wedding party was in progress yesterday afternoon in the home of Louis Karansky, 1139 North Francisco avenue, for Miss Fay Robinson, 20 years old, and her sister, Tillie, 18 years old, daughters of his wife's sister, who were to be married later in the day at a double ceremony.

A taxi ground to a stop in the street outside. The door swung open, and Miss Ida Karansky, 25 years old, 1409 North Rockwell street, sister of the party host, staggered to the sidewalk. "I've taken poison," she gasped. "I want to die."

100 Poison Tablets Taken.

First aid was administered, and then the young woman was rushed to the Norwegian American hospital, where she died an hour later after telling physicians she had swallowed 100 poison tablets.

Police questioned members of the family on a report that Miss Karansky's suicide was motivated by jealousy. This was denied by the brother and the two brides. Fay was to marry Morris Ruthman and Tillie's groom was Abraham Dorfman.

The two sisters said they had asked Miss Karansky to be their maid of honor. She wanted her sweetheart to be the best man, they told police, and when this request was refused, she refused to act as maid.

The Wedding Goes On.

"I can't understand why she killed herself in front of our place," remarked Fay. "We know of no reason for her suicide, but it certainly ruined our wedding."

Despite the tragedy the double wedding ceremony was performed at the Bethel Temple, 3228 Palmer street. More than 1,000 guests were present, saddened by the death of the young woman. Miss Karansky was the daughter of Max Karansky, owner of a delicatessen, and was employed as a drug clerk.

BLAST HURTS 3 IN TROLLEY CAR ON NORTH CLARK

Passengers on a crowded south bound Clark street car were thrown into confusion last night when the car passed over a torpedo on the tracks half a block south of Division street. The explosion was heard half a mile and brought several police squads on reports of a bombing. The torpedo apparently had been placed on the tracks as a prank.

Windows on the front platform of the car were shattered. Three men standing there suffered minor injuries. They were Harry Welter, 40 years old, 247 Garfield avenue; Samuel Goldstein, 42 years old, 1219 North Clark street, and George Tomares, 43 years old, 1555 North Halsted street.

BANK CASHIER SHOT IN HOLDUP AFTER PICNIC; $1,500 SAVED

Joseph Skala, 2410 South Clifton Park avenue, cashier of the Skala State bank at 1817 Loomis street, was shot in the arm yesterday by one of two young bandits who attempted to rob him of $1,500 collected at the graduation exercises and picnic of the Bohemian Free Thinkers' School association.

The picnic was held at Pilsen park, 26th street and Albany avenue, and Skala, with two companions, had taken the money to an automobile outside to transfer it to the bank. The bandits appeared beside the car and demanded the satchel with the money.

Joseph Smazik, 2237 South Avers avenue, who was with Skala, grappled with the gunman, and in the fight two shots were fired, one of which hit Skala. The bandit fled with the money, but abandoned it in an alley less than half a block away, after two boys of the picnic party started to pursue him. Both robbers escaped.

THRONG BEACHES AND WOODLANDS; WARMER TODAY

Attracted by the first near-summer week-end weather of the season, thousands of Chicagoans filled the beaches, roadways, forest preserves, and golf links yesterday. From 8 a. m. on, the temperature remained above 59 degrees, touching 68 at 10 a. m. The forecast for today is for warmer temperature, cloudless skies, and southerly winds, but tomorrow may bring a return of showers.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the board of forest preserve commissioners, reported that between 350,000 and 400,000 persons visited the western woodlands yesterday. Of this number 250,000 attended 412 large picnics. The largest was a group of 5,000 at the United German Male chorus picnic in Thatcher Woods.

White House Sends Teeth to Needy Colored Woman

Little Rock, Ark., June 23.—(AP)—An appeal to the White House has brought a set of false teeth to Callie Fancy, Little Rock colored woman preacher, and a job to pay for them. An eight stanza appeal went to President Roosevelt from the woman, explaining that the relief agencies had fed and clothed her, but that she still was in need of teeth.

Girl, 8, Struck by I. C. Train at 79th Street

Margaret Stelmaszek, 8 years old, 7959 Coles avenue, was struck by an Illinois Central electric passenger train last night as she ran across the tracks in front of the station near 79th street. She was taken to the South Shore hospital, where it was found that her hip was fractured.

Twins, 3, Hunt Sugar Cookies; Find Thrills

Eugene Melvin Lavin, 3 years old, and his twin sister, Betty Marie, have the spirit of adventure. At 4 o'clock yesterday morning in the Lavin home on the third floor of 2148 Harrison street, Eugene awoke and stretched. He felt it was time to get up and he listened for sounds in the household, but all was quiet. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lavin, were enjoying their Sunday morning slumber.

Moonlight streaked through a window pane and touched the face of his sleeping sister. Surely, thought Eugene, he could find something better to do than sleep.

Being a lad of action, he turned to Betty Marie.

"Sister," he whispered, "let's get up and go see our Aunt Mary Lee, who lives up the street. You know she makes sugar cookies."

Informal Walking Attire.

Only one obstacle stood in their way to Aunt Mary Lee's. Mrs. Lavin, knowing well the high spirits of the children, had double locked the front door. But Eugene Melvin was resourceful.

Standing on a child's stool, he easily unlatched both locks, and taking his sister by the hand, tiptoed down three flights of stairs to the street, and turned east.

For five blocks their bare feet padded on the sidewalk. On the corner of South Laflin street they came upon Sergt. Thomas Vail, patroling the neighborhood.

"Mr. Policeman," queried young Mr. Lavin, "which is the road to Aunt Mary Lee's?"

They Go—But Not to Aunt's.

Sergt. Vail was not acquainted with Aunt Mary and said so. Then he began a series of questions. Failing to get suitable answers to such queries as the names of the small adventurers and their address, he took them to the Maxwell street station, and later to the Juvenile Detention home.

It was 7:30 o'clock when the Lavins awoke. There was a brief flurry of excitement which ended as soon as Mrs. Lavin called the police station and learned that the children were safe.

But after locating them at the home Mrs. Lavin learned she must leave them there until this morning, when examinations made of all children taken there are completed. This arrangement pleased the twins, who were being entertained royally.

Hide Peoria Slayer from Lynch Peril

Peoria, Ill., June 23.—[Special.]—Although Gerald Thompson, confessed rapist-slayer of Mildred Hallmark, 19 years old, was taken secretly to a new place of concealment by authorities today, threats of mob violence if he ever is located grew in volume from all sides. Thompson was held for a time yesterday in Bloomington jail.

Particularly outspoken threats to hang Thompson came from employés of the tractor company, where the young man, as well as the father of Miss Hallmark, were employed. Carloads of the workers yesterday made mysterious trips to surrounding towns in a vain effort to find the jail where he is secreted.

Expect Indictment Tuesday.

Frankly apprehensive of the public fury, State's Attorney E. V. Champion went forward with his plans to present evidence to the grand jury Tuesday and secure a murder indictment against young Thompson.

The names of the girls whom Thompson has attacked were learned both from his confession and from his diary—in which he recorded his conquests. Champion said at least half a dozen of them would appear before the grand jury to tell their stories.

After Thompson was taken into custody Thursday night he was questioned in secret for more than twenty-four hours before he confessed the slaying of Miss Hallmark. Before the confession was made public yesterday the wave of fury against the slayer had grown to such proportions that he was taken secretly to the MacLean county jail.

Before long, however, the enraged townspeople of Peoria had learned where he was being kept, and Sheriff Elmer D. Swearingen, openly admitting his fear that the jail might be stormed, persuaded authorities to move him again.

Believed in Springfield.

The general belief is that he is now held in Springfield, although Champion and Acting Police Chief Fred Nussbaum refused to make any statement.

An informal massmeeting at which vengeance against Thompson was sworn was held by the employés of the tractor company, but the men apparently are satisfied he is not in Peoria, and have made no demonstrations toward either the county jail or the state's attorney's office.

Champion expressed the belief and hope that by the time Thompson must be brought back for trial the flame of public hatred will have died down to a point where lynching threats will no longer be a problem.

Mother May Hire Counsel.

Thompson, at the time he made his confession, declared he was ready to plead guilty and take his punishment. However, his mother, Mrs. Charles Whiteside, has indicated that she will retain counsel and fight the case in his behalf.

Thompson's arrest came three days after Miss Hallmark's body was found early Monday in a ditch near Springdale cemetery. According to his subsequent confession, he had driven the girl to the cemetery to attack her.

When she resisted him he struck her several times, rendering her unconscious. Not knowing whether she was dead, he hurled her into the ditch. In this fall, authorities believe, the girl suffered a broken neck which caused her death.

JAPANESE EXPEL EXPLORERS SENT BY SEC. WALLACE

Suspect Activities of Russian Leaders.

BY JOHN POWELL.

PEIPING, China, June 23.—The expedition which Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace dispatched to Mongolia to search for drouth resisting grasses and plants is proving a source of embarrassment to American diplomatic and military officials here.

The expedition, composed of two White Russians carrying French passports, Prof. Nicholas Roerich and his son George, arrived in Japan early in May and first proceeded to the puppet régime of Manchukuo, but was compelled to leave due to the opposition of the Japanese military, who charged that the expedition was concerned with White Russian politics.

Make Request for Arms.

The expedition also had internal troubles while in Manchukuo due to a row resulting in the resignations of two American scientists connected with the agriculture department who also allegedly charged that the Roerichs were interested in other things than grass seed.

The Roerichs then came to north China and purchased complete equipment, including trucks, motor cars, and tents with money which was supplied by Secretary Wallace. The chief trouble developed when the Roerichs applied to the 15th United States infantry at Tientsin for a dozen army rifles and revolvers and a considerable stock of ammunition, which the army officers in charge declined to hand over. However, they finally complied upon receipt of instructions from the United States war department.

The Roerichs then proceeded to employ a force of White Russian Cossacks, formerly on the staf of Ataman Semenoff, once a leader of White Russian forces who battled against Red Russia. They were armed with the American rifles. The expedition traveled from Kalgan, Chahar province, to a point about 200 miles north, adjacent to the border of Outer Mongolia, where they now are supposed to be making a search for grass seeds.

Cossacks Use U. S. Name.

Whether the Roerichs are using the American flag is not known, but the fact that they carry credentials of the United States department of agriculture caused considerable suspicion and questioning among Mongolian leaders due to the presence of the armed White Russian Cossack guards who allegedly are acting conspicuously, making a show of American diplomatic protection.

American officials here are reticent to discuss the affair, but stated that representations were made to Washington. The senior Roerich is connected with the Roerich museum in New York, while his son was a former officer of the czarist army.

It is alleged that neither father nor son is a botanist, but it is said they are well informed on Mongolian politics. Red Russian officials here also are stated to be watching the Roerichs' alleged grass hunting efforts.

AUTHOR OF PACT.

The elder Roerich is credited with thirty years' agitation and work for the "Roerich pact" promulgated April 15 in Washington between North and South American countries for the preservation of new world artistic and scientific institutions and historic monuments in time of war.

The elder Roerich was a prisoner for five months in Tibet while on an expedition in 1928.

In 1923 he sued the Chicago Civic Opera company for $3,500, charging that an opera, for which he was commissioned to produce original settings, was canceled and his paintings were refused.

The son, George, described as an orientalist and Tibetan scholar, was reported in 1931 to be directing translation of ancient Tibetan medical treatises.

"Absorbed in Art, Science."

New York, June 23.—[Special.]—Maurice M. Lichtmann, vice president of the Roerich museum, tonight called reports from Peiping that Prof. Nicholas Roerich's expedition was embarrassing American diplomatic officials in China "malicious slander" and "sheer nonsense."

Lichtmann said Prof. Roerich, 61 years old, absorbed in art and science, has no interest in politics. He has taken out American naturalization papers and could not be traveling on a French passport, he said.

Prof. Roerich has no occasion to employ a White Russian armed guard, he continued. His expedition consists of two or three local Chinese scientists, a chauffeur, a Mongol driver, and a few Mongol porters besides himself and his son, George, Lichtmann declared. Prof. Roerich has not gone north from Kalgan, but south into the Gobi desert, where drouth resisting grasses are found.

Has 1,000 Paintings.

Prof. Roerich, who is honorary president and founder of the museum, which contains 1,000 of his paintings, has sent frequent reports to the institution and to the department of agriculture, Lichtmann said. The last was received about six weeks ago and told of his work in the desert.

As he gathers the seeds, he has them classified and prepared for shipment and sends them out by caravan. Several shipments have been received, the museum official said.

The expedition left Manchukuo because it had completed its work there, Lichtmann held. It was true that the two American scientists of the department of agriculture had left the expedition, but that was not because of a disagreement, but because it was found that local scientists, familiar with the grasses of the region, the locale, and the climatic conditions, were required, he asserted.

Prof. Roerich's second son, Svetoslav Roerich, a vice president of the museum, is now in northern India, where he is director of the museum's Himalayan research institute.

TEXTILE WING BACKS EASTERN MILL WALKOUT

Providence, R. I., June 23.—(AP)—The executive council of the woolen and worsted department of the United Textile Workers of America today indorsed a strike for tomorrow morning in all plants of the Uxbridge Worsted company.

A total of 3,250 workers in the company's mills in Woonsocket and Pascoag, R. I.; Lowell and Uxbridge, Mass., and Putnam, Conn., are affected.

Horace A. Riviere, vice president of the U. T. W., said the management had declined to accept a new wage scale calling for an increase of approximately 20 per cent in wages.

WOMEN'S PARTY SPONSORS EQUAL RIGHTS FOR MEN

Atlantic City, N. J., June 23.—(AP)—Alimony for wronged husbands and "heart balm" payments for neglected suitors were urged in an "equal rights" resolution adopted at a regional conference of the National Women's party today.

The resolution advocated equal rights before the law for men and women, equal pay for equal work, equal domicile, property, and guardianship rights, and "equal alimony in cases of divorce and equal consideration for men in cases of breach of promise."

The passage relating to alimony and breach of promise was an amendment offered by Mrs. Edwina Austin Avery, Washington, D. C., attorney, who expressed hope breach of promise suits soon would be outlawed everywhere.

NAZIS WOO FAVOR OF JAPAN; PRAISE FAR EAST POLICY

Militarists to Study German Methods.

BERLIN, June 23.—(AP)—Astute matchmakers busied themselves today arranging a "marriage of convenience" between Nazi Germany and Japan.

It was obvious the Empire of the Rising Sun and the third Reich have clasped hands across the vast steppes of Asia. Count Mushakoji, Japanese ambassador to Berlin, is now on an official tour of Germany's most important cities, with accompanying luncheons and speeches. German newspapers are publishing big headlines on Japan's call for "an eastern league of nations."

Praised in Press.

Some 70 Japanese officers soon will arrive to study the Reich's military methods and institutions. German newspapers are giving Japanese news increasing space.

Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi cultural leader, in an address before the diplomatic corps, and the foreign press recently went out of his way to pay tribute to the Japanese.

Adherents to the new Germanic faith movement point to Japan as an example of how religion and statecraft blend in a model manner. Ardent Hitlerites make no secret of the fact that the Japanese principle of identifying the emperor with divinity should be applied to Germany. "We come to God through Adolf Hitler," is a dictum not infrequently heard, even from Nazi Christian pulpits.

Couples With Fear of Reds.

To understand Germany's wooing of Japan it must be remembered that the fear of bolshevism is a cardinal obsession of Nazi statecraft. Hitler surrendered the so-called Polish corridor and decreed friendship with Poland to his subjects because he wanted a buffer state between himself and Russia.

It is in keeping with this general policy that Hitler is now seeking to ally himself with the nation which he believes can keep the Russians busy in the east.

WIFE UPSETS SLAYER'S DEFENSE.

Mobile, Ala., June 23.—[Special.]—The unwritten law defense claimed by Elmer N. Arant of prominent Lowndes county, who shot to death his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Norman, was refuted today by Arant's pretty young wife. Mrs. Arant, with an eleven months baby in her arms, said that Arant's story that he killed the couple as the result of Norman's attention to her was absurd.

BRITISH LABORITE DECLARES HITLER 'ACTS LIKE FOOL'

LONDON, June 23.—(AP)—Herbert Morrison, Laborite head of the London county council and former minister of transport, said tonight in a speech at York that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany "acts like a fool."

Morrison attacked dictatorships in general as did Ernest Brown, minister of labor, who preached today at the Baptist chapel at Clay Cross, Derbyshire.

Brown, who is a Baptist lay preacher, said, "we have tended to become our own gods and set up new idols in the shape of dictators, none of whom would save us if our souls are hungry."

ITALY SUPPORTS STAND OF FRANCE AGAINST BRITAIN

Capt. Eden Greeted Coolly in Rome Visit.

ROME, June 23.—(AP)—Great Britain's roving diplomat, Capt. Anthony Eden, arrived tonight in Rome, faced with a united Italo-French front in opposition to Britain's methods of obtaining a naval agreement with Germany.

His welcome was cool. Fulvio Suvich, undersecretary for foreign affairs, went to the station to meet him, but there was no demonstration such as usually accompanies a statesman's arrival, and the customary top hats were missing.

Shortly before Eden got here following his Paris talks, Suvich received Count Charles de Chambrun, the French ambassador, who had just returned from Paris. Suvich, it was understood, told him the Italian viewpoint on England's accord allowing Germany to build up to 35 per cent of her naval strength was identical with that of France.

To Face Grim Mussolini.

Both governments object to the unilateral manner in which London reached an agreement without taking into consideration the opinions of France and Italy. This fact, it was believed, will be stated to Eden by Premier Mussolini in no uncertain terms when they meet at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the Venezia palace for their first conversations.

Popolo di Roma, in a front page article examining the accord, said Italy obtains benefits from it, explaining:

"If Germany constructs a powerful fleet, which naturally will be all concentrated in the North Sea, then France and England will have to withdraw a more or less important part of their fleet from the Mediterranean. The advantage that the Anglo-German accord brings us, therefore, is that probably within a few years our fleet will be the strongest in the Mediterranean."

Eden was accompanied by William Strang of the foreign office, whose particular field is the league of nations. This fact, coupled with Eden's position as minister for league of nations affairs, indicated his determination to bring before Il Duce the subject of the league as affected by the Italo-Ethiopian dispute despite the Italian government's reluctance to have this matter discussed.

Offer Ideas on General Pact.

LONDON, June 23.—(AP)—Great Britain and Germany are presenting other powers with summaries of their views regarding the possibility of a future general naval limitation pact, it was officially announced today.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, Germany's envoy extraordinary, today flew to Hamburg to communicate to Reichsfuehrer Hitler the details of Germany's naval accord with Great Britain.

Germany has not the slightest intention of driving a wedge between Great Britain and France, Von Ribbentrop declared in a press interview before leaving Britain.

Also Wants Air Agreement.

BERLIN, June 23.—(AP)—German officials, commenting today on the naval accord with England, emphasized the reich also wants an air agreement. Another question which Berlin desires clarified is whether the Locarno treaty is going to function, in view of the Franco-Russian mutual assistance treaty. Germany says the latter destroyed the Locarno pact.

EX-AGENT FOR SEC IS SEIZED BY U. S. AS SOLICITOR OF BRIBES

Scarsdale, N. Y., June 23.—(AP)—William A. Raybell, who was an investigator for the federal securities and exchange commission until his dismissal last week, was arrested today at the home of J. Edward Jones, an oil royalty dealer.

Federal agents made the arrest upon information furnished them by Jones, against whom an injunction proceeding has been begun.

The oil man charged that the former investigator, who once testified against him, offered to absent himself from the trial of Jones on charges of violating the securities act and that in return for thus absenting himself he would be paid $27,500. Raybell also stipulated that Jones give employment to a friend.

Raybell was taken at once to New York and late today was placed in the house of detention to await arraignment tomorrow.

The account of what happened today at Jones' home recited that Raybell called by appointment and that Jones, on advice of counsel had wired his home with a voice recording device.

Jones, who personally filed the information at the Scarsdale police headquarters, said Raybell "revealed to me that I had been framed" and "told me how it was done."

ELISHA CASE'S DAUGHTER, 65, MISSING 4 DAYS

Police of Chicago and Oak Park were notified last night of the disappearance of Mrs. Edna Case Ver Maas, 65 years old, daughter of the late Elisha W. Case, who founded the Case & Martin Pie company, now the Case-Moody Pie corporation. She has been missing since Wednesday morning from the home of a nephew, Stanley Case, 411 Ontario street, Oak Park.

Mrs. Ver Maas has made her home with her nephew since the suicide of her brother, Elmer G. Case, president of the pie company, on July 13, 1934. Elmer Case shot himself in the basement of the pie company plant, 1807 Walnut street.

Absent Since Shopping Tour.

Stanley Case, who is a former general manager of the pie company, informed police that Mrs. Ver Maas left his house at 10 a. m. Wednesday. She had only a small amount of money, and said she intended to shop in the loop. When she failed to return he believed she might have gone to visit other relatives, Case said. He communicated with them and, upon learning they had not seen her, notified the police she was missing.

Mrs. Ver Maas brooded over financial troubles after her brother's death, according to the nephew. Her brother's will provided small bequests to a daughter and granddaughter, and allotted two-thirds of his $300,000 estate to his widow, Mrs. Doris Case, a former actress, who was his third wife. The remainder was left to her daughter by a former marriage, whom he had adopted.

Finds Self Hard Pressed.

Stanley Case furnished police with a description of his aunt. She is 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 175 pounds, and was wearing a black cloth hat with a white band, a blue and green printed crepe dress, black oxfords with black and white buckles, black stockings, a coat with a fur collar, and oxford glasses.

Mrs. Doris Case, who was made president of the pie company after her husband's death, recently announced she had signed a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, motion picture producers, for a part in a new film. She was reported last night to be in Hollywood.

'Sign from Heaven' Appears on Miner's Chimney

JAPAN SETTLES LATEST ROW IN NORTHERN CHINA

PEIPING, China, June 24.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Final settlement of the Changpei incident, which disturbed the relationship of Japanese authorities and the Chinese in Chahar province, was announced today after a conference between Maj. Gen. Kenji Doihara of Japan and the Chinese governor, Gen. Chin Teh-chuan. Details of the settlement were ot immediately made public.

The Changpei incident was reported Jue 12. Kwantung army officials protested to Chahar authorities against a local Chinese magistrate's questioning of a party of Japanese officers motoring from Dolon-nor to Kalgan. The magistrate was said to have halted the Japanese because they lacked passports.

Gen. Chin left a hospital to confer with the Japanese. He later returned to the institution and said that he had resigned. When Chin entered the hospital he had said he was going in "to recuperate" his health. This is the method usually employed by Chinese political leaders who wish to avoid unwelcome callers. The general previously said that his loyalty to Gen. Sung Cheh-yuan, his predecessor in office who was ousted, would compel him to vacate the leadership of the province.

Seize Suspect of Many Names in Hotel Theft

William Kelly, 40 years old, gave that name to the Hudson avenue police yesterday after they had arrested him for attempting to break into the room of a guest at the Ambassador hotel, Goethe and State streets, but at the detective bureau it was discovered the police might as well have booked him under any one of sixteen other names he has given in more than twenty-five previous arrests. Four policeman who took Kelly to the station after a bellboy had captured him, said he had offered them $100 each if they would let him go.

Charge Slugging and Theft of Cash at Subway Cafe

William Rousseau and Edward Kenyon, both of Detroit, Mich., complained to the Chicago avenue police yesterday that they were slugged by employés of the Subway café, 507 North Wabash avenue. The fight took place outside the café. Rousseau charged, when he complained that a purse belonging to his sister, Mrs. Pauline Fay, 3159 Hudson avenue, was stolen while she was in a washroom. The purse, minus $35, was later handed her by an entertainer, Rousseau said. The men were advised to go to court today and swear out John Doe warants for the assailants.

DRAGGED TO DEATH BY MULE.

Fayetteville, Ark., June 23.—[Special.]—Dragged one and a half miles by a mule, Albert Froman, 18, farm youth, was found dead today by a neighbor near his home. The mule apparently threw him and ran with the youth's foot caught in a trace chain.

McCAHEY TO BACK NEW AMENDMENT IN PENSION BILL

After meeting with 20 representatives of Chicago teacher welfare organizations, President James B. McCahey of the board of education departed last night for Springfield to seek an amendment to the teachers' pension bill now pending in the general assembly.

The new amendment was drafted yesterday in the school board offices by representatives of the school board, the teachers' pension board, and all the teachers' professional organizations in the city. This group simply carried out suggestions agreed to in principle by the different organizations in a conference on Friday with Gov. Horner. The amendment would enable 168 teachers who are not now contributing members of the pension fund to attain eligibility for pensions by paying their past due contributions.

Today the house is to consider on second reading, according to Mr. McCahey, a bill to revise the pension law completely. This bill would increase the maximum pension from $1,000 to $1,200 yearly. Under the amended emeritus annuity bill and the new pension measure, Mr. McCahey said, teachers retiring at the age of 65 after 35 years' service would receive a maximum of $1,700 per year.

HEAR BACKERS OF CIVIL SERVICE MEASURE TODAY

The enactment of the state civil service bill which would extend the merit system to 2,500 employés of Cook county fee offices will be urged before a meeting of the state senate civil service committee in the county board rooms in the County building this morning.

Representatives of more than fifty Chicago and Illinois civic organizations will attend the hearing and submit data in support of the proposed act. State Senator Thomas A. Keane, who introduced the bill in the senate, will preside. The measure has been passed already in the lower house.

The civil service extension act, which would strip Cook county fee offices of the bulk of their patronage jobs, is a companion measure of the bill, passed by both houses and now awaiting the signature of Gov. Horner, which provides a classified civil service for 1,500 employés of the Chicago sanitary district.

Mrs. Murry Nelson, chairman of the Joint Committee of the Merit System, will plead for approval of the bill on behalf of some fifty allied groups representing 200,000 Chicago and Illinois women.

ATTORNEY SEES ACQUITTAL FOR KIDNAPER'S WIFE

Tacoma, Wash., June 23.—(AP)—An early trial, possibly starting a week from Tuesday, was sought by the government today for 19 year old Mrs. Margaret Thulin Waley, who was prevented from pleading guilty to Weyerhaeuser kidnaping case charges.

With her 24 year old husband, Harmon, starting his 45 year sentence in McNeil Island federal prison, the girl wife waited the coming of attorneys to represent her at tomorrow's hearing before Federal Judge E. E. Cushman in which the trial date is to be fixed.

Although not permitted to address the court directly, Mrs. Waley's whispers in conferring with Stephen J. O'Brien, her attorney, were heard over the courtroom yesterday.

"I do not want to go to trial," she whispered, her eyes tear stained. "I want to plead guilty."

Judge Cushman disregarded her comment and ordered that a "not guilty plea be entered for her.

"I am convinced she could not be convicted if she went to trial," O'Brien told the court.

LLOYD GEORGE'S SCHEME STARTS CHURCH TROUBLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 23.—Former Prime Minister David Lloyd George's gigantic "national peace and reconstruction" convention scheduled to meet in London next week is stirring up trouble in the churches. The archbishop of Canterbury, it was learned tonight, virtually placed a ban on the convention, and influence is being strongly exercised to prevent the Church of England from associating itself with Lloyd George's movement, which calls for the adoption by the next parliament of an economic and social "new deal" and a realistic anti-war policy.

The bishop of Rochester, who was to have been one of the principal speakers at the convention, has decided he cannot move the peace resolution as he promised. Twenty-one British members of parliament, including thirteen Conservatives, four National Liberals, and three National Laborites, and one Liberal, signed a statement issued tonight protesting against Lloyd George's manifesto announcing the decision to form a council of action to boost the scheme in the forthcoming general election and criticizing the support given by church leaders.

"We think the work of the churches is not assisted by manifesto methods of electioneering," the statement declared. "We fear that such action will but delay the day which will bring new life and inspiration into the world and will bring into further disregard the religious agencies in our midst."

Investigate Constable's Suicide in Lake County

Officials of Lake county were investigating yesterday the apparent suicide early in the day of Lucian Cypher, 32 years old, a Wauconda constable, who shot himself in the head in a cottage at Round Lake. Mrs. Kathryn Geary, 40 years old, told police that she and Cypher had been drinking together and he had driven her to the cottage, where she is a housekeeper, in order to obtain some clothing. She said Cypher had threatened to take his life because of domestic troubles.

SHARE WEALTH TAX PLAN MAPS '36 BATTLEFIELD

Conservative - Radical Lines Drawn.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 23.—[Special.]—Events of the last week have etched more clearly the political alignments in the approaching contest for the presidency.

With his project for the redistribution of wealth, President Roosevelt has swung far to the left, alienating still further the conservative elements of his party but on the other hand regaining the support of left wing Democrats and Republicans, Socialists and other radicals who were threatening the formation of a third party.

In the face of the leftward trend of the administration, Republican thought is conspicuously crystalizing on lines of definitly conservative opposition to the socialistic aspect of the New Deal and more aggressive criticism of the President.

New York Youth Acts.

The New York State Association of Young Republican Clubs adopted a platform echoing the call of the Grass Roots midwestern Republicans to "save the constitution" from the designs of the New Dealers and demanding a return to an "economy of abundance" and the promotion of recovery by taking the brakes off business.

With events steadily tending toward a political realignment of conservative Republicans and Democrats against the liberal and radical elements of the two parties, the attention of the politicians is being concentrated upon the situation in the south where reaction against the "Roosevelt revolution" is rampant largely because the New Deal has upset the feudal economy of the southern tenant system, impoverished the share croppers and established the independence of the Negro population on the dole.

Seeks Showdown in 1936.

Adopting tactics that involve great danger to his candidacy, the President is driving toward a big showdown on the New Deal next year, first in the Supreme court and finally at the polls. By launching his share-the-wealth plan the President has regained the offensive at a moment when he was on the defensive, with his prestige impaired and his popularity declining.

The Supreme court had demolished his NRA and jeopardized the entire New Deal, while his subsequent proposal to change the form of government by constitutional amendment or otherwise in order to implement the New Deal had left the country cold and galvanized the Republicans into new life.

Hard upon these reverses for the President came the revelation of the partial failure of his widely publicized 5 billion dollar work relief program for taking the unemployed off the dole and priming the recovery pump with construction of public works on a vast scale.

Pledged Factory Revivals.

In procuring the legislation the President had represented that factories were to be set humming in the production of materials for such works, thereby reducing the relief rolls indirectly by factory employment in addition to the reduction afforded by direct employment on the works themselves.

But when he came to put the work relief plan into operation the President confessed that 5 billion dollars is not enough by half to finance the scheme. He was compelled to cut it down to a project of cheap undertakings, that would require comparatively little factory material, in order to provide employment for the 3½ million men on the dole for a year. The business priming plan was scrapped and the program remained little different from the leaves raking relief of the Civil Works administration of 1934, the waste and graft of which brought the administration under fire from both parties in congress.

Charges of Graft Follow.

On top of these developments came the charges by Ewing Mitchell, dismissed assistant secretary of commerce, that the President has favored his rich yachting companions, Vincent Astor and Kermit Roosevelt, by allowing them to withdraw the government owned steamer Leviathan from service without paying the government $1,720,000 prescribed by the contract. There ensued much animadversion in congress and out upon the President's vacation excursions on the Astor yacht Nourmahal, the latest of which coincided with the signing of the new Leviathan contract.

As a result of these untoward events, the President found the right wing elements consolidating against him with new energy and enthusiasm while the left wing was drifting away. Huey Long, prospective leader of a third party, had announced that he would tour the country with two sound trucks preaching his gospel of share-the-wealth.

Field Day for High Court.

The Supreme court term beginning next October will be a field day for New Deal legislation. If the court should hold much more of the President's program unconstitutional the New Deal would be pretty thoroughly discredited on the eve of the national election. Such a record of failure and futility, in the opinion of anti-New Dealers, would doom the President to defeat for reëlection. No less confident are the arch-New Deilers that such reverses at the hands of the court would rouse the country to support of a constitutional amendment which would legalize the new economic and political order sought by the President. On such a platform they would confidently look forward to the triumphant reëlection of the President and immediate steps thereafter to change the form of government.

The President himself, however, has disclosed the realization that only a setback in the recovery under way would cause a popular uprising in favor of changing the form of government. Thus the President has committed himself to a course the ultimate success of which is dependent upon economic disaster in the next 16 months. Continued recovery would tend to rob him of an issue, while strengthening the contention of the Republicans that the restoration of prosperity, though being retarded, is slowly beieng achieved despite the New Deal.

Decision Forced on Country.

The Roosevelt program for the confiscation of wealth and the leveling of incomes has brought the country face to face with questions of vast import calling for settlement in the next, if not this, session of congress and in the presidential election. One question is, who is going to pay for the New Deal. The rich are to be made to pay the bill, according to the plans of the New Dealers. But according to the economists, the poor, no less than the rich, will foot the bill in the end, for taxes imposed on the rich will be passed on to the ultimate consumer, as they always are, in the shape of increased cost of the products of industries in which tax burdened capital is invested. Thus, though the New Deal succeeds in bringing to the poor a more abundant life, as the President phrased it, the poor will pay for it in the higher cost of living produced by the soaking of the rich in the name of the redistribution of wealth.

Another question of no less moment is whether the increased exactions from corporations and investors will retard still further the recovery of prosperity. A fundamental dictum of the New Deal from the start has been that industry must reconcile itself to a smaller return on the investment than heretofore. Employés were to have a greater, employers a smaller share of profits. Whether there would be any profits was the question that worried capitalists.

Based on Individual Gain.

Our capitalistic system is based upon the productive capacity of individuals who are inspired by hopes of great gain at the risk of great loss. The ingenuity, shrewdness and enterprise of a comparatively few individuals have produced the business undertakings that afford millions of people employment. These comparatively few individuals are qualified to lead, the rest are qualified to follow. If, say the conservatives, you are going to tax away all possibility of gain for the few you are going to destroy the incentive that builds up the enterprises that give employment to the many.

Held as Two Women Claim Him

A Popular Chap

Sergt. Charles Cohan of the detective bureau bought 25 tropical fish yesterday and landed right in the middle of a bigamy case, although the fish had nothing to do with the bigamy.

Sergt. Cohan bought the fish from Julius Stein, 4414 North St. Louis avenue, and, as he was leaving, Stein's sister, Doris, suddenly seized his arm and said:

"Arrest that man!"

She referred to a tall, impressive looking personage who was just getting out of an automobile in front. Sergt. Cohan got in the car and instructed the man to drive to the nearest police station. On the way, the driver stopped the car suddenly and fled on foot. After firing two shots, Sergt. Cohan recaptured him.

At the detective bureau, later, Miss Stein identified him as Robert R. Rutherford, and said she married him July 30, 1934. Now Mr. Rutherford had a woman with him, who identified him as William H. McFarland, and said she married hm April 6, 1935.

Rutherford [or McFarland] didn't say anything except that he was innocent of whatever he was being charged with. However, he was locked up, and will be arraigned today on a bigamy charge.

DECLARE BRITISH EMPIRE MAY OUST IRISH FREE STATE

De Valera's Foes Attack His Policies.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, June 23.—(AP)—A spokesman for the Cosgrave party deputies in the Dail Eireann expressed fear today the British commonwealth of nations would oust the Irish Free State from the empire if President Eamon De Valera fails to come to terms with Britain soon.

The government opposition group, led by former President William T. Cosgrave, termed De Valera's moves toward a resumption of negotiations with Britain a "sham political maneuver" and predicted he would not carry them through.

"Conversations we have had with representatives of several dominions lead us to feel that their patience is nearing an end, and unless De Valera quits making gestures and accomplishes something, we may find ourselves in the street, politically and commercially," the spokesman said.

May Be Handed a Republic.

"De Valera talks about declaring a republic unless he gets what he wants, but it is all bunk to further his own political standing. He will talk that way just so long and one morning he will find it is too late to do anything about a republic, for it will be handed to us along with our rejection from the empire."

Cosgrave and his suave, well groomed deputy leader, Frank MacDermot, have been riding De Valera and his government party at every opportunity in the Dail, and they said today they intend to push their efforts to get the president to make known his real intentions.

"All we want is a straight answer to a straight question: Is De Valera going to declare a republic?" MacDermot said.

De Valera himself is avoiding direct answers to any questions pending the results of his overtures to Britain for the reopening of negotiations for political and commercial peace.

Irish Factions Clash.

Cohorts of the Irish republican army and the Irish citizen army clashed in a fierce mêlée at Bodenstown tonight, from which several casualties were reported after a day of constantly mounting tension.

The free-for-all, in which clubs and fists were wielded, came as thousands of republicans chered the challenge of Sean McBride, member of the I. R. A. executive council, who asserted:

"Republicans fill the jails of the north and south, but the republican movement is on a rising tide, gathering strength."

BRITISH CABINET LAYS PLANS FOR HANDING SELF-RULE TO INDIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 23.—Following the victory secured by the government in the house of lords last week on the second reading of the government's India bill, the cabinet, it was learned tonight, decided on a dramatic gesture as soon as the bill receives royal assent, which is anticipated before the end of the session.

By imperial proclamation the present government of India will be brought to a halt. The viceroy, the earl of Willingdon, will send for Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru to form a cabinet as the first prime minister of all India. This will be a provisional government to carry on during the interregnum between the passing of semi-autocratic rule and the beginning of democracy.

Sapru was a representative of India at the all-India conference in 1930-32.

REPLY TODAY TO SWEITZER'S SUIT TO GET JOB BACK

Courtney to Defend Ouster and Election of Gill.

State's Attorney Courtney and his assistant, Hayden N. Bell, announced yesterday they would file an answer today to the quo warranto petition filed in behalf of Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted county treasurer, against Joseph L. Gill, who was appointed treasurer to succeed Sweitzer. The answer will be presented to Chief Justice Joseph Burke of the Circuit court.

The attorneys said their pleadings consist of a full statement to the court of the events which caused the county board to oust Sweitzer and to replace him with Gill. The answer is intended to set forth the justification for the ouster and the filling of the vacancy, they said.

History of the Proceedings.

The county board, under the direction of Mr. Courtney, called Sweitzer to a board meeting and demanded that he turn over $414,129 to County Clerk Michael J. Flynn. This sum was shown by an audit to have been due from Sweitzer when he ended his last term as county clerk on Dec. 3, 1934.

When Sweitzer did not fulfill the demand—after he had been allowed ten days in which to pay—the board asked him if he had the money to pay back, where the money was kept, and where it came from. Sweitzer refused to answer the questions. The board then adopted a resolution removing Sweitzer from his office of county treasurer, to which he was elected last November and which he took over on Dec. 3.

Next Move Up to Sweitzer.

The reasons set forth by Courtney and Bell for the removal are that under the law and the constitution the county board had the right to remove Sweitzer from his official position because he had failed in his obligation to turn over trust funds to his successor in office and because he had refused to answer the county board's questions.

Mr. Bell said that the next move must come from Sweitzer or his attorney, I. Harvey Levinson. The state attorney's answer presents an issue to Sweitzer and it is up to Sweitzer to demur or take issue with the pleadings filed today in Courtney's name, he explained. The state's lawyers expect Attorney Levinson to ask for time to reply to the pleadings. They do not anticipate arguments today or the calling of witnesses.

Two Other Actions.

Today's action has no bearing on the civil suit to be filed against Sweitzer to recover the $414,129, the prosecutors said, nor on the criminal proceedings against Sweitzer.

Sweitzer was indicted last week on a charge of failing to turn over the $414,129 to his successor. No matter what happens in the other matters, Courtney said yesterday, Sweitzer will go to trial on the indictment.

HULL PAUSES HERE

CORDELL HULL.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull passed through Chicago yesterday en route to Madison, Wis., where he will speak at commencement exercises of the University of Wisconsin today. During the few minutes between trains the secretary refused to comment on politics, world affairs, or economic conditions. At the commencement he will receive an honorary degree, the tenth he has been given, of which four were received this year.

MINORITY REPORT TO BLAME U. OF C. FOR RADICALISM

State Senator Charles W. Baker [Rep., Monroe Center] said yesterday that he would submit to the state senate early this week a minority report accusing officials of the University of Chicago of countenancing radicalism on the Midway. The majority report absolving the university also is to be filed before the end of the current session of the general assembly.

The university announced plans yesterday for a dinner tonight at Judson court, on the Midway, for Alexander A. Troyanovsky, soviet ambassador to the United States, who will be the first speaker at the eleventh annual institute of the Norman Wait Harris Memorial Foundation.

Ambassador Troyanovsky will speak at Mandel hall tonight on "The Basic Principles of Soviet Foreign Policy."

Two men were killed and four persons were injured early yesterday morning when the driver of a stolen automobile crashed into another car at Cermak road and First avenue, North Riverside.

The dead were Richard Jones, 24 years old, 900 First avenue, Maywood, leader of an orchestra at the Cave café in Lyons, and Orville Hack, 27 years old, 319 Madison street, Maywood. Mrs. Jones, who was seriously injured, was taken to Hines Memorial hospital, which is near the scene of the crash. Her condition improved somewhat and she was removed in the afternoon to Westlake hospital in Melrose Park.

Edward Enski, 30 years old, 1409 South 50th court, Cicero, driver of the stolen automobile, received only cuts and bruises. He was turned over to Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police for questioning. In the stolen car with Enski were Stanley Wisniewski, 17 years old, who lives with Enski and says he is his brother, and Stanley Kucis. Both were taken to the County hospital for minor injuries. Wisniewski has a record as an automobile thief.

Fatality Near Barrington.

Mrs. Helen E. Nielsen, 35 years old, of Breakenridge farm, Hinsdale, was killed yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband, Otto, a cost engineer for the International Harvester company, collided with a milk truck at Algonquin and Barrington roads near Barrington.

The state highway police said Nielsen, driving south in Barrington road, disregarded a stop signal and crashed into the milk truck driven by Clark Wagner, 27 years old, owner of the Wagner Dairy company, 2224 South Ridgeland avenue. Wagner and Miss Alice Johnson, 21 years old, 5814 South Sacramento avenue, riding with him, were uninjured.

These deaths increased the 1935 traffic toll for Cook county to 434. At 4 p. m. yesterday 349 had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 7,360 injured.

Three Policemen Hurt.

James Koger, 27 years old, 6553 Drexel avenue, was arrested at his home yesterday as the driver of an automobile which sidewiped another car at 93d street and South Chicago avenue Saturday night and then struck Traffic Policeman George Kane. The car moved on after the accident, but a witness noted the license number. The policeman was not seriously injured.

Policemen Albert Bergen and John Howe of the Grand Crossing station were injured yesterday afternoon when their squad car overturned as it collided with another automobile at 75th street and South Chicago avenue. Cus Van Horn, 58 years old, 923 Becker street, Hammond, driver of the other car, is to be charged with reckless driving for speeding and passing through a stop light.

Clifford Householder, 10 years old, was possibly fatally injured when struck by an automobile while chasing a baseball into the street in front of his home at 541 West 36th street. The car was driven by Stanley Dubinski, 18 years old, 3613 Parnell avenue, who was not held. At St. Paul's hospital it was said the boy's skull was fractured.

A Los Angeles dispatch reported the death in a hospital there yesterday of Robert Handler, 25 years old, 2542 Central Park avenue, Chicago, of injuries received in an automobile accident Thursday as he started to drive back to Chicago.

ARCHDUKE OTTO MADE CITIZEN OF CITY IN AUSTRIA

VIENNA, June 23.—(AP)—Hall, an Alpine city, today opened the way for the return of Archduke Otto to Austria by proclaiming the Hapsburg pretender to the throne a citizen of the community. Otto has been made an honorary citizen of more than 450 Austrian communities, but Hall was the first to make the citizenship actual and official.

Otto lost his Austrian citizenship when his father, Emperor Karl, renounced the throne. Since then he has declined invitations to return even for a visit. He said that, as a man without a country, he is technically subject to expulsion.

HEAT WAVE HITS MOST OF EUROPE; PARIS SWELTERS

LONDON, June 23.—(AP)—All England and most of Europe baked under a broiling sun today in a general heat wave.

Britain's seashore resorts resembled Coney Island, and transportation facilities to the beaches were heavily taxed by a scramble from the cities over the week-end.

London felt a slight relief today when the humidity was less than that of yesterday and there was more breeze. But the weather still was stifling.

Paris sweltered in a temperature of 94, the third day of excessive heat there. The average in Germany was 86 degrees, and it was slightly hotter in Berlin.

Hungary has had unseasonable heat for a fortnight, with numerous deaths. The lower Balkans are returning to normal after a torrid spell.

A relative cool spot in Europe was Vienna, where the mercury was 88 at noon. Spain has been suffering for several weeks, and the weather bureau in Madrid called it the hottest June of this century.

Drouth is an unwelcome visitor in Italy. Almost no rain has fallen all month. Rome's skies were overcast today, but a humid heat prevailed. The weather was described as boiling throughout the Mediterranean basin.

England's wave followed a cold, rainy, and backward spring, which ruined the early resort season.

ROBBED OF LIQUOR AND CASH.

Two bandits obtained $34 and a quantity of liquor from Hyman Lipton, owner of Mother's Pure Food shop, 1107 Granville avenue, yesterday morning, and a $45 watch from Harold Kupfer, 1058 Kenlake avenue, a customer.

NORTHWEST SIDE CLUB GOES AFTER SUPERHIGHWAYS

Seizes Opportunity While West Side Squabbles.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Avondale Improvement club addressed a resolution to Mayor Kelly yesterday calling for the construction of an elevated highway to the northwest side. The club took this action after hearing James E. Bulger, a director of the Chicago Motor club, address its meeting in the parish hall of St. Hyacinth church, North Lawndale avenue and Wolfram street.

Andrew Kayser, president of the neighborhood organization, said a massmeeting was being called for all local civic groups of the northwest to take similar action. This section of the city, unlike the section directly west of the loop, is without serious dissension in its petition for a safe and rapid motor trafic carrier.

Way to Cash Still Open.

Mr. Bulger declared that it was still possible to qualify a northwest elevated highway project for an "easy money" grant. This could be done, he said, by the government paying 45 per cent of the cost, while the other 55 per cent might be financed with a federal loan to be retired by the city's gas tax revenue.

"The northwest is the second choice of trafic engineers as the location for an elevated highway," said Mr. Bulger. "The west side is the first choice, but because of squabbles there over the specific routing and the design, the politicians now favor the northwest proposal.

"It's easy to appreciate the economic benefits that will accrue to this district from improved transportation connections with the loop employment center, but I believe our first concern should be with the safety aspects.

Death Traps of Past.

"We know from experience that the widening of surface streets, cutting local business districts in two, creates death traps. We know from police accident reports that diagonal pavements at grade crossings are death traps.

"We have only to look up New York's experience with elevated highways to learn that this type of structure saves lives and limbs. Over 98 per cent of the fatal trafic accidents in Chicago are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway."

MASKED BANDITS TERRORIZE 100 IN ROADHOUSE RAID

Take Cash; Routed as Reveler Hurls Bottle.

Seven masked bandits, all of them apparently as nervous as the hundred or so patrons they menaced with their weapons, put a stop to the merry-making early yesterday in the Club Elgin, a café, tavern and dance hall at 6100 Archer avenue, in Summit.

They obtained about $75 from three cash registers, but were frightened away before they had a chance to rob the customers.

According to Herbert Barrick, a former Chicago policeman, who now owns the place, the seven entered shortly before 1 a. m. All were masked with handkerchiefs, and carried sawed-off shotguns or pistols.

Shouts Confuse Dancers.

About 35 couples were on the dance floor, and other patrons were in the bar, which is partitioned off on the north side of the first floor, or at tables in the rear. The dancers were confused and frightened by a variety of orders shouted at them by the robbers.

"Line up against the wall!"

Another shouted an order to "form a circle so we can search you."

Alert Patron Seizes Chance.

The result was that some customers were lying prone, others stood upright with their hands elevated, and still others compromised by kneeling on the floor.

Before the gunmen had a chance to rob the crowd an alert patron seized a chance to create a diversion by flicking a bottle through a window, shattering the glass. One of the bandits with a shotgun, apparently under the impression that the bottle had been hurled from the outside, fired a blast through the window.

Shot Alarms Lookout.

That shot, in turn, excited the lookout in the automobile outside and he sounded a frantic signal with the horn. The seven gunmen inside took to their heels at once and the car sped away toward Chicago.

The Club Elgin occupies the administration building of the old Elgin Motor works, from which it takes its name. Mayor Richard Lambert of Summit, which includes the community of Argo, said that village authorities had refused to allow the operation of the place as a taxi dance hall and after some litigation it had opened as a café.

LUTHERANS MUST CONTINUE WORK, SAYS GERMAN

Cleveland, O., June 23.—(AP)—The Lutheran Free church in Germany must be continued as a means of preserving the principles of the Reformation and to uphold Martin Luther's doctrin of separation of church and state, Dr. Henry Koch of Berlin told the Missouri synod of the church today.

Dr. Koch, official representative of the church in Germany to the synod, said the state Lutheran church in Germany is involved in political strife and a struggle for power within itself, contradictory to the teachings of Luther.

While outwardly strong, powerful, and confident that it represented true Lutheranism, it actually had drawn back and accepted modernistic principles, he said.

Assails Movie Drinking.

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 23.—(AP)—Northern Baptists were urged today to oppose drinking scenes in moving pictures as detrimental to the morals of youth. The proposal was made by a discussion group, led by Dr. J. W. Elliott of Philadelphia, as a part of the suggested Christian social action program to be voted upon tomorrow.

ALASKA SETTLERS COMPLAIN PRICES ARE TOO STEEP

PALMER, Alaska, June 23.—(AP)—A terse remark that the charges of a group of between 40 and 50 Matanuska colonists from St. Louis county, Michigan, were "greatly exaggerated" was the answer today of Don Irwin, resident manager. They charged that prices are too high, medical care is poor, and the building of homes is at a standstill.

Little outward attention was paid here to the complaints which were forwarded to Washington to become the basis of a senate inquiry on conditions in the United States colonizing project.

A change among administrative officials occurred yesterday. It was announced N. Lester Troast, of the office of Indian affairs, who has been aiding Irwin, had been recalled to Washington.

It was also reported that Eugene Carr, a personal representative of Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins, had been appointed to "take charge" of the project and left Seattle yesterday on his way north after flying west from Washington.

"Dusty, Mosquito Infested."

Youth Shot by Policeman Near Death in Hospital

Stanley Krawczyk, 22 years old, 1712 Cermak road, who was shot twice early yesterday in fleeing from a policeman who found him in a stolen automobile, was reported near death in Bridewell hospital last night. John Katch, 2332 Kroll street, was just leaving the Maxwell street police station where he had reported the theft of his car when he saw Krawczyk drive by in the automobile. Katch called to Policeman Corsi, who was in front of the station. The policeman leaped to the running board of the car and Krawczyk stopped. The fugitive ran. When Krawczyk refused to halt, Corsi opened fire.

DEPRESSION HITS MONTE CARLO AND STIRS UP UNREST

Yank Syndicate Waits to Gobble Up Casino.

MONTE CARLO, June 23.—(AP)—Monaco, where fortunes are lost and won on the turn of a wheel, seethed with unrest today in a national crisis born of the depression.

Despite the resignation of Monte Carlo's gambling czar, Rene Leon, the situation appeared unappeased. An American syndicate, unidentified, is reported waiting until the situation is so bad it can acquire the gambling monopoly at a sacrifice.

Hotels Are Deserted.

The country's budget is unbalanced, hotels and shops are nearly empty and unemployment is widespread among the 22,000 inhabitants, whose principal work is serving tourists.

Natives accused the company, which has a gambling monopoly until 1963, of failing to do its duty by the country. It was specifically accused of failing to fulfill a financial contract under which the company is pledged to pay the principality 12,500,000 francs [about $812,000] a year. That and 400,000 francs a year from France for the privilege of free importation of goods are Monaco's chief sources of revenue.

The Casino is reported to have borrowed 14,000,000 francs to keep the "bank" at its customary 40,000,000 francs.

Allow Small Stakes.

Where 20 francs formerly was the minimum stake at roulette, five francs [about 33 cents] now are accepted. Visitors reported seeing less than 100 francs on the table at some turns of the wheel.

Gambling receipts for the year ending March 31 were estimated at 70,000,000 francs, a drop of 24,000,000 from the 1931 figure. The company's stock has fallen from a 1926 high of 12,546 francs a share to 780 francs.

6 Women Elected to Help Men Govern French City

DAX, France, June 23.—(AP)—French suffragists today hailed as a major victory the election of six women as "an advisory council" to assist men in running the town's business. The regular municipal council is composed of men chosen in the nation-wide election May 5. Today's vote gives the women a chance to participate in the local government as advisors without legal standing. A midwife won the greatest number of votes, followed by the principal of a girls' school, a nurse, the director of a charitable institution, and a teacher. The local suffragist leader was sixth. The communists' candidate ran far behind.

ROOSEVELT DINES WITH FAMILY AT NEW YORK HOME

Boards Train for Return to Washington.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 23.—[Special.]—At the head of a gleaming white table President Roosevelt tonight sat down to dinner with his family in his town house at 49 East 65th street, New York City. With a deft knife he attacked a roast like many another father and husband in the country.

The President arrived here from his family estate at Hyde Park, where he rested over the week-end. The visit was the first in almost a year to the town house in which he lived when he practiced before the New York bar.

The dinner was a sentimental gesture to his legal days and an interlude in his paternal pilgrimage to the Harvard-Yale regatta at New London, Conn., to witness the defeat of the crew in which his son, Franklin Jr., bent a No. 5 oar for Harvard. It was purely a family affair.

Forgets Official Cares.

The President saw no visitors in New York, holding to his announced intention of forgetting official matters for three days. In the day and a half at Hyde Park he did not make an official move.

Before leaving for New York the President attended services in St. James Episcopal church at Hyde Park with his mother, Mrs. Roosevelt, and his youngest son, John. He is a vestryman of the ivy towered edifice.

Departs for Capital.

At 10:30 p. m., Chicago time, Mr. Roosevelt, accompanied by his son John and his secretarial staf, boarded a special train to return to Washington tonight.

In Washington the President is expected to declare whether he wants his "swat the rich" tax program pushed at the present session of congress. To date he has indicated he will leave the program to the discretion of congress.

The letter will be made public later.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 23.—(AP)—Mahlon S. Kemmerer and Alfred S. Reck, Salt Lake City aviators attempting a flight around the continent, brought their plane down here at 5 p. m. Loses Ear at Brother's 25th Anniversary Party

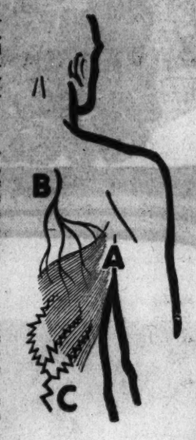
QUICK RELIEF TO SORE, STIFF MUSCLES with "MINIT-RUB"

Muscle (A) due to strain, cold or unusual exertion, feels like a bad bruise. Your nerves telegraph for help. Blood rushes to the distressed spot. But nature needs outside help to supply enough blood to clear up painful congestion quickly.

Minit-Rub is applied to the skin:

1. Its heat-inducing ingredients immediately penetrate to affected parts, quickly causing extra blood to be drawn to the pain area. Thus the congestion is relieved and any poisonous wastes are carried off through the blood vessels (B). (Several applications may be necessary in severe cases).
2. At the same time, Minit-Rub's pain-dulling ingredients soothe the surface ends of the troubled nerves (C).
3. The skin feels comfortably cool while Minit-Rub's penetrating heat is doing its thorough work below the surface.



Use Minit-Rub for quick relief of Sore Muscles, Bruises, Rheumatic Aches and Pains, Sprains, Stiffness, Strains. 35¢ and 60¢.

Financially speaking, by far the larger part of Chicago's population is neither top nor bottom. They are people in moderate circumstances — honest, hard-working, eager to get ahead. Sometimes, through emergency of one sort or another, or sometimes because it is more convenient, they borrow money.

And the bank to which great numbers of them turn is the Personal Loan & Savings Bank—a bank which specializes in loans in amounts which are likewise neither top nor bottom. Loans are made in any amount from $50 to $500 to $5,000 . . . for one year . . . with a practical and convenient repayment plan.

A telephone call or a letter will bring full details, if you are interested . . . better still, drop in at our office at 81 West Monroe Street, and talk things over. You will not incur any obligation, and we will be happy to see you.

WOMEN ANGERED AT BEING DENIED PHILIPPINE VOTE

Suffragists to Confer with Gov. Murphy.

MANILA, P. I., June 23.—(AP)—Woman suffrage leaders, indignant at the insular legislature's act depriving them of the ballot in the forthcoming election of officers for the new commonwealth, started out quietly tonight to regain the permanent right to vote.

Having voted in but one election—the May 14 plebiscite which ratified the commonwealth constitution—Philippine women were disfranchised last night when the legislature at the end of a special session approved a bill confining the ballot to literate males.

A delegation of women leaders planned to confer tomorrow with Gov. Gen. Frank Murphy in the hope of persuading him to veto the bill.

Next Chance in Plebiscite.

If Murphy informs them, as expected, that he feels obliged to sign the measure, the women may appeal to the courts.

However, the attitude of a dozen suffrage leaders interviewed was one of resignation. There was no sign that a militant leadership would rise, as in the United States, when picketing was used as a weapon.

The women expected to pin their main hopes on a plebiscite to be held within two years after establishment of the commonwealth government. The new constitution provides that at least 300,000 women must cast ballots in that election in order to retain permanently the right to vote. In the May 14 plebiscite only 200,000 women registered.

Yield to Bachelor.

"We will show them in the plebiscite," said Mrs. Pilar Hidalgo Lim, president of the general federation of women's clubs. "I am hopeful that women will not become discouraged by the legislature's action, which is a grave injustice. All we can do now is to protest."

Official circles said privately the reason for last night's legislative action was that the lawmakers really were opposed to women's suffrage and in granting it in 1933 had merely yielded to the newly arrived governor general, who is a bachelor and former mayor of Detroit.

HUNT 3 CLINGING TO UPSET CANOE IN IOWA LAKE

Spirit Lake, Ia., June 24 [Monday].—(AP)—Rescuers searched the dark waters of Spirit lake early today for three young persons last seen clinging to an overturned canoe. Fears were expressed that the canoe had sunk and the three were drowned.

The three missing persons were Eddie Winner of Waterloo, Dora Bell Merkel of Sac City, and Jean Dunkelberg of Waterloo.

ARKANSAS RIVER REACHES CREST IN 28 FT. FLOOD

Little Rock, Ark., June 23.—(AP)—Flood crest on the swollen Arkansas river reached here today, sending still more water over part of the North Little Rock business area and lower residential sections of the city.

The river was reported by the weather bureau at a stand of 28.2 feet—five above flood stage.

North and south of Little Rock wide stretches of additional farm property went under water as the river poured through a dozen major levee breaks.

Crops under water in the state crossed the half million acre mark.

More than 100,000 acres of crop lands in this immediate vicinity went under water overnight and the flood approached the little town of Gillett, threatening inundation within 24 hours. The section was being evacuated as the water rose approximately an inch an hour.

Olympia, Wash., June 23.—(AP)—Gov. Clarence D. Martin tonight announced that he had called out the National Guard to protect lumber mill workers who wish to return to work in strike closed mills in Tacoma tomorrow. The governor said troops would be in Tacoma by daylight. Gov. Martin spent part of the day reviewing the troops with Gov. Charles H. Martin of Oregon. A delegation of Tacoma and Seattle mill owners yesterday asked the Washington executive to order out the Guard.

2,600 Cleveland Bakers Strike.

Cleveland, O., June 23.—(AP)—Eighteen large Cleveland bakeries closed their plants today as a reply to a strike called by the Bakery Drivers' union at three bakeries. About 2,650 workers, including 2,000 inside employés and 650 drivers, were out of jobs. Company officials said in newspaper advertisements that the drivers' union negotiating committee broke off negotiations and called a strike without warning when the companies refused to discharge employés who had not paid their union dues.

Blames His Bullet Wound on Robbers, but Is Held

The Morgan Park police were investigating yesterday the shooting of John Malanek, 40 years old, 2934 South Union avenue, who appeared at the Little Company of Mary hospital early in the morning with a bullet wound in his neck. He said that he had been shot by robbers who attempted to enter a building at 10806 South Western avenue, where he had been employed to do repair work. He was removed to the Bridewell hospital and ordered held when the police learned that in 1930 he served a year in the Joliet penitentiary for burglary.

STATE TO PUSH OTHER CHARGE AGAINST BARRY

Following the conviction last Friday of Dave [Long Count] Barry and Abraham Karatz, former St. Paul attorney, in connection with the embezzlement of $54,473 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, 111 West Jackson boulevard, Assistant State's Attorneys Thomas Dodd Healy and Vernon C. Thompson announced yesterday that the state would press a second indictment pending against Barry, Karatz, and three other defendants.

The second indictment charges conspiracy to embezzle $25,000 from the Abraham Lincoln Life Insurance company of Springfield. The defendants are Barry, Karatz, Gustave Lindquist, former insurance commissioner of Minnesota, who has not been captured; Hayden Sanders, and Walter Ehlers.

An attorney, who said that he represented Lindquist, informed the state's attorney's office last week that he would surrender the former insurance commissioner this week.

PLAN REBELLION ON PAYING DUES TO FLORIST UNION

Forced to Join; Declare Contracts Illegal.

The grand jury is expected to report today on its investigation of the assault by union sluggers June 12 on two Oak Park florists. Yesterday several small nurserymen, who joined the Florist Drivers' union under threats, indicated that they would resist further attempts of the union to collect dues.

Most of these independents preferred that their names be not disclosed, but Victor J. Mense, manager of the Beaudry nurseries in Oak Lawn, declared that the union's membership solicitation was nothing but a "shakedown."

Story of One Solicitation.

On May 17, while driving his own truck, Mense was stopped on the road by sluggers cruising in two automobiles. They compelled him, he related, to join the union, pay $53, and sign a "contract."

This contract, he said, is ostensibly an agreement between the nurseryman, as employer, and the union, representing the employé. One clause contains a provision that if the nurseryman, described as the "party of the first part," drives his own truck, he signs also as "party of second part."

"In other words," Mense remarked, "I contract with myself. This little transaction costs me the $50 initiation fee plus $3 a month."

Denies Agreement's Validity.

Moreover, he said his attorneys informed him, the contract is invalid because it was obtained under duress—compulsion.

H. Wallace Caldwell, county commissioner residing in Oak Park, has announced he will introduce in the Cook county board a resolution to authorize a complete investigation of the sluggings. Yesterday he said he would hold up his resolution until the grand jury's written report is turned over to Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Criminal court.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Top Price Steers

PREMIUM prices were paid for beef cattle produced on THE TRIBUNE experimental farm near Yorkville. Two different bunches of steers have been brought in from the farm during the last month and sold at the highest prices paid on the day they were marketed at the Union stockyards.

After topping the market the first of this month with 24 steers, Clarence Thurow, farm manager, sold a second bunch of beef steers last Wednesday, receiving the highest price paid that day. There were fourteen steers in the bunch. They were sold in three groups to Swift & Co. The first group brought $2.10 a hundredweight above the next highest sale. They averaged 930 pounds and sold at $12.75 a hundredweight, topping the market in their weight class. A second group, averaging 1,094 pounds, also topped the market in their class, selling at $12 a hundred pounds. The third group brought $11 a hundred pounds and averaged 1,014 pounds.

The first group cost, delivered to the farm, $57.09 each and brought $121.57, leaving $64.48 for costs of feeding, marketing, interest on investment, and profits. The second group cost $46.40, selling at $131.28, leaving $84.88 each for costs and profits. The third group cost $47.90, sold for $111.54, leaving $63.64 for costs and profits.

The cost of feeding the 14 steers amounted to $719.46. Marketing costs totaled $42.43.

These yearling steers were brought to the Yorkville farm on Dec. 15, 1934.

Tests conducted on the Tribune Experimental farms near Yorkville and Wheaton are made to aid in adding to the kinds and varieties of crops grown on these places; to help improve crops, methods of feeding and breeding, and to solve various other problems on these farms. The results are reported from day to day in THE TRIBUNE.

From time to time an effort will be made through this column to solicit information from other farmers on unanswered questions developing out of experiences on the Tribune farms.

For example: From your experience best results in a corn belt feed lot? what age steer should be bought for

CAPTURE EIGHT GANG GUNNERS WITH ARSENAL

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 23.—(AP)—A squad of 31 New York and New Jersey police battered down the door of a summer bungalow-arsenal on the Passaic river today and arrested eight men and a woman without firing a shot. The raid was made near the training camp of Joe Louis, the pugilist, but little significance was attached to this fact.

In the house they found nine revolvers, a rifle, a riot gun, eighty rounds of ammunition, a gas outfit, hatchet, pickax, auto plates, and a magneto used in stealing cars.

They seized and held without bail on charges of illegally possessing weapons men who identified themselves as James J. [Ding-Dong] Bell, 29; Arthur J. Gaynor, 31; John J. Hughes, 31; Frank Fox, 27; Edward F. Gaffney, 35, all of New York City; Louis Balner, 26, and Joseph E. McCarthy, 28, Brooklyn, N. Y.

In an adjoining bungalow police arrested George Maiwald, 32, and his wife Edna, 32. Maiwald, the police said, aided in renting the bungalow to the New Yorkers.

Lieut. Stephen Devine of the Charles street station in New York, asserted that the men were members of the "Charley the Jew" gang and would be questioned concerning New York and New Jersey hi-jacking, murders, stolen cars, and holdups.

Balloon Load of Nazis Land in France; Jailed

METZ, France, June 23.—(AP)—The game of hide and seek between German and French aviators over France's frontier fortifications took a new turn today with the landing of a balloon full of Nazis. The balloonists, like other Germans who previously have landed planes in French territory, pleaded that they had lost their way. They were locked up for investigation.

FLYER KILLED MINUTES AFTER BUYING PLANE

Shelbyville, Ind., June 23.—(AP)—A few minutes after buying an airplane from the Seymour, Ind., Aviation club, Howard Howe, 25, of Shelbyville, was killed when the ship crashed and burned near here today.

Sherif Ralph H. Brown said Howe had been flying planes for some time, but did not have a ship of his own until today.

Robert Curry of the Seymour Aviation club reported the plane was in good condition when Howe took off, but that Howe failed to gain altitude promptly and the ship's undercarriage scraped a treetop.

FRENCH SEAPLANE CLAIMS DISTANCE RECORD: 2,711 MI.

ZIGUINCHOR, Senegal, June 23.—(AP)—The Southern Cross, pride of France's south Atlantic air mail service, claimed a world's seaplane distance record today for a flight of 2,711 miles from Cherbourg.

The giant ship, on a preliminary checking of instruments, broke the former record, held up Italians, by about 143.7 miles.

Lieut. Hebrard, a navy flyer, brought the ship to a perfect landing on the bay here at 2:10 p. m. today after taking off from the Channel port at 7:26 a. m. yesterday. The 24 ton four motored craft carried a crew of six and was loaded with 14½ tons of gasoline at the start of the flight.

The giant Pan-American clipper, in inaugurating commercial air service between the United States and Hawaii, covered 2,400 miles in its flight to Honolulu from Alameda, Cal., a route previously flown by United States navy seaplanes.

MAID CONFESSES KILLING BROKER; STORY DOUBTED

Autopsy Proves Death Due to Monoxide.

New York, June 23.—[Special.]—A fantastic hammer murder "confession" by a blonde Long Island domestic, today led Nassau county authorities into a mass of baffling contradictions in their attempt to solve the death of John Lyons Burness, 30, wealthy broker.

Burness was found dead yesterday morning at the wheel of his expensive car in the garage at the home of his friend, William B. Brown, insurance company executive on Atlantic beach, Nassau.

The garage was filled with carbon monoxide, and the police theory of death from gas poisoning was substantiated by an autopsy this morning.

Girl Confesses Killing.

However, in questioning Dorothea Kassady, 20, flaxen-haired domestic at the Brown home, police were nonplussed when the girl told them she had knocked the visitor unconscious with a hammer, and then started the automobile engine, they said.

The maid's account of how she felled Burness with the hammer was contradicted when medical examiners failed to find any bruises.

Although they described the maid's story as "a tissue of lies," police nevertheless are convinced that she may be connected in some way with the death of Burness and held her on a charge of first degree manslaughter.

Roommate Also Held.

Arraigned with her before Justice of the Peace Leslie J. Eckenberg in Cedarhurst, Nassau, was Irene Brozovic, 19, also a domestic, who shares the maid's room with Dorothea in the Brown household. She was held as a material witness.

It was Irene, according to authorities, who dragged the limp form of Burness from the gas-filled garage and called police after Dorothea had run screaming to tell her of the tragedy.

In her confession Dorothea said she and Burness had quarreled over $5 he promised to her.

After starting the motor of Burness' car, the girl, according to her confession, returned to the house, where Burness had been an overnight guest with Brown, whose wife was away visiting relatives.

KILLS FATHER-IN-LAW AND SELF.

Caraway, Ark., June 23.—[Special.]—Family trouble caused a double slaying here today when Ben F. Brown, 53, shot and killed his father-in-law, Frank Cowan, 85, and then committed suicide with the same revolver.

58 BOYS DEPART FOR CITIZENSHIP CAMP IN CAPITAL

Fifty-eight boys from Chicago and Joliet went to Springfield yesterday to attend a week's encampment of 500 young Illinoisans, known as the "Boys' State," and supervised by the American Legion and other organizations as a citizenship training project. Leaving on the Alton railroad were 36 boys from Chicago. At Joliet 22 others joined them. At their camp on the new state fair grounds in Springfield the boys will set up their own government in city, county, and state divisions, and will debate present governamental problems under the guidance of the Americanization committee of the Legion.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

THE REVOLUTION NURSES THE DEPRESSION.

Each piece of legislation in the Roosevelt must program before congress is calculated to throw fear into the minds of citizens who might do something for recovery. Every time private enterprise shows signs of making a gain something is done at Washington—nicely timed to discourage the effort. The inference is that the depression is to be sustained politically.

The coöperation of the administration and the national legislature for this purpose has the outlines of a political plot. The apparent strategy is to gain the votes of all the people who have succumbed to the depression or are making profit from it and to frighten all who are trying to make headway against it. Until another explanation justifies the course of government this one must prevail.

Ordinary governmental procedure in a period of national anxiety, distress, and hardship is planned to give encouragement and create confidence. The chief concern has been in the past to avoid any act which might raise a new alarm or fresh doubts. Government when it was considerate, prudent, and wise tried to give assurances. An interference which could be regarded as in itself a disturbance would have been considered madness.

The present government has adopted the opposite policy and persists in it. It causes uncertainty to invade every field of activity and to go ever deeper into finance, labor, investment, industry, and commerce. Even when it does not strike with acts of congress, ill considered by the men who drew them and unexplained to the men who passed them, it throws out programs for the future, such as Mr. Roosevelt's suggestions for changes in the constitution and his recommendations for redistribution of wealth.

It is thus to be made certain that when congress adjourns fear will not. Fear will remain in session. No matter what has been done to disturb the nation's business more will impend. No man will know where he stands or what to expect. He does not know what he will be allowed to do or what he will be allowed to keep. He cannot plan for the future. He cannot use his judgment. He does not know what politics will do to him.

This is now a politically sustained depression and there must be a reason for it. Recovery would interfere with the social and political reconstruction of the United States. It would stop the revolution. It would make impossible the extension of governmental control and the establishment of autocracy. It would immediately dispose of the dictator.

When the New Dealers stopped talking about emergencies and began talking about permanent reorganization into a planned society they admitted that the work must be done while the country was distracted. If it recovered its balance the opportunity would be lost. No one would think of political and social revolution if the people were again prosperous, satisfied with their system of government, and preoccupied with their own affairs.

The revolution needs the depression and the Roosevelt revolutionaries plan to keep it going. There is no other explanation for the lunatic proceedings in Washington.

WHAT THE BISHOP SAW IN CHICAGO.

The bishop of Exeter diverted and enlightened the house of lords with recollections of his travels in the United States. As becomes a bishop, he is venerable and humane. What he saw in Chicago shocked him and he would be less than the man he should be if it had not, if he saw it. And who may doubt a bishop discussing an affair of state in the discharge of his duties as a peer?

The bishop recoils from democracy. In speaking to the noble lords he was recoiling from the India home rule bill. He recoiled and stood aghast, viewing ruins more extensive than appear even in Winston Churchill's pictures of India bill disaster. He drew from his American travels and his Chicago experiences the admonitions he hoped would prevail with the peers before it was too late, before the pestilence of democracy was released upon the helpless population of India.

The bishop saw starving people in Chicago "and yet just outside was the fertile province of Illinois where I think they were burning crops because they could not sell them. I asked why they did not bring that food to the starving people. The answer was two great machines controled that democracy—Democratic and Republican." That is an extreme view to take of the life and works of Corn Wallace and Hard Boiled Hopkins. The New Dealers have given democracy much to answer, but it is not, although the bishop would have it so, to be despaired of. He did not see any one starving. His prejudice against democracy was too violent. It carried him too far. Prevarication is too far.

The bishop's second interest was in the Chicago battlefields of gangsters. As he spoke of them the noble lords must have seen the battle daily renewed, a Verdun around every other corner. What a visit the old boy must have had! We await his recollections of a full life. He invited British Laborites to visit the American democracy, but must have scared them out of the thought of it. Presumably he did not drop in on congress. If he had then he really would have bared his breast for the protection of India.

THE MASSACRE.

The casualty list of our streets as graphically portrayed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's daily clock, "The Massacre," has been frequently compared to wartime tolls. That this illustration is not exaggerated may be gleaned from a few records of famous battles. First let us fix in our minds the 1935 accident toll—to date 7,404.

The total British and American casualties at the battle of New Orleans, fought Jan. 8, 1815, were placed at 2,107. To be sure, this carnage occurred in a single day, but it must be remembered that preparations for the encounter covered a period of possibly six months.

At the first battle of Bull Run the total Union and confederate casualties numbered 3,461, less than half of Chicago's 1935 highway toll. Eyewitnesses described the battle of Chattanooga as a "shambles," "slaughter," or "holocaust," yet the total losses reported by both combatants were 7,996, only slightly in excess of the figure of 7,404 recorded by THE TRIBUNE'S clock.

History records that during the war of 1812 1,956 American sailors and soldiers were killed in action or died of wounds. A similar record for the war with Mexico records 1,549 deaths. The total American fatalities during the Spanish-American war, including actions in the Philippines, have been officially placed at 1,704 by the adjutant general's office. Hostilities covered a period of thirty months, thirteen months, and eight months, respectively. In one instance at least the total killed in action is comparable with the rate of our avoidable automobile massacre.

Pedestrian and equestrian traffic developed the narrow, winding streets of the old world cities. The evolution of vehicular traffic produced the curb, the sidewalk, and the cross walk for the protection of the pedestrian. That method of city planning has now been outmoded by the automobile, so that the only way to end the holocaust is to build street crossings at different levels, with the grade crossings entirely eliminated.

TRANS-ATLANTIC AIR SERVICE.

The second return of the Clipper ship of the Pan-American Air Lines from a trans-Pacific test reminds us very forcibly that while Germany, France and England are busily engaged in working out the details of trans-Atlantic air services, we have heard nothing recently of any move on the part of the American air interests toward the same objective.

The Normandie has just completed a record breaking trip across the water and, while we do not wish to disparage the feat, the French liner appears to have shown clearly that water resistance is still master—that additional size and power make unimportant reductions in transit time. With the implements that science has now made available, the line of progress lies over the water rather than through it.

That the technical difficulties of trans-Atlantic flights have been overcome and the air route now only requires courageous financing has been definitely established. America is the mistress of the air. The pioneer should be an American company.

Editorial of the Day

[Peoria Journal-Transcript.]

Having been defeated in efforts to control industry through the NRA, the New Dealers now seem set upon a backdoor approach to socialistic control of industry through a process of high inheritance and gift taxes.

A poll of the Democratic house ways and means committee indicates that a majority of the members of the committee favor high inheritance and gift taxes as means of sharing the wealth. Many members privately are committed to taxes as high as 60 per cent on estates and gifts of $1,000,000 or more.

In one way the position of these congressmen is sound. Men and women should not be entitled to huge fortunes which they do not earn. The Barbara Huttons and other rich wasters, for example, never have earned a penny in their lives and have contributed little of value to society. It seems unjust that they should inherit millions of dollars while other people who contribute more to society eke out a bare living.

By taking this unearned money from heirs in taxes, however, the government would create a more serious problem than the injustice it would be correcting. In a few generations confiscatory inheritance and gift taxes would result in direct government ownership and control of practically all industry.

Take, for example, the Ford motor industry. If the government assessed a tax of 60 per cent against the millions which Henry Ford will leave to his heirs the government would have majority control of the great enterprise which he founded.

One of two courses would then be open. Either the government would have to operate the plant in competition with other privately owned motor companies or permit the so-called "wolves of Wall street" to buy in the plant for the taxes.

Even though there are many industries controled by a multitude of stockholders there are several outstanding industries in every community which are controled by individuals. All industry would suffer, but individual enterprise would suffer most.

In Peoria there are many industries which are capitalized at more than a million dollars. In some of these more than a million dollars' worth of stock is owned by single individuals. A confiscatory inheritance tax would turn these industries over to government management, with the collectors of internal revenue as operating officers.

As much as we admire Collector Dallman of this district we would hesitate to turn over to him the management of, let us say, the Caterpillar Tractor company, Hiram-Walkers, or Keystone Steel and Wire.

Even though we regret that large fortunes are inherited by wasters and parasites, we cannot believe that confiscation and political management of industry under a system of exorbitant inheritance and gift taxes would benefit the nation at large.

JUST IN PASSING.

"Lips that touch wine shall never touch mine," declared the fair co-ed—and after she graduated she taught school for years and years and years.—Topeka Capital.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE KING OF 'EM ALL—CATFISH.

I ate catfish the other night for the first time in so many years that I would rather not tell how many. When a boy down in Illinois I used to catch catfish myself and lug 'em home and clean 'em and watch the hired girl rip their hides off and take their insides out, wash 'em, roll 'em in cornmeal, and fry 'em. I thought then they were the best fish I had ever eaten, but my opinion wasn't worth much because I had never eaten any other kind of fish.

But since then I have dined off bluefish, fresh cod, fresh mackerel, whitefish, lake trout, rainbow trout, black bass, pike, pompano in New Orleans, caviar in Russia, herring in Scotland, and sardines in Italy, but none of them tasted so good as that catfish I had for dinner down in Indiana the other night. We went over to a little town on the Wabash river to buy them. The man who runs the catfish store there pointed with great pride to a little restaurant across the road where he served catfish to one and all. "People come all the way from Terrey Hut and Injinapolis to eat my catfish dinners." If people only knew how good catfish is they would come from further than that. I've looked all through my twenty-nine cook books and not one of them gives a recipe for cooking catfish, and I've never found a place in Chicago that sells 'em. The unhappy catfish is generally regarded as a low, coarse creature (as we used to say down in Illinois about garfish and buffalo fish), "not fitten fer to eat." All right, journey down to this little town on the banks of the Wabash far away and eat a catfish dinner. If you think you've ever eaten any tastier thing that swims in river or sea I'll apologize.

Only down in Indiana they are addicted to the very evil practice of rolling catfish in flour before they cook 'em. Oh wrong, very wrong. Also uncalled for and inappropriate. Catfish should always be rolled in cornmeal. But maybe you won't be lucky in finding catfish dinners this summer. The man we bought our catfish from said the fishermen were complaining bitterly that the fish weren't biting this year at all "on account of the rain." "But," I said, "I thought that catfish loved water. It seems to me the harder it rained the better they would like it, not having to wear rubbers or raincoats and carry umbrellas." "Nope," said he, "the rains make high water and that keeps the river all riled up and brings down so much stuff for the catfish to eat they don't give a dang for a fishworm on a hook. They're full up."

Anyhow, there are catfish in the rivers and especially the Wabash, away down in Indiana. But knowing you are from Chicago the people down there think you would be highly insulted if they brought you catfish. So they open a can of Pacific coast salmon. And right within a few miles is the old Wabash with the moonlight bright upon it and chuck full of catfish. You tell 'em down there you've got to have catfish. They'll be surprised, seeing you're from the city and everything, but if you give them time enough they'll get you the catfish. And then you'll write me a letter and thank me.

SONNET XCIV.

A great shell stood beside the parlor door,
Creamy and rough without, pale pink inside,
And when small hands had urged it from the floor
And held it up, the breakers sang and cried.
Winds blew within it, vagrancies that tore
Through foreign surfs along an alien tide,
Tall sweeping winds and little winds that wore
A sound of tears from beaches white and wide.
So when I hear your voice within my heart,
Now loud, now soft, the winds of longing roar
From nameless countries difficult to chart,
Blue hills I might have seen, moons that were more
The surging blood repeats the call I hear.

A LOT OF US are going to get pneumonia this summer if the cold weather and the rains continue. We'd like to put on our good old fashioned red flannel unnerwear again, but with all this anti-Red agitation going on we'd be out of luck if the sleeves of our red undershirt fell down over our wrists and somebody saw 'em. I think the only thing to do is to dye my red flannel unnerwear a bright purple with green stripes and yellow polka dots. And then I'd double dare 'em to tell me to go back to Roosia where I came from. (And, anyhow, I didn't come from Roosia. I came from Le Roy, McLean county, Illinois. That's how come I wear red flannel unnerwear.)

POISONOUS SNAKES.

PART II.

YESTERDAY'S article dealt with four varieties of poisonous snakes found in the United States. We must now consider the methods employed in neutralizing the effects of snake venom on the human body.

A snake that strikes repeatedly will quickly use up stored venom so that its later blows will be without serious toxic effect. It requires from two days to a week to refill the poison sacs.

Recent studies show that most snake bites occur on the extremities, usually the feet and legs, and that most of the accidents occurred while the victims were fishing, hunting, or working in new soil. Field animals are frequently bitten, especially if grazing on rocky or lightly timbered ground.

Symptoms of poisoning vary with the amount injected and the resistance of the individual. Pain is accompanied by rapid swelling, marked weakness, and dizziness. Sometimes breathing is difficult and nausea and vomiting are fairly common. The pulse may become quite rapid and as the poison manifests its full effect the patient becomes stuporous or unconscious. If the venom has been injected directly into a blood vessel death may follow within a short time.

Here are some simple rules for treatment:

1. Apply a bandage [tourniquet] around the arm or leg, a few inches above the bite. A handkerchief will suffice and pressure may be increased or decreased by means of a small stick that is used to twist the bandage. Care should be taken not to tie the bandage too tightly and thus shut off the flow of arterial blood.

2. By means of a clean razor blade or sharp instrument of some sort, cut down quickly on each fang mark to the depth of a quarter of an inch. Two incisions should be made in the shape of a Maltese cross, each approximately half an inch in length.

3. Strong suction should then be applied to the open wound. Suction by mouth is advised if no other means is available.

4. If the bite is from a rattlesnake, copperhead, or water moccasin, antivenin should be injected as soon as it can be obtained. This substance will neutralize the venom of the reptiles mentioned. The best place for injection is into the area of the bite and along the edges of the swelling. As soon as this injection is made the tourniquet should be released to permit free circulation. Repeated injections of antivenin will be required every three to five hours, or until the symptoms abate.

5. Cloths wrung out of a hot saturated solution of epsom salts and laid over the wounded area are helpful and heart stimulants may be required. Potassium permanganate is of little value; in fact, it may do harm and cauterizing the area with anything is a useless procedure.

The distance of the snake's strike rarely exceeds half its own length, and the age of the snake offers no safeguard, as venomous reptiles are dangerous practically from birth. Because they avoid intense sunlight snakes become more active toward sunset or after sundown.

When tramping in snake infested areas campers should wear thick woolen stockings and leather leggings or leather boots. Leather gloves will protect the hands not only from snake bites but against poison ivy. Camps far removed from physicians, if in snake infested areas, should have in the medicine kit a supply of antivenin. Your physician can tell you how to procure this antidote and how to make the injections.

O, yes! I nearly forgot about alcohol—that reputed sovereign remedy against the bite of a rattler. Alcohol may be useful in maintaining the courage of the patient but it is of no value in neutralizing snake venom.

SEVERAL VARIETIES.

A. M. writes: Eight weeks ago my father came in from the garage and collapsed because of a heart attack. He is still in bed. Are there no symptoms to warn a person that he has heart disease before he is stricken? What is an embolism? Could a mitral leakage be the cause of embolism?

REPLY.

There are several varieties of heart accident that may bring on rather rapid collapse, such as acute dilatation of the heart, a plug in the coronary vessel, a weakened heart muscle due to overstrain or interferences with the nervous mechanism that governs the heart beat. A tiny bit of fibrin from the blood may be deposited on a heart valve. Should this break loose and enter one of the coronary vessels it may be large enough to plug that vessel. The condition is then referred to as an embolus of a coronary artery.

A mitral leak may or may not be significant. In the presence of a leak a certain amount of blood passes back into the upper portion of the heart and hence fails to reach the general circulation. Nature makes an effort to strengthen the heart muscle so that an adequate amount of blood reaches the general circulation. When such a situation exists we say that the heart is in full compensation, that is, in spite of the leak circulation is normal. Many individuals go through life with mitral leaks that are attended with no symptoms whatever.

Hardening of the arteries [arteriosclerosis] comes on in some individuals shortly after middle life. The usual results are a higher blood pressure than normal and some degeneration of the blood vessels themselves. A person with arteriosclerosis can prevent heart damage by not overeating or overexercising and by securing sufficient rest.

Every one past 40 years of age should visit a competent physician at least once a year. A careful examination will detect early signs of disease and a few precautions observed at the time may mean good health.

SENSELESS PROCEDURE.

H. R. writes: Is it true that a person who eats a leaf of poison ivy is not subject to ivy poisoning?

REPLY.

An antigen has been prepared that is used as a protective measure against poison ivy. Eating a leaf may stimulate formation of this antigen in the blood, but who would choose such a method of acquiring immunity? It is a senseless procedure and should not be attempted. The mucous membranes of the mouth and throat may be severely affected.

CONSULT DENTIST.

M. Z. writes: Why do my teeth chip and break? At first there is a small stain in between the teeth. Gradually the stain penetrates and becomes a cavity.

REPLY.

Very hot and very cold liquids are likely to crack the enamel, thus permitting entrance to the processes of decay. Adequate vitamins, good mouth hygiene, and the cooperation of a good dentist should relieve the condition.

BANKRUPTCY.

Oak Park, Ill., June 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A man, living in Indiana, went through bankruptcy in 1930. 1. A mortgaged tract of land was regularly scheduled. In 1932 the mortgage was foreclosed. The land sold for less than the mortgage. Under this judgment, an attempt is now being made to attack an interest in real estate inherited from an aunt who died in 1934. 2. Can this be done? 3. If so, can they claim my wife's one-third interest?

A. M.

1. We assume that you mean that the bankrupt owned the land and turned it over to his creditors. If you mean also that the mortgage notes were scheduled as a debt to be barred, then there would be no subsequent personal liability on this debt.

2. Not if the debt was properly scheduled in the bankruptcy.

ABANDONED BUILDINGS.

Chicago, June 13.—[Friend of the People.]—What can be done about a frame bungalow next to my property which has been vacant for about a year and is being wrecked by a bunch of young boys who are playing there constantly. Already the front and back porches have collapsed and all windows broken. It is just a matter of time until the place will collapse and probably kill or injure some young children. Please take up with proper parties and save a life.

J. K.

Complaint of dangerous building was investigated and our inspector reports substantially as follows: There are two buildings on lot; the front building is 20x40 feet, two story, frame; structurally safe. Doors and windows have been removed and building is in need of general repairs. The rear building is a one story frame, 20x30 feet; structurally safe, but in need of general repairs. Both buildings are unoccupied.

The owner has been notified to repair buildings, board up openings and otherwise keep them in a good and safe condition, or take down and remove same. If this notice is not complied with, we will proceed as the law directs.

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,
Commissioner of Buildings.

PROBATE PROCEEDINGS.

Maywood, Ill., June 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like advice regarding probate. My mother had my father's estate probated in September, 1928; that is the date of the final papers. In May, 1931, my mother died. She willed the property to the children. We wish to sell now. Will we have to get this property probated again? The property is located in Minnesota and was previously probated in that state.

E. A. N.

Yes. If the title was in your mother's name, then probate proceedings would be necessary in order to place her children in a position to convey a clear title.

Many popular beliefs regarding sleep have been based on nothing but sentiment and are crumbling under the strict investigation of science. By actual tests with measuring instruments it has been found that fatigue reduces the soundness of one's sleep, and that the more tired a person is the less soundly he sleeps. Even the theory that sleep is helped by exercise before going to bed has been exploded. A rested person nearly always sleeps best.

CONFISCATION OF LARGE FORTUNES.

Dubuque, Ia., June 21.—The President's recent proposal to distribute wealth by confiscating the big estates would not furnish very large slices for the average citizen.

If all the multimillionaires in the country should die tomorrow and their estates should be taxed 80 to 90 per cent the government would not receive in cash much more than enough to provide the Tammany chairman of the Democratic national committee with sufficient funds for one political campaign. What would be left for the rank and file of the people would not furnish them with ice cream cones and chewing tobacco for thirty days.

As most of the large fortunes in the country are invested in business enterprises, the heirs to these fortunes would have to turn over to the government most of their share in these enterprises to pay their inheritance taxes. The result would be that within a short time the great corporations of the country would have to be taken over by the bureocrats at Washington, and then be wrecked by the political appointees who were selected to operate them. If this is what the people of the country want they should vigorously support the President's program.

BUSES VS. STREET CARS.

Chicago, June 20.—Kindly accept my hearty congratulations for your editorial "Buses vs. Street Cars" relative to improved traffic conditions in New York City as a result of the successful replacement of street cars with buses.

Great is the problem facing Chicago traffic engineers, especially in the loop area, where elevated, surface, and bus lines seemingly compete for greater noise. Not only are trolley buses reported to be more flexible in heavy traffic and more economical through the elimination of rails and track repairs, but users claim greater comfort and quiet, thereby heightening general health conditions and minimizing to a very great extent the noise nuisance. Such claims certainly merit consideration.

As individuals and citizens interested in attracting visitors to Chicago and making Chicago more attractive to visitors, members of the Greater Chicago Hotel association are as one behind any movement to improve traffic conditions. Please know that we are all behind you in your efforts.

THE END OF THE RAINBOW.

Erie, Ill., June 20.—At 6:15 p. m. Sunday, during a light drizzle, my daughter and I distinctly saw the end of the rainbow. It rose, a bent column of color, from the sod approximately 300 feet downhill from us, and the waving grasses on the opposite hillside were visible through it. Was this an unusual sight or are the stories about the elusiveness of the foot of the rainbow as absurd as the belief that a pot of gold is hidden there?

CARL HORN.

CHICAGO'S NEEDS.

Chicago, June 20.—Chicago's outer garments are most beautiful, even gorgeous, but underneath its showy garb are dirty rags. We continue to add park area, some of it inaccessible to the pedestrians, widen streets that lead nowhere and build elevated highways when street surfaces might be repaired.

Ashland, Western and Ogden avenues, upon which millions of taxpayers' money has been spent, have no particular value as thoroughfares, have been finished only in spots, and are used largely by coal trucks and moving vans. North avenue, Addison street and Diversey parkway have a surface which gives you the sensation of a roller coaster. Roosevelt, Cermak and Pershing roads are avoided by every self-respecting car owner.

Then there are but few street intersections, even in the congested loop district, that show signs telling the names of the streets. Also there is an ordinance, passed years ago by the city council, that might be enforced, that of compelling property owners to display the lot number on their building frontage. This is of great importance to visitors as well as locals who have occasion to be in territory with which they are not familiar.

Mayor Kelly in his appeal for aid from the national government should include plans for interior beautification and serviceable improvements rather than build an amusement park, an institution that is so old fashioned as to be a jest in this more modern and cultured age.

A. H. WAGONER.

THE PAY OF TEACHERS AND POLICE.

Chicago, June 19.—The Illinois legislature is about to pass a bill to fix the minimum salary of Chicago policemen at $175 per month, or a yearly salary of $2,100. Is Mayor Kelly sponsor of this bill?

He reduced his minimum salary for Chicago's elementary teachers to $127.50, or $1,147 for 9 months [yearly salary].

The highest paid elementary teacher, after years of training, experience and what have you, has been reduced to $1,822 a year, after the pension payment is deducted for the year.

My neighbor works as a janitress in a public school and receives $125 per month, just two dollars less than an elementary teacher in our city. What a premium on education for Chicago!

TEACHER'S MOTHER.

WHY NOT BUY AN UMBRELLA!

Chicago, June 21.—It is my constitutional privilege to send you this letter, and it is THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S constitutional right to reject it. However, the point I want to bring out is that if the NRA is unconstitutional, and the New Deal is unconstitutional, then surely all this rain we are having is unconstitutional. Shall we appeal to the Supreme court for a decision?

Grace Barnum's Debut Saturday to Open Season

She'll Bow in Same Garden That Mother Did.

BY JUDITH CASS.

TRADITION plays a pleasant rôle in the presentation to society of Miss Grace Barnum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hyde Barnum of Winnetka, as the first of the 1935-'36 debutantes. One June afternoon several years ago in the garden that is now her own, Mrs. Barnum remembers that her late parents, the Edward Beaches, introduced her to their grownup friends.

Prompted by this memory, she and Mr. Barnum have issued invitations for a garden reception for their daughter between 4 and 8 o'clock next Saturday. The weather man cooperating, it is sure to be a lovely party, for Mrs. Barnum has given much of her time and effort to the development of her gardens, making them among the most attractive in the north shore suburb. Yet they retain many of the old-fashioned attractions that Mr. and Mrs. Beach enjoyed when they lived at 532 Oak street.

Miss Barnum will be assisted by a coterie of her north shore friends. She has only recently returned from the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va., where she is about to enter upon her sophomore year. Before going to Virginia she was graduated from Roycemore.

In July the Barnums will go up to their camp at Land o' Lakes, Wis., to spend the summer. They will return in time for their daughter to enjoy some of the debutante festivity before going back to school.

Laura Bartlett Will Wed Today.

Among the events of today will be the wedding of two young college graduates, Miss Laura Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund B. Bartlett of Winnetka, who has just finished at Sarah Lawrence college, and Francis Daniels Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Moore, also of Winnetka, who was graduated last week from Harvard university.

The service will be read at 5:30 o'clock at the altar of the Winnetka Congregational church by Dr. Samuel D. Harkness and a reception will follow at the Bartlett home at 710 Walden road.

Preceding the bride to the altar will be Miss Henrietta Boal as her maid of honor and Miss Heath Horton, Miss Leslie Winslow, Miss Taylor Hannaford, Miss Fidelia Richards, and Miss Harriet Moore, a sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids.

Five Harvard Men to Serve as Ushers.

Philip W. Moore Jr. is to serve his brother as best man and ushering will be Philip Emery Moore, a cousin of the bridegroom, Thomas Dammann and Fisher Howe of Winnetka, Alexander Stillman, and five of Mr. Moore's classmates from the east, Henry Watson, Matson Holbrook, Richard Prouty, David Lewis, and Warren Sturgis.

Mr. Moore is taking his bride on a motor trip west and then they will go to live in Boston, where Mr. Moore is to begin his medical course at Harvard university. Before the wedding today Mrs. Morris K. Wilson is entertaining at luncheon for the bridal party and the out of town guests.

Another wedding today is that of Miss Marjorie Chapline and Randall Vernon Ratcliffe. The service will be read at 8:30 o'clock at the Bryn Mawr Community church by the Rev. Russell M. Boynton and then there will be a reception at the South Shore Country club. After a wedding trip to Banff and Lake Louise and down the coast to California, Mr. Ratcliffe and his bride will return to Chicago to make their home. Miss Chapline is a daughter of Jesse Grant Chapline, president of the La Salle Extension university, and Mrs. Chapline, whose home is on Luella avenue.

Marion Hedly Wedding Party Is Announced.

IT is Huntington B. Henry's story. Motoring back to Chicago from Useppa Island, he stopped at a small, out of the way farmhouse to get a drink at the well and got into conversation with the farmer. The farmer had twelve sons.

"I suppose they're all Democrats?" inquired Mr. Henry.

"They all were," answered the farmer, "but one of them isn't any longer."

"Why not?" asked Mr. Henry.

"Well, he learned to read two months ago," explained the farmer.

THREE prominent Chicagoans were playing golf at Shoreacres recently, when one of them substituted a plaster-of-paris golf ball for his opponent's ball. When he hit it it flew to pieces and the player gazed in astonishment.

"Where did it go?" he asked his caddie. [It was Mr. Roy Carney.] "I thought it seemed to explode into thin air."

"Well, you just don't know your own strength," commented the opponent who had substituted the fake ball, after some discussion of the matter.

After the match Mr. Carney entered the locker room at the club, still looking dazed.

"Funniest thing in the world just happened to me," he began, and related the story of the golf ball that vanished as he hit it. The club members present, already aware of the incident, listened gravely.

"Well, you just don't know your own strength," repeated one of them.

Mr. Carney shook his head gravely and the matter apparently was ended. At that moment one member could no longer restrain his laughter, and the mystery was explained. . . . Just by way of letting you know what goes on everywhere.

Good Morning!

I wonder how many people there are in this world who go OUT of it without leaving a single person to give a hoot whether they live or die?

Of such unmourned stuff the scoundrel of this opus is made.

Plenty HAVE loved him during his brilliant, comparatively short career. Plenty women! Men know him for what he is—and despise him. So, in time, do the women he has loved, laughed at, and cast aside.

But while they flutter in the bleak radiance of his satirical regard, their passion for him burns at white heat, leaving only their husks when Mallare has finished with them.

The Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur story concerns itself mostly with the affairs of Publisher Mallare and a little white lily of a poetess who comes to him with her lyrics and her love and, what she believes to be, her complete understanding of the man he "REALLY" is. . . .

For Mallare Cora Moore renounces the fine chap she's engaged to—and HE goes to the bowwows. For her a few, brief months of ecstatic happiness, then she, in her turn, learns the utter cruelty, the utter worthlessness of the man she adores. . . .

An airship accident! The return to his old haunts of an embodied soul that is to find no rest through eternity unless in the one brief month granted it on earth there is discovered ONE person who grieves for its passing . . . one man, woman, or child who will shed a tear because it is gone.

The soul? Mallare.

Those who had believed him dead receive him variously. But there's not one whose emotion registers higher than surprise, consternation—or hate. Until . . . ? You'd rather see the movie for the story's outcome than have me spill it here, I'm sure.

"The Scoundrel" is a strong picture. It is a bitter and arresting one, faultlessly played, splendidly staged and photographed, and skilfully assembled.

Noel Coward in the title rôle is poisonous —and fascinating. Julie Haydon, delicately lovely to look at, surprises you with her emotional depth. Martha Sleeper and Hope Williams give shrewdly effective performances as two of the women in Mallare's life. Other players AND the director —knew just what to do—and did it.

You've guessed it! "The Scoundrel" isn't a pleasant picture. But just try and forget it!

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 23.—[Special.]—Barbara Stanwyck is to play Annie Oakley, the girl rifle shot, in "Shooting Star," a wild west picture which will have a cowgirl heroine instead of cowboy hero at Radio-RKO studio.

The same studio announces that Merian B. Cooper will produce two all color films to be made on a lavish scale before this year closes. Cooper was in charge of "Becky Sharp" for Producer John Hay Whitney recently.

Carl Laemmle Sr. says what his studio is determined to give the public during the coming year is less dialog, more action and new faces in the starring rôles of Universal Movies.

Bing Crosby, who is prouder of his three children, Gary Evan, 2, and Phillip and Dennis, one year old twins, than of his voice or the $1,000,000 it has brought him, was walking over the studio lot when Bob Pittick, cameraman at Paramount, stuck a cigar into Bing's hand and said, "Congratulate me, I'm the father of a little girl." "What!" said Bing, "Only one?"

Style, Comfort Mark Slippers for Summer

New Creations Offered in Fifteen Colors.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

We have had summer footwear before that seemed just about the most comfortable numbers you could slide into of a hot and sultry summer morning, but the 1935 creations will make you forget all other former glory.

These new inventions are snappy in style lines, available in fifteen colors, and in some of the most effective color combinations you've ever gloated over. Besides all this, you can select two kinds of heels, stunning medium high and extremely comfortable street heels, sort of a cross between a spike and walking heel and the lovely curved French heels on the evening slippers.

These summer slippers are made of lackered cord and then crocheted. They look like the trick stitches in your pet hand knit clothes. They are amazingly supple and flexible and probably the coolest summer footwear you ever owned. The toe sections are well covered, for which some designer should be handsomely covered with chest medals.

Some of the heels are covered and some are partially open, making for more ventilation and supercoolness. All are T-strap models and all are flattering, feminine, and especially attractive as the footnote interest for printed dresses and dinner and dance clothes.

Practically every known color can be found, from brown and white combines, blue, green, scarlet, yellow, orange, and several shades of each color, all white, all brown, and all blue. And there are some spectacular successes for clinging chiffons and brilliantly printed silk crêpe gowns in shimmering gold and silver, with, as we mentioned before, the lovely decorative French high heels.

These slippers are well made and they'll last you through the activities of at least two summers unless you spend all your time on your feet.

Fashion photograph . . . one of the most interesting of cool cotton street ensembles inexpensively priced for a slim clothes allowance. It is made of crisp red and white plaid cotton, trimmed with white. The slim dress is sleeveless and made with kick plaits in the tailored skirtline.

The short semi-fitted jacket is as tailored and as snappy in silhouette as anything you could find in wool or silk. Available in a collection of similarly good looking street clothes for small budgets in a Chicago store.

The Ortega Feud

By Marie De Nervaud.

SYNOPSIS.

Chris Jackson is sent by Bill Benton, new sheriff of Monterey county, to put an end to the Ortega-Alvado feud, which has resulted in numerous murders. Both families believe California to be still Spanish and want Americans kept out. Pietro Sanchez runs the general store of the Big Sur Valley. While calling there Chris encounters Guido Ortega, Ramon, his dare-devil son, and Ysabel, his beautiful, sad eyed niece. He falls in love with Ysabel at first sight, and has a quarrel with Ramon and publicly spanks him. Chris outfits himself for a supposed lion hunting trip. He receives a note sent by messenger from Ysabel Ortega hinting of a mysterious danger, begging his aid, and asking him to meet her in a fortnight. Chris camps in a canyon on the northern boundary of the Alvado ranch. A shot from an unseen hand gives him warning to leave. He is saved by Rocky, an old Indian hunter, who advises him to leave the country. Next day Chris meets Francesca Alvado, flirtatious Spanish beauty, who warns him her father welcomes no strangers. Chris tells her of his encounter with Ramon Ortega. It gains him entree to the Alvado ranch. Guido Alvado invites Chris to a rodeo to be held in a week. During the rodeo the warring families hold a traditional three day truce. Ysabel Ortega is facing a forced marriage with her cousin, Ramon. Her uncle refuses to tell her the secret of her birth, as he had promised to do on her eighteenth birthday. She tries to escape from the ranch.

INSTALMENT XIII.

THE HORRORS OF THE CANYON.

Could her mother's jewels be valuable enough to make her uncle go to those lengths to come into their possession? Or was there some other inheritance that she knew nothing about?

Ysabel pressed a hand against her throbbing head. That couldn't be the answer! Her uncle was rich enough to give Ramon all he needed. And yet, what other reason could there be for this sudden imperative demand that she marry Ramon at once, before the rodeo?

She had never dreamed that the danger would be as imminent as this! On the way back she had realized that her uncle had some such scheme in mind, and it was that realization that had made her send her desperate appeal to the tall blond stranger.

She had set the time of his coming two weeks ahead because she had thought that if she found herself in danger, some means of escape might offer itself at the rodeo. Her uncle's pride would demand that he take her there, and by that time she would be of age and in possession of her inheritance. She would sew what jewels she could not wear into her clothes and be prepared, if necessary, to run away. Then, if no chance of escape presented itself there, she had clung to the last hope that somehow that powerful, resourceful stranger would rescue her.

But now, if she was to be married before the rodeo, all that planning was in vain. The only thing to do was to escape before the priest arrived to marry them.

With a sort of fascinated horror Ysabel leaned over and gazed into the dark pool beneath her. That would be the simplest solution!

She straightened up with a shudder. No, not that! At all events, not yet.

Through the branches of the oak she could see a single star in the sky. The shadows in the canyon were now so deep that rocks and trees melted into indefinable masses, and a shiver ran through Ysabel at the terrifying hush of the canyon.

A second later the stillness was broken by a blood curdling scream that sounded like a woman wailing in agony. An answering scream came from farther up the canyon, shattering the echoes of the first.

With rapidly beating heart Ysabel felt her way back to the limb that had been such a refuge a short time before, but now seemed a part of the weird terror that surrounded her.

She reached the bowlder and slid down, feeling her way in the gloom to the creek bed.

Her reason told her that those screams were nothing but mountain lions, creeping through the brush and calling to each other, but the eerie feeling of terror was not to be dispelled by the simple process of reason.

Coming as it did in her nervous, excited state, the cries sounded to Ysabel like an uncanny Banshee warning of death and disaster.

Her resolve not to return to the house melted away before this new terror. Even though the lions would never come near her, she couldn't stay there.

By the time Ysabel emerged from the canyon it was quite dark, and she stood for a moment on the rim, getting her breath after the steep climb.

She could see a light in her uncle's office, and another in Ramon's room, at the far end of the patio, beyond hers. Otherwise the hacienda lay in brooding darkness on the plateau above the ocean.

Ysabel stifled back a sob. There was something so sinister and insolent in this calm indifference to her! This assumption that she would have to come back, and they need not even take the trouble to follow her!

Rebellion flared up in her, but the memory of the horrors of the canyon was too recent. She couldn't go back there! And she couldn't stay out in the open, where stray vaqueros might come upon her, and set all the tongues on the place wagging. Pride forbade that, as it also forbade her seeking Maria out at the rancheria.

There was nothing for it but to go back and wait for daylight. Then she could slip out and take a horse and get away.

Silently she made for the door, her bedraggled dress clinging about her, and her thin slippers with their high heels threatening to throw her as she painfully negotiated the rough ground.

The door was open, and Ysabel slipped inside and gently closed it behind her. She stood listening for a moment, but no sound broke the silence.

Tiptoeing along the hall, she burst into a run as she came to the court. Sprinting across it, she gained her room and pulled the door to behind her with a shudder of mingled terror and relief.

Without stopping to undress, she threw herself down on the bed in a state of complete exhaustion that soon found refuge in sleep.

Waked as though by an alarm by her restless dread and the resolve that she had made the night before to cut the Gordian knot by escaping, Ysabel got up and noiselessly slipped on her riding habit.

It was almost dark, with the feeble light of a waning moon, but the few stars in the sky showed that dawn was not far away. The sound of the ocean, moaning below her window with its low tide crooning, was the only break in the silence; and as Ysabel crept down the corridor to the front door it seemed to reverberate through the dark spaces with a sinister crescendo.

With infinite care and patience she slowly slid back the heavy bolts that had been shot into place after she came in the night before. Holding her breath until the difficult feat of sliding it back without any sound had been accomplished, Ysabel swung open the door and slipped outside, closing it noiselessly behind her.

Like an eerie piece of the black shadow of the hacienda that had suddenly detached itself from the rest, she flitted across the open space, in the half light, toward the corral.

Her low, throbbing call, "Estar!" made the horses huncheb in the lower corner of it stir restlessly. At her second call a white mustang, with a tiny black feather tip that proclaimed his trace of Arab blood, detached himself and raced toward her.

Leading him over to the shed, Ysabel picked out her saddle and cinched it with fingers that trembled with excitement.

She then led him to the mounting block and sprang into the saddle. A moment later she was headed at a walk for the trail that dipped down into the canyon to the north of the hacienda and eventually led from this isolated trail's end to the outer world.

Ysabel cast one backward glance toward the low lying building which was the only home she could remember. Its adobe walls gave it a fortress-like aspect in the dim light, and the massive silence bore down on her like a tangible weight. She firmly held Estar to a walk.

At last the rim of the canyon was reached and, scarcely daring to believe in her good luck, Ysabel guided Estar down its steep slope.

For a moment a faintness crept over her as the reaction from the desperate tension of effecting a silent escape claimed her.

Ysabel rested her hand on the pommel of the saddle, closing her eyes as she murmured a prayer of thanksgiving.

"Señorita!"

Finger Nails Are Index of General Health

Sterile Implements Give Safe Manicure.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

One forgets, with all the polishes upon which to concentrate attention, that finger nails are useful as well as ornamental. They protect the delicate ends of our fingers and aid them in picking up small objects. And more. A doctor can tell as much by looking at the nails as by looking at the patient's tongue or taking his pulse. I was reminded of this by the experience of an acquaintance who suffered an infection from a hangnail. It became so painful she had to see her doctor about it. During the examination the physician discovered that the woman was suffering with a serious constitutional disorder.

A healthy nail has a rosy, pink color, derived from the blood in the underlying tissue. A bluish tinge suggests heart disturbance or poor circulation, I learn from medical sources. A white, anemic nail may mean impoverished blood, and dull and brittle nails usually indicate a lack of oil in the skin.

The physician told of an instance of infection acquired in the process of a manicure, which proved serious to the victim. Even in beauty parlors, he urges, hangnails, after being trimmed closely, should be treated with an antiseptic and touched with collodion to keep out dirt and bacteria. I always am surprised when I see manicurists going from one client to another without taking some means of sterilizing their implements.

In the most up to date shops one finds the sterilizer right on the wall alongside the operator, and she dips her implements in it before one's eyes. One should, by all means, demand this care just as one would demand that a sterilized brush or comb would be the only hair care article used on the head.

"When a leisure class is developed in any civilization one of the first requisites is better care of the nails," I read the other day. The disappearance of grime from under the nails definitly places the person in the more particular class of people. In certain past civilizations elaborate toilet of the hands was evolved. But we can't imagine any more elaborate hand toilet period than we are going through right now.

But what I wanted to warn you about is that the elaborate nail tinting is causing a drying of nails and more breaking of nail tips than ever heard of before, which can be off with the use of oils for this purpose.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the prettiest offerings of the season is the vanity purse of white shirred crêpe lined with satin that's been designed especially for brides. It's a knockout, and we see no reason in the world why only the bride should get the breaks. We couldn't want a more charming evening bag for the summer.

This bag is one of those affairs that breathes elegance and good taste—and without a touch of the curse of gadgetry it's a marvel of efficiency. It's smallish and flat, but when you open it up and unfold its flaps you've got everything you can desire for keeping yourself well groomed.

There's a good sized mirror attached to the bottom flap and neatly pocketed in the center flat compartment is a stunning lipstick with compact to match. Then there's a crown bottle of an elegant perfume created by a Russian perfumer.

On the side flaps [this is one of those bags that opens out like a cross] you'll find space to put all sorts of things. In the pocket on the left you might choose to put cigarets or perhaps cards. You can tuck a small comb in there, too, if you like. In the right flap is a flat but generous purse for your mad money, your door key, and a not too bulky chiffon handkerchief.

Both in price and in character this crêpe and satin frippery is pretty much in the luxury class.

And let us emphasize the fact that the powder, the lipstick and the perfume are just about tops in quality and in chic. There's no need to feel that a manufacturer made a purse and then threw in cosmetics. The cosmetics come first with this house.

If Rival Defames You Present Case Squarely to Girl

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Is all fair in love and war, according to modern ethics?

The question is on Mark's mind. Mark confesses to being madly, passionately, and hopelessly in love with a young woman who has turned against him because of the stories his rival has poured into her ears. This rival was a former friend of Mark's, which makes his treachery harder to bear. The girl thinks the tales must be true, since the fellow has known Mark for so long.

If you were having it out with anybody, Mark, our suggestion would be to go after the young man for character defamation. Make him retract his words, and in the girl's presence. That being impossible, then, perhaps, it would be best to let the matter rest for the time being. We doubt if you could persuade the girl that she is in the hands of a gay deceiver, if such he is. Then, too, there always is the question of the genuineness of a girl's affections who could be turned away by stories.

Perhaps it may be entirely some other reason that makes him the preferred one.

You ask: "What can I do to make the girl believe in me?" If you go straight to her and present your case, and she still does not believe you, there is nothing on earth you can do.

"Pantry Shelf Dinners," a booklet of menus and recipes for unexpected guests, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

If you're an enthusiast for home made ice cream, and particularly if you have an automatic refrigerator there are a couple of new, short cut ice cream "mixes" you'll want to try. They both mean death to the icy crystals we used to accept in our refrigerator ice creams.

One of these is a gelatin ice cream powder and it comes in four flavors—vanilla, strawberry, lemon, and chocolate—as well as in unflavored state for your own experimentation. The other is a junket preparation, which comes in the fine flavors of vanilla, chocolate, and maple.

Just to show you how simple it is to make your own frozen delicacies with these mixes, we want to run through the general instructions for turning out either kind.

The junket preparation asks this simple treatment: Whip one cup of cold whipping cream until it barely holds its shape. In another bowl add a package of the mix to a cup of cold milk and beat until smooth. Mix the contents of the two bowls together, pour into the freezing tray, and freeze at the coldest temperature, without stirring.

Or, you may beat a pint of chilled, light cream with a packafe of the mix one or two minutes and freeze as above.

To make refrigerator ice cream with the gelatin mix the procedure is this: Combine a package of the flavored gelatin preparation with four tablespoons of sugar [one-half cup if you're using chocolate]. Add two cups of milk gradually, stirring until dissolved, and fold into two cups of heavy cream, whipped until it holds its shape. Turn into freezing trays [this makes about a quart and a half] and freeze as rapidly as possible, stirring three times during the first hour of freezing.

Now for some variations to be particularly recommended.

BRITTLE CRUNCH ICE CREAM.

Vanilla Ice Cream with Peach Sherbet.

1 package vanilla junket preparation
1 cup cold milk
½ teaspoon lemon extract
1 cup heavy cream
2 teaspoons granulated gelatin
¼ cup water
1 eight ounce can peaches
Few grains salt
Almond flavoring

Mix a half package of the junket mix with a half cup of milk. Whip a half cup of the heavy cream until stiff, combine the mixtures, flavor with half the lemon extract, and pour into the freezing tray, with the control set cold. While this mixture is freezing, soak the gelatin in the cold water and dissolve in the heated juice from the can of peaches. Sieve the peach halves, add to the juice and gelatin mixture, flavor with almond, and cool. When the first layer of ice cream is frozen quite stiff pour the peach mixture over it and freeze. Then make up the remaining half of the junket preparation with the remaining milk, cream, and flavoring, pour over the frozen peach sherbet, and continue freezing. Serve in slices.

Effective Color Grouping Basic in Novel Quilt

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Pyramids of Egypt" is another of those simple pieced blocks adaptable to endless development. Color grouping is one of the things necessary to make the right triangle employed as effective as are the tiny hexagonal patches used in "Grandmother's Flower Garden." These triangular patterns are not particularly easy to create. It requires an artist of both color and design to visualize the beauty of an entire quilt before the patches are made.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

A cool, pretty dress for summer is shown here, and it is practical, too. Long or short raglan sleeves, cut in one with the shoulder yoke, and feminine plaits, jabot, and soft gathers add interest to the bodice of this chic, tailored dress with a slim skirt. The original dress was made of crinkly, plaid cotton with a navy ground. This model may be worn all through the day.

The pattern, No. 3328, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 35 inch material.

STORIES AND NEWS.

So help me, this actually occurred in a rubber bridge game the other night. The dealer had started off with a brisk bid of one spade. North overcalled with two hearts, which was doomed to be passed around to the spade bidder. Gazing fondly at his A, K, 5, 3, 2 of spades and ace of clubs, the dealer bid two spades. North doubled. East ran to three diamonds and South found a double. The result was five tricks down, doubled and vulnerable.

For once the kibbitzers and the players were in full accord. "A rebid on a hand such as that—fooey!" was the way one onlooker succinctly expressed it. The dealer defended himself hotly.

"Whaddya mean—no rebid?" he said. "After all, my partner had only passed once."

This little spat was tame, however, compared to some I have witnessed. And the peculiar thing about bridge quarrels is that the players whose rows always seem on the verge of ending up in pitched battles, and whose vituperative comments would make a truck driver blush for shame, are usually the crème de la crème of the social kingdom. There seems to be something about a deck of cards and four players that sloughs off the thin veneer of society, leaving the partners back in the stone age. Since my recent timid delving into bridge clubs I have been forced to revise my opinion of the so-called gentler sex. I believe it was Michael Arlen who complimented a literary creation of his by saying that she was "a gentleman among women," and there is no place where inherent poor sportsmanship shows up so cruelly as at a bridge table.

The tragedy of it is that it is all so unnecessary. You would not dream of insulting your doubles partner by asking bitingly whether he had learned to play tennis in a glue factory; nor would you spoil a foursome of golf by suggesting that you'd probably do much better if you finished out the round by yourself. Whatever you may think, you choke back your wrath and murmur conventionally, "Too bad, partner." Neither a card table nor a marriage certificate gives you the right to display a lack of breeding and make an utter fool of yourself.

The pinochle players who have literally come up from the ranks, to whom a dinner coat was a cook's apron, and white tie referred to what a gent wore at Coney Island with a dark blue shirt and a linen suit—those men whose wizardry with cards brought them into society could, I regret to say, teach us a thing or two about manners. Their accents may be execrable; they may not be able to read a menu at the Casino, but they are gamblers. Gamblers of the same ilk as the Mississippi river gentry. In 1860 an insult could be wiped out only by bullets. I hope the day will soon come when any man who forgets himself at the bridge table will be barred from the game for "conduct unbefitting a gentleman." Then it may be that bridge will take its place between yachting and polo—two sports on which no stigma has ever been cast.

afternoon at the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest, she will be preceded to the altar by a half dozen of her most intimate friends.

Her sister, Madeline, will be her maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will include Mrs. Robert Herreford [Thelma Jensen], Mrs. Richard Atherton [Elsa Kochs], Miss Barbara Ann Sargent of Winnetka, Miss Betty Stahelin of Detroit, who is Miss Hedly's cousin, Miss Charlotte Fleming of Lake Forest, and Miss Mary Lynch of Kenilworth.

June and Jane Grayling, tiny twin sisters, will be the flower girls, and Miss Hedly's small cousin, Milton Sandling Jr. of Battle Creek, Mich., will be the ring bearer.

Richard D. Buckley of New York City will serve his brother as best man, and ushering will be Edward F. Wilson, Leigh Derby, Louis Mably of Detroit, I. Willard Crull of Batavia, Edward Benninghoven, and Robert Herreford.

Another of Mr. Buckley's good friends, Robert Kenyon Jr. of Lake Forest, will play the organ for the processional and recessional. The service will be read by Dr. Herbert W. Prince, rector of the Lake Forest church. The ceremony will be followed by a reception for only the intimate friends at the home of the bride's parents in Libertyville.

More Pre-Nuptial Parties This Week.

There already have been a half dozen parties for Miss Hedly and Mr. Buckley, and this week there will be many more. Last Friday evening Mr. Kenyon entertained at a dinner and swimming party at the Knollwood club, and that noon Miss Fleming gave a luncheon for Miss Hedly at the Onwentsia.

Last Saturday evening Mrs. John Kehoe had the bridal party for dinner and dancing at the Knollwood club, and all day yesterday Miss Hedly, Mr. Buckley, and their attendants enjoyed outdoor sports as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Atherton at Lake Beulah. Mrs. Atherton's parents, the August Kochses, have a house at Lake Beulah.

Tomorrow noon Miss Sargent is entertaining at luncheon for Miss Medly, and tomorrow night the Jackson Derings are having a pot and kettle shower for her at their home in Lake Villa. Wednesday noon Mrs. Herreford will be Miss Hedly's luncheon hostess at her new home in the Marshall Field Garden apartments.

Mr. Buckley is having his bachelor dinner Thursday evening at the University club, and the following night Mr. and Mrs. Hedly will have the bridal dinner in Libertyville.

Mary Garden's Master Class Begins Today.

There are a number of Chicagoans who have purposely delayed their vacations in order to take advantage of Mary Garden's master class beginning today at the Chicago Musical college, and so, they hope, will improve their lyric and dramatic technique. The artist will be here through Aug. 3, so there is certain to be as much entertaining for her during the next six weeks as her schedule will allow.

The Ralph Hobarts, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden B. Harris, Maj. and Mrs. Lenox R. Lohr, Gen. and Mrs. Abel Davis, the Graham Aldises, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham, the Harold Pynchons, and Mrs. Mary Welch Dickinson are some of those who will be at Glencoe's Central school this evening for the opening of the season of the North Shore Drama festival.

The first performance under the direction of Ben Guy Phillips will be Sir James Barrie's "Mary Rose," starring Edith Barrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson are opening their Lake Forest home, Ridgemore, this evening for an interesting and unusual benefit program of music by the choir and acolytes of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest. The concert will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Dinner This Evening for U. of C. Speaker.

Preceding Ambassador Troyanovsky's lecture this evening at Mandel hall on the University of Chicago campus there will be a dinner for him and the rest of the speakers under the Norman Wait Harris Memorial Foundation in Judson court at the university. Some of those invited to meet the lecturers at dinner include Harold F. McCormick, Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio, the Italian consul general; Mrs. William Gold Hibbard, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. These Do's and Don'ts Simplify Child's Travels

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In our previous articles we have talked about planning a trip with the little boy—the breast or bottlefed baby.

Even with the older children, there are certain things we need to keep in mind in connection with journeys and vacations—some of which, of course, may also apply to the babies.

Here are some important provisions and prohibitions:

Don't let the children experiment with new foods en route, no matter how much you may be tempted. They are thrown out of their routine enough just by traveling.

If they eat uncooked fruits or vegetables, be sure those are thoroughly washed.

Take along something that will amuse the children or keep them contented if the journey is to be long, and may prove wearisome. Books are good, and some much loved animal or doll, and if you have simple games, they are helpful, too. Pencils or crayons and paper should be tucked in, too.

Don't let the children get too chummy with strangers. Women who think your little girl or boy "just too cute," can in one day rob her, or him, of that unconsciousness which is perhaps one of his or her chief charms. Also, these interested strangers sometimes encourage the children too much and then weary of their friendliness.

If you are motoring no drinks from a cool stream or trickling spring, no matter how pure it may seem. And in trains be equally sure of the drinking water and the cups.

If the journey is long, try to get the children to rest a little, particularly the younger ones. If you are going by car, arrange some stops for stretching the body and getting the circulation moving through the legs.

"Traveling with the Baby in Summer" is a leaflet containing detailed advice. It requires double postage and a stamped self addressed envelope.

Electric Organ Heard in City for First Time

BY EDWARD MOORE.

A new musical instrument, and by that token a new marvel in the world of electricity, became audible yesterday afternoon at the New England church when Porter Heaps played the spring vesper musical service on the Hammond electric organ. It was the first public demonstration in Chicago of that instrument.

Mr. Heaps was seated at a small two manual console. Beside him was a cubical sound box. The two together hardly took up as much floor space as an ordinary grand piano. Out of that sound box proceeded almost as many varieties of tone as you hear from a fine church organ. You might have thought that the pipes of the organ beyond were making the tone. But they were silent.

One learns that the explanation of the tone is simple in theory and complex in performance. A tone is produced by electric means. But Mr. Heaps had a series of mechanical devices before him whereby to this fundamental tone were added overtones, harmonics. If you recall your study of the physics of sound, you will remember that the quality of a tone depends upon the number and placement of its overtones. A flute has a different tone from a clarinet, the string choir in a symphony orchestra is different from the woodwind section, and both are different from the brass group, and it is all dependent upon the grouping of overtones, the fractional halves, thirds, fifths, sevenths, what not of the fundamental tone.

So Mr. Heaps moved from flute to oboe and back again, into qualities of tone that these ears had never heard before, and back to normal. Sometimes it was the faintest shimmer of sound, sometimes a tone big enough to support the choir and congregation in massed singing. One admits freely that this instrument at its full volume does not quite get the radiant, blazing glory of a huge pipe organ. But in its other relations, in the vast number of tone qualities and colors that it is able to produce, it is an amazing device.

There were two choral features of the service in addition to the organ music. One was Mr. Heaps' own prize winning setting of the anthem, "A Thanksgiving for All Created Things," to the beautiful words of St. Francis of Assisi, music that was both fine and scholarly. The other was one of Bach's great cantatas, "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

Sally Offers Ice Carnival Invitations to Boys and Girls

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Who wants to come to the Ice Carnival with me?

Now that school's over and summer's here, it's time for our regular series of summer parties. While I'm sure that most of the boys and girls of Chicago know all about them and have been eagerly awaiting this opening announcement—just in case some of you youngsters may not know of the good times provided for you every year by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, I'll tell you all about it.

For many years it's been my special duty to see that all you boys and girls have your share of fun, and this summer will be no exception. I've planned a gay party for every single week during July and August, and every boy and girl who reads this is eligible to compete for an invitation.

Our first party will take place on Wednesday, July 3, and it's a most unusual one, which I know will be very popular. You all love ice skating, and Frank Bering of the Hotel Sherman has invited me to bring my guests to the Ice Carnival in the College Inn. It's a thrilling show. They've built a real ice rink in the center of the room, and have brought some of the best ice skaters in the United States to participate in the show.

The show is a regular evening attraction, but we're to have a special performance in the afternoon. And Frankie Masters, whom you've probably seen on the stage, has promised to put in an appearance. I can't begin to tell you of all the marvelous stunts in the show, but I promise you you'll hold your breath when you watch the way the performers dance and twirl on the glittering ice.

Tomorrow I'll tell you more about the funny Scotsman, Bobby McLean, who jumps over 10 chairs, and about Roy Shipstead, the young man who does the most difficult acrobatic tricks you ever saw, and all the other graceful artists, but right now I want to tell you how to go about winning an invitation.

I know you'll all want to come and I'd like to take you, but 50 boys and the same number of girls are about all I can manage at one time, so we'll try to take the youngsters to whom the party will mean the most. I can't possibly know that, so YOU have to tell me! You're all invited to write me a letter telling why you think you'll enjoy the party, and we'll pick the winners from the best letters.

There are only a few simple rules you must remember to make your letter eligible for consideration. First, your note must include your name, address, and age. Second, it must be on my desk by next Thursday, June 27. These rules should be easy for any one to remember, and if you don't comply with them, out goes your letter!

You'd better sit right down now and write to me, and if you can really convince me that the party will be a treat for you, you might see your name in THE TRIBUNE next Sunday, for we'll print the names of the boys and girls who win invitations.

It doesn't make any difference if you're not awfully good at spelling or have trouble writing in a straight line—I don't care about those things—I'm interested in finding boys and girls who'll have a good time at the Ice Carnival. You don't have to buy anything or sell anything—you must just remember the rules mentioned above. Mail your letters to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago, and watch tomorrow's paper for further news about the party.

GIANTS WHIP CUBS, 8-0; SOX, BOSTON SPLIT

Warneke Knocked Out in Fifth.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 23.—Those ecstatic gurgles you have heard from the Cubs troupe as it went about the business of winning seven of eight baseball contests, were hushed today in brutal fashion by the New York Giants. The New Yorkers first scared our lads into a state of palsy and then proceeded to tromp 'em down, 8 to 0.

Lon Warneke, cast in the rôle of the Cubs' losingest pitcher when he was the victim of the Chicagoans' only defeat in their five games in Boston, and the only Cub who hasn't been emitting the aforesaid ecstatic gurgles, suffered his seventh defeat of the season. Lon was not a good pitcher by a long shot, but it can't be said he was given much encouragement by his frightened mates.

Can't Score for Lon.

As he entered the game he had the knowledge that the only run the Cubs had made for him in 10 innings was one run scored on a two base error. To this total the Cubs today added five scoreless innings before Lon was driven to cover with none out in the home fifth. He was replaced by Bryant, who was followed by Casey.

Freddy Fitzsimmons, knocked out in his last three starts, was the winning pitcher. It pleased Fred more than usual to lick the Cubs, for he was the victim in the only Chicago victory in six games played with the Giants this season. Fitzsimmons, incidentally, has an unusual season record. He has won four games and lost four and all four of his victories have been shutouts.

Fitzsimmons kidded our boys quite a little. He allowed them eleven hits, six of them in the first three innings. Then, having so teased them, Freddy would put on the clamps whenever scores threatened. Eleven Cubs were left on bases, there having been no walks off Fitzsimmons, and no errors by the Giants.

Three for Cavarretta.

Phil Cavarretta led the Cubs' offensive, such as it was, with three singles. Hartnett and Herman made two hits each. No Cub knocked an extra base hit.

The Giants concluded their scoring program with the farewell flurry against Warneke. Dick Bartell led their offensive with a homer and two singles. Leiber had a fluke double and two singles and Terry had a single and doubled his first two times up. The Giants made one more hit than the Cubs.

All the activity in the Cubs' first inning was staged too late to mean anything. After Galan had failed to offer at any of three straight strikes and Herman had fouled to Jackson, Hack singled to right and went to third on Hartnett's single to center. The inning ended with Lindstrom's fly to Leiber.

Giants Held to Two Runs.

A great shoestring catch by Galan and a resulting double play held the Giants to two runs instead of a possible dozen in the first. Moore was safe when Jurges fumbled his bouncer and scored on Bartell's No. 5 homer. Terry singled to left. Ott drove a low liner to left. Terry had rounded second in his certainty it was a hit, but Galan grabbed the ball off his laces and threw to Herman, who tagged Terry as he sought to return to first. Jurges thought he was under Leiber's pop fly, but he wasn't, and when it fell to earth the official scorer gave Leiber a two base hit. Hack threw out Koenig.

The Cubs got the bases loaded in the third, but the accomplishment served only to bring their total left on bases to six for three innings. Herman singled with one out, after which Hack flied to Ott. Hartnett came through with his second single, Herman stopping at second. Lindstrom beat out an infield single, filling the bases. Then Leiber came in fast to snatch Klein's fly.

Bartell Walks In.

Bartell walked with one out in the home third and stopped at third when Terry's fly dropped on the foul line for a double. Ott was given an inten-

Louis Ends Boxing; Insists He Will Knock Out Carnera

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 23.—Joe Louis, 1934 Chicago Golden Gloves champion, who opposes Primo Carnera at Yankee stadium Tuesday night, finished his boxing preparation before 1,200 spectators today, then submitted to an avalanche of press questions on how he would fight the huge Italian.

Fighters, when they reach the peak of physical condition, that fine edge beyond which their trainers endeavor to keep them from passing, usually become surly and crabbed. While Louis has shown such signs within the last few days, he stood questioning without visible irritability, explaining in answer to a question that he did not feel nervous or particularly different than before his other bouts.

Still Predicts K. O.

Louis adhered to a previous statement that he expected the contest to end before the sixth round, but that he would not attempt to name which round.

"It will be as quickly as possible," he said; "in the first round if I can do so. I never saw Primo fight, but I saw pictures of his fights. He appears easy to hit, but maybe I won't find it so easy."

"Have you planned your plan of battle and what you will do?"

"Yes, but you can't tell what the other fellow will do. It's a fight, and you just act by instinct in a fight no matter what you've planned."

"Suppose you don't stop him and the bout goes the limit, can you keep your strength that long?"

"I think so. I've gone ten rounds and it's been easy. I feel I can go fifteen, if necessary, all right."

Carries a Luck Charm.

"I'd rather fight free. I don't clinch myself, but try to keep hitting."

"Suppose Carnera clinches and bears his weight down on you to wear you out, as he has done in so many fights?"

"Well, to do that," said Louis, "to get his arms around me he has to open them up. When he does, what's to prevent my sending a left or right to his body?"

To a question whether he had any pet superstitions, Joe replied in the negative, explaining, however, that he always wears a silver ring bought at A Century of Progress before he turned professional. It has the face of a Chinaman on it. This ring Joe considers a talisman. When he's fighting the ring is worn by Jack Blackburn, trainer, acting as second in his corner.

Spar Boys Glad.

Asked whether he ever had been hurt in his twenty-two professional battles, of which eighteen were knockouts, Joe responded: "O, I've been tagged, all right, but never actually hurt enough so that I was confused."

In seventy-five rounds of boxing during his training period he has sent sparmates to their haunches twelve times and scored five knockouts, despite their caution and elusiveness. Unanimously, these colored boys, reduced to three in number today owing to casualties, expressed pleasure that their ordeal was over.

Some excitement was caused when New Jersey highway police reported they had taken into custody at 1 o'clock this morning nine persons, eight men and one woman, in a car bearing a Michigan license. They are said to have admitted they were from Detroit. The car was reported to contain a well equipped arsenal.

Light Work Today.

At once the cry "kidnapers" arose. Louis laughed when told of the incident and said "What would they want with me?" Managers Black and Roxborough also treated the affair lightly. Black said: "I guess they'd bring Joe back in a hurry if they had to feed him."

Some of the skeptical suspected the whole report was a publicity gag, although advance sale of tickets is excellent.

Louis will take only road work and light exercise tomorrow. On Tuesday morning he and his entourage will motor to New York, stopping at a private residence in Harlem to avoid hotel excitement. Weighing in before the state athletic commission is scheduled at 1:30 o'clock, after which the colored boy will return to his quarters until fight time.

Pacetti, Star at Wisconsin, Is Suicide

Madison, Wis., June 23.—[Special.]—Almost on the eve of his leaving to accept an appointment to the United States Military academy at West Point, Mario Pacetti, 21 years old, Kenosha, star guard on the University of Wisconsin football team for three years, committed suicide here this morning.

MARIO PACETTI.

His body was found in a rented car on lonely Eagle Heights. He had run a tube attached to the exhaust pipe of the car into the closed machine and had died of carbon monoxide poisoning. The car was still running when the body was discovered.

Madison Pair Finds Body.

Pacetti was discovered first by Norma Howart and Vivian Garner, both of Madison. He had been dead about four hours.

It was about two weeks ago that Noel Tiffany, former University of Wisconsin student, was found at the same spot under similar conditions.

Pacetti, with Karl Ockershauser, another Wisconsin athlete, was to have entered West Point July 1 under an appointment from Representative Thomas W. Amlie, Elkhorn.

Pacetti had been a mental case for some time at a Madison psychiatric institution, but was released several weeks ago, believed cured. He was depressed and moody.

Other Attempts Reported.

He made many threats of suicide previously and is said to have made at least three attempts on his life, once with sleeping powders, once with rat poison, and another by slashing his wrists.

No note of any sort could be found on the body or in the room where he lived.

Mario came to the University of Wisconsin in the fall of 1931 after a brilliant record at Kenosha High school as a three sport man, starring in football, basketball, and track. He still holds the state high school shot put record with a mark of 51 feet 2 inches.

After becoming eligible for Big Ten competition in the fall of 1932, Pacetti competed in football and track as a sophomore after being dropped from the basketball squad.

Wins Marquette Game.

He won the Marquette game for Wisconsin last fall with a place kick from the 20 yard line with a second left to play, and also kicked place kicks against Minnesota in 1933, which traveled 50 yards, and against Michigan last fall, which helped Wisconsin win, 10 to 0.

Pacetti became depressed when he was not elected captain of the 1934 football team. His condition intensified when he was not named the most valuable player last fall by his teammates and again when he was unsuccessful in a love affair with a Madison girl this year.

GRANT WINS OVER PARKER IN 5 SET MATCH FOR TITLE

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Bryan Grant of Atlanta, Ga., climaxed the successful defense of his national clay court championship by defeating Frank Parker of Milwaukee in the tournament final yesterday at the River Forest Tennis club. The score was 4-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0.

BRYAN GRANT.

Inasmuch as this was Grant's third triumph in the tournament's history, he took permanent possession of the trophy. His previous victories occurred last year and in 1930.

Grant yesterday beat Parker as he has beaten so many of the country's highly rated players—by an almost unbreakable defense combined with nicely timed aggressiveness. No shot of Parker's seemed too hard for Grant to go after. The little fellow from Atlanta ran, dived, and slid from corner to corner and from net to baseline. He jumped for shots apparently far over his head and dug up others that were smashed at his shoetops. He didn't reach them all, but he sent back enough to just about discourage Parker in his attempts at placements.

Parker's Tactics Fail.

Parker, on the other hand, gave the spectators the impression that he was attempting to wear down his opponent and go on to win after he had softened him up sufficiently. He took the first set before Grant hit his stride, but after the Atlanta player had forged ahead in the second set, Parker exerted little effort to overtake him. Saving his energy, he seldom went after a ball that wasn't definitly within his reach.

So Grant breezed through five straight games to take the second set and went on for seven straight and a 2 to 0 lead in the third set before Parker shook off his leisurely manner. When Frank really went to work he hammered his way through the third set with a series of decisive backhand drives and volleys in such competent fashion that he appeared likely to go out and win whenever he was ready to turn on full power.

Grant Wins Another.

The fourth set was a repetition of the second. Grant breezed into an early lead and Parker let him go. The score was 5-0 before Frank won a game. Then he won three in a row without undue effort before dropping the set, 6-3.

Up to this stake many of the spectators believed that Grant was winning most of the points because he was doing nearly all the work. But such was not the case. For even after Parker got down to his most serious business in the final set, the little fellow from Atlanta continued to scamper to victory in game after game.

Bats Back Cinch Shots.

The harder Parker would toil the faster Grant would chase the ball, and it wasn't long before he had a lead of 2-0. In the third game he gave Parker much cause for discouragement. The Milwaukee boy stood near the net poised for a smash that seemed a certain point. But Grant retrieved it and sent it back weakly for what again seemed a certain kill. Once more Parker smashed—right at Grant's feet this time. But the little fellow deflected the ball back across the net and went on to win the point and the game. A few minutes later it was all over.

Gil Hall and Berkeley Bell, stellar eastern doubles team, out fought last year's runners-up, Robert [Lefty] Bryan and John McDiarmid in a five set title battle, 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 9-11, 6-2. The match lasted more than two and one-half hours.

Decide Prize Winners in Golf School Medal Play Tourney

Forty-six star pupils in the golf school conducted jointly by THE TRIBUNE and the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, received their test in competitive golf yesterday when they took part in the 18 hole medal play tournament at the Cog Hill Golf club.

The field consisted of men, women, girls, and boys, representing the pick of the 20,000 who took the course of six free lessons given by the professionals of the Daily Fee association.

Bob Kaye, Cog Hill's entry in the men's division, led the field with a 43—37—80. He was tied at the end of 18 holes by Richard Lahti of Waubonsie who shot 39—41—80, but in the playoff Bob won on the 19th green where he was down in 5. Lahti took a 6. Third place went to Bob Bourret of Evergreen, who shot 43—42—85.

Joliet Girl Wins.

Irene Walsh, another Cog Hill entry, won the women's division with a score of 47—53—100. Miss Walsh, a 21 year old Joliet golfer, is a first year student in THE TRIBUNE school. Mrs. F. F. The entire field in yesterday's tournament will compete in the form contest at Mid City Friday, at which time all prizes for the school will be awarded.

Eight professional stars will judge the form contest. They are Horton Smith, Oak Park; Tommy Armour, Medinah; Harry Cooper, Glen Oaks; Frank Walsh, Bryn Mawr; Dick Metz of the Lasker course; Denny Shute, Westward Ho; Ky Laffoon, North-

Pitts Knocks 2 Singles in Albany Debut

Albany, N. Y., June 23.—Edwin Collins [Alabama] Pitts, alumnus of Sing Sing prison, covered himself with a reasonable amount of glory in his delayed debut in organized baseball as center fielder of the Albany Senators at Hawkins stadium here this afternoon, despite the fact his club lost both ends of an International league double-header to the Syracuse Chiefs.

Loudly acclaimed by a crowd of some 8,000—there would have been twice that number but for bad weather, a cloudburst interrupting the first game in its opening inning—the erstwhile baseball, football, and track ace of Sing Sing did himself particularly proud in the first contest, which the Senators lost by an 8 to 6 score.

Knocks Two Singles.

In five trips to the plate he five times hit the ball hard, two drives going for clean singles. One drove in a run and he scored another run himself. It was afield, however, that Pitts did his sharpest work. In the two games he accepted seven fielding chances cleanly, gathering in five fly balls and earning two assists by throws to the infield nailing Chief runners taking chances with his not too strong throwing arm.

Two of his four putouts in the first encounter were truly brilliant, his catches being made after long runs angling back. One was into deep left center, where he made the grab just before crashing into the fence, and the other was in deepest right field, where he covered up the slow footed Hack Wilson on a drive that was ticketed for extra bases.

Rhem Stops Him.

In the second game Pitts could do nothing with the offerings of Flint Rhem, ex-Cardinal fast ball pitcher, but his teammates could do little better and Syracuse led, 3 to 2, when the curfew law closed in on the scene after seven innings. In this contest Alabama caught a long fly ball for his only defensive chance.

Alabama was obviously the chief attraction for the 7,752 who had paid their way through the turnstiles by second game time. Only about two-thirds of these were on hand when he stepped to the plate in the first game, but the crowd stood and roared its approval of Commissioner K. M. Landis' decision and Pitts' admission to organized baseball.

Wins Evers' O. K.

Pitts plainly put his all into the games and his calmness afield and at bat were viewed as auguring well for him in his effort to make good in class AA diamond sport. He seemed a little uncertain on the bases and his throwing arm did not appear any too good, but his general performance pleased Johnny Evers, Albany business manager, and Al Mamaux, manager.

Women's Western Open Golf Meet Will Start Today

The Chicago district's most important women's golf event of the 1935 season—the sixth annual open tournament of the Women's Western Golf association—will begin today with an 18 hole qualifying round at the Sunset Ridge Country club in Winnetka.

The field which will compete in the tournament includes not only all of the stars of the previous events but several young newcomers and America's two business woman golfers, Helen Hicks and Mildred [Babe] Didrikson. Miss Hicks was national champion in 1931 and runner-up in 1933. The open is the only event of its kind in the game in which either could compete.

The 32 low scorers in today's 18 holes of medal play will qualify for the match play brackets in the championship flight. Matches will continue at 18 holes until Saturday, when the 36 hole title match will be held. The remainder of the field will be taken care of in other flights, with consolation brackets for each.

Leading the field off the first tee this morning at 9 o'clock will be Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City star, and Mrs. June Beebe Atwood of Olympia Fields, winner of the championships of 1931 and 1933. The remainder of the entry will follow at five minute intervals.

COOPER CARDS 289 TO WIN IN MEDINAH OPEN

Revolta Second; Misses Birdie for Tie.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Harry Cooper, the talented Glen Oak professional, whose fairway shots might as well be attached to a trolley wire, so correctly are they smacked on most days, yesterday won the first annual $3,500 open golf tournament of the Medinah Country club with a 72 hole score of 289, five over par for the three day journey over the big west side club's championship No. 3 course.

HARRY COOPER.

Motorman Cooper was on time all through yesterday's 36 holes, being clocked in 72, one over par, for each of the final two trips. His first 72 gave him a total of 217 for 54 holes and a two stroke advantage on the 60 professionals and amateurs who had qualified for the finishing 36 holes of the run.

Revolta Misses by Stroke.

That 289 of Harry's wasn't posted on the scoreboard for long before another one of the game's steadiest workmen—Johnny Revolta, Milwaukee's western open champion—came up to the 18th fairway needing a three to tie Cooper for the title. There were those who remembered Revolta's 65 in the St. Paul open last year, when he tied Cooper and Ky Laffoon, and when he reached the green, twelve feet from the pin, after a drive and a No. 8 iron, it looked as though he would send the tournament into extra innings. That putt for the birdie three refused to drop, however, and the curly haired Milwaukeean, who had led the field for the first two rounds, had to be content with a 71 for a 290 and second place.

Cooper had more to contend with on the final round than the knowledge that Revolta was hot at his heels, for he had been paired with two able young men who showed that they were as bent as he was on winning the title, and battled him shot for shot most of the way. One was Alvin [Butch] Krueger, the Beloit baseball pitcher who was the hero of the first round of the recent National Open. Butch, tied for second place at the end of 54 holes, duplicated his morning 73 for third place at 292, finishing it off with a 15 foot putt for a birdie on the 18th green. Third member of the Cooper threesome was Denny Shute of Westward Ho, who came through with a final 71 to tie Jimmy Foulis of Ruth Lake for fourth position with a 295.

Laffoon, Thomson Have 297.

Back of these, with 297's, were Laffoon and Jimmy Thomson of Long Beach, Cal., and a trio of 298 shooters, including Tommy Armour of Medinah, Horton Smith of Oak Park, and Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr.

Shute and Revolta shared the fourth round $50 offered for the low score on each 18, while Willie Goggin of San Francisco took the premium for the third round with a morning score of 70, the best of the day.

The victory of Cooper, who will begin defense of his Illinois Open title at Rockford this afternoon, brought him $750, while Revolta collected $475 for second place, and Krueger took home $375 for third.

Cooper—Out	433	564	634—38
Cooper—In	534	434	434—34—72—289
Revolta out	444	644	534—38
Revolta in	643	333	434—33—71—290
Krueger out	424	555	634—38
Krueger in	444	535	433—35—73—292
Shute out	434	454	533—35
Shute in	444	534	444—36—71—295

Cooper holed a twelve foot putt to knock a stroke off par on the third hole of his afternoon round. He missed a short putt on the fourth, was trapped at the fifth, and three putted the seventh. A seven footer produced another birdie at the 11th, and he was inches short of the cup in an attempt for a deuce on the 17th.

Sinks 50 Foot Putt.

LYONS VICTOR, 4-2; WHITEHEAD IS BEATEN, 8-2

Welch Yields Only Six Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox yesterday made good use of the noted Wesley Ferrell in the first game of a double-header before a turnout of 30,000. They clipped the temperamental southerner with enough base hits to defeat him and his Boston mates, 4 to 2. But happenings in the second game were less pleasing. Boston returned the compliment in the shape of an 8 to 2 beating for John Henderson Whitehead, marking the fifth straight setback for the Texas league graduate.

No time was lost in getting the skilled W. Ferrell against the ropes and keeping him there. With Zeke Bonura, Luke Appling, Manager Jimmy Dykes, and Rip Radcliff carrying the load, they staggered the Boston ace with three runs in the second inning. They added one more in the third. Then it became a matter of protecting the lead, and this was managed mainly because of sensational support behind Ted Lyons, who went the route for his eighth triumph of the season.

Jimmy Wasn't Johnny.

Whitehead, who started the second game after a two day rest, was a long way from being the Whitehead who achieved eight consecutive victories. Six innings was sufficient to prove he was in the wrong spot. That was long enough for Boston to collect five runs, two of which might have been avoided if the infield hadn't wabbled. Subsequent damage was at the expense of Whit Wyatt. He was shaken for three runs in the ninth after the bespectacled Johnny Salveson had served perfectly for two innings.

Runs by the Chicagoans were scarce in the second game because of the mystifying pitching of Johnny Welch, the elongated ex-Cub. He was good enough to yield only two hits in seven innings, one a fluke because he himself neglected to cover first on Haas' grounder to Dahlgren. In the last two innings he wasn't quite so tough, and the home troops picked up a couple of runs on two pairs of hits.

Haas, Appling Help Lyons.

Chief helpers in the bagging of victory No. 8 for Lyons were Mule Haas and Appling. The latter, despite an error, was an outstanding performer in eleven plays, and this explains partly why the Red Sox could score only twice despite eleven hits in the last five innings. But Haas bunched all his spectacular performing into one play. He came tearing in in the eighth inning, reached down with his glove hand, somersaulted a few times, but kept his grip on a short fly by Rick Ferrell. It cut off one run and possibly more.

FIRST GAME

The gay reception, for which the pitching end of the Ferrell family footed the bill to the extent of three runs in the second inning of the first game, began with Bonura doubling to deep center. He went to third on Simmons' infield out, and scored on Appling's single to center. Dykes lingered long enough to work the count to 3 and 2 and then doubled past third, Appling scoring. Grube walked and Lyons fouled out. Then Radcliff singled to right on the first pitch, Dykes scoring. The fun was halted on Hayes' fly to Johnson.

The Chicago boys put on another big reception for Ferrell in the third, but he managed to restrict the damage to one run. Haas inaugurated this bit of amusement by singling to center, but Bonura forced him. W. Ferrell ducked his head just in time to dodge a terrific line single off Simmons' bat. Dahlgren made a beautiful glove hand stop of a high powered bounder by Appling, but couldn't hang onto the ball, so it went as a hit and Bonura scored. A pass to Dykes filled the bases, then Grube fanned and Lyons flied to Johnson.

Ninth Inning Scare.

To score their first run in the seventh inning the Red Sox used three hits before anybody was retired. Werber started it with a single to left. Dahlgren beat out a slow roller to short. W. Ferrell singled to left and Werber scored. Williams then fouled to Grube and both Almada and Johnson rolled into force outs at second. There'd have been another run in the eighth if it hadn't been for that one handed, somersault catch by Haas on Cronin's short fly after Reynolds had doubled.

Three hits off Lyons in the ninth caused a lot of uneasiness. W. Ferrell was responsible for this belated effort. He singled to left with one out. Williams looped a single into short right. Almada singled in that direction to score W. Ferrell and put Williams on third. The latter made no attempt to break for the plate on Johnson's fly to Haas. Then Haas nonchalantly backed up a few steps and took in Cronin's fly to end the struggle.

SECOND GAME

Whitehead was in various difficulties in the first two innings of the second game, so when two runs were scored against him in the third it didn't cause much of a shock. He started this himself by walking Johnson after Dykes had tossed out Almada. Cronin sent Haas in pursuit of a double, Johnson stopping at third. With the infield

SURPRISE HORSES CELEBRATE WITH SUGAR, CARROTS

Black Helen, Count Arthur Forgive Owners.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Even though their owners at one time had sadly misjudged their abilities, Black Helen and Count Arthur, which Saturday furnished all the fireworks in the 27th American Derby, were willing to forgive Col. Edward R. Bradley and Mrs. John Hertz if they promised never to do it again.

This the owners readily did, and they accompanied their promises with apologies in the shape of generous showers of sugar and juicy carrots.

Col. Bradley had thought at one time—that was a little more than a year ago—that Black Helen was too tiny ever to amount to anything. So he relegated her to his scrub team and said to Trainer Hurley, "Take her, Bill, and see if you can win a few overnight races with her."

Now for the Classic!

Bill took her, all right, won seven overnight races in a row with her, has already watched her capture the 3 year old filly title this year, and has her in the spot right now where she can carry away the 3 year old championship if she can only show her flying heels to Omaha in Arlington Park's Classic next month. In the meantime, frail little Black Helen has put $54,500 in the Bradley turf treasure chest.

Mrs. Hertz, on her part, could hardly be blamed for losing confidence in Count Arthur. When he failed to win a race as a 2 year old she put her faith in Our Reigh to bring her whatever success she was to enjoy in the 3 year old events this year.

Then all of a sudden at Jamaica on April 27 Count Arthur decided he wanted to find out what the "winner's circle" looked like, so he won a race. He must have liked the place, for he went on and cantured four races before his streak was broken. It wasn't broken that time by a 3 year old, for he went against older horses in the Great Western handicap, and was beaten by the 4 year old Top Row.

Count Gets Better.

Then came the Derby Prospect purse, in which Bloodroot, another Bradley filly, beat Count Arthur by a short head, with Black Helen, the American Derby winner, in third place.

That race won Count Arthur a place in the American Derby parade, and he was wearing Black Helen down so rapidly in the final strides of the race that hardly any one is willing to guess what will happen when they come together again, which probably will be in a warm-up event for the Classic.

The fine performances turned in by Black Helen, Count Arthur, and also Tearout in the American Derby, Omaha's failure in the Brooklyn handicap, when he went against older horses for the first time, and Roman Soldier's fadeout in the American Derby has tossed the 3 year old situation into a turmoil and once again the Arlington Classic looms up as the race which will definitly decide 3 year old honors.

It was in the Classic that such champions as Blue Larkspur, Gallant Fox, Mate, and Cavalcade demonstrated their right to rule the 3 year olds of their year.

75 Begin Play in State Open at Rockford

Rockford, Ill., June 23.—[Special.]—Led by Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, and Tommy Armour of Medinah, 75 professional and amateur golfers will begin play tomorrow at the Rockford Country club in the fifth annual Illinois open. Eighteen holes are scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and 18 on Tuesday morning.

Cooper and Armour have tied for the title the last two years and Cooper has won each playoff. Cooper will face the finest field in the history of the tourney. Aside from the anticipated personal battle with Armour, Cooper's opposition will include Denny Schute, of Westward-Ho, who finished four strokes behind Sammy Parks in the National Open at Oakmont; Horton Smith, of Oak Park, and Dick Metz of the Mill Road Farm course.

When the pros finish the open the state amateur tourney will start. Larry Moller of Quincy, will defend the championship he won last year at Springfield from Cliff McKelvey of Decatur.

The amateurs will precede their tourney with best ball matches against the professionals Tuesday afternoon.

THUGS BEAT UP TURF TRAINER AT WASHINGTON PARK

Edward Haughton, 41 year old race horse trainer, was beaten over the head yesterday morning by two men who accosted him in his stables at the Washington Park track. The assailants, who wielded black jacks, fled after the assault. Haughton was taken to the St. James hospital at Chicago Heights, where he was treated for scalp lacerations.

Haughton, who trains a string of horses owned by his wife, told the Homewood county highway officials he did not recognize the men, and knew no reason for the assault. The trainer, who in past years has been active in claiming horses, said he did not believe his claiming activities were the motive for assault.

Jack Shea, foreman at the stables, who witnessed the slugging, gave the police a description of the men. He said that about 10 a. m. he and the trainer were sitting on a box just outside the stables when the two men approached Haughton from the rear. He told the police that before he could summon assistance the men fled, driving south in Halsted street in a small automobiles. He described them as being Italians.

3 Arenas Hold Mat, Boxing Shows Tonight

Wrestling shows will be presented at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, and White City Casino, 63d street and South Park avenue, and a boxing program is scheduled at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

George Zaharias and Fred Grobmier will meet in a heavyweight bout set for one fall with a 90 minute time limit in the feature bout at Mills. The match was postponed from last week because of inclement weather. The windup contest at Marigold will bring together Bus Breese, the Manhattan lightweight, and Johnny Stanton, Minneapolis, at ten rounds. Frank Hart and Clarence Smith, light heavyweight wrestlers, will head the show at White City in a one fall encounter with a 60 minute time limit.

Zaharias strengthened his chances for victory over Grobmier when he threw Olaf Oleson in less than 20 minutes Thursday. On the other hand, Grobmier looked far from impressive while being held to a draw by Roland Kirchmier on the same card. Oleson will clash with Paul Harper, and Kirchmier is paired with Jim McMillen in supporting matches on tonight's program. Other bouts will bring together Chris Zaharias and Abe Coleman, and Orville Brown and Tommy Marvin.

Four other fights and a wrestling exhibition will comprise preliminary bouts to the Stanton-Breese affair. Milt Aron, Dubuque, Ia., will oppose Scotty McLean, Chicago, in six rounds at 142 pounds. Four round engagements match Al Van den Bosch, Chicago, with Syl Saleska, Milwaukee, Wis., at 158; Sammy Julian, Cleveland, with Sailor Born, Chicago, at 135, and Jackie Sherman, Detroit, with Frank Keevil, Chicago, at 150. Pete Bartu will wrestle Buck O'Neil.

The semi-final attraction at White City will involve Zack Malkov, Rogers Park, and Al Williams, Fox Lake. Cleve Welch will clash with Gerard Lauth and Rudy Kay is matched with George Jonasen.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

THE BARRACKS.

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 23.—[Special.]—Friend Arch: Well, Arch, in advance of the presentation of my expense account, I thought I better tell you that I am stopping at a Pompton Lakes hotel instead of the barracks at Louis' training camp as I did last year, when Carnera was here, and why.

Of course, you may not be pleased with this expense, but I'm very conscientious in such matters and inquired the price and inspected the room before I took it. It was not as large as THE TRIBUNE local room and it did not have running water, but it was clean and looked out on the main stem from its one window; so I asked the landlady, "How much?"

She hestitated a few seconds, then replied, "Well, as long as you're only going to be here three nights, I'm afraid I'll have to charge you $1 a night, but I could give you a better rate by the week." So I told her I thought you would stand for that and the deal was closed. Then she said, "There's another newspaper man here, too."

Then I thought of last year and inquired, "Does he drink?" "Indeed he does not," she replied haughtily. "This is a respectable place and I do not stand for that. Last year we had a fellow stop here and one night he came home and I detected the smell of liquor on his breath, so I called the town constable—that's what we taxpayers pay him for—and had the fellow put right out."

So, you see, Arch, I'm under eminently conservative chaperonage.

But I'm digressing, Arch, on why I didn't take a room in the barracks, which was what I started out to explain. The barracks are the sleeping cells in the same building as the gymnasium in which is pitched the indoor ring for use in rainy weather. The barracks are divided into two sections. My room where I tried to sleep last year and didn't was in "Rum row." That was the newspaper aile. The other was "Punch Drunk alley," which was where the sparring partners slept.

These names were attached by the scion of a family whose fortune was acquired in a proprietary medicine. He was a patient at Dr. Bier's health farm as an alcoholic, a most interesting chap, extremely frank concerning his weakness. He had run the gamut of life from college quarter back, equestrian polo player, world war flyer, to a member of the French Foreign Legion. Occasionally Sam wandered a few steps from his water wagon treatment. On such occasions he always was a gentleman, as befitted his breeding, but he liked to stay up and talk.

In Rum row, however, was another fellow, a victim of demon rum. He had a habit of keeping us awake through his hallucinations during his sleep. One night he inhaled more applejack than his system needed, reached that weepy, remorseful stage where he thought no one liked him any more, and finally became so annoying that he was put to bed; locked in his room for safekeeping.

Some time during the night the pink monkeys perching on his bed's footboard and the purple giraffes peering through his windows awakened him. After he had chased them away he discovered he was locked in. "You can't do this to me," he shouted, "where's the key?" The chap who had locked him in couldn't find the key and there was hell to pay, as he became more and more indignant.

Doors of our sleeping cells had two glass panels.

Finally he who had chased away the pink monkeys and purple giraffes seized a chair, smashed out the panels, and, at the risk of cutting himself on the jagged glass, tore out into the rainy night, shrieking:

"I've fooled you so and sos."

He went to a hotel downtown and was put out. The next we heard of him he was in a New York hospital under treatment as accorded chaps who see pink monkeys and purple giraffes in their sleep. That fellow's sleeping cell was next to mine, so my rest was not only broken, it was destroyed.

Probably things are different this year, but I thought you'd want me to get lots of sleep because you said you didn't care so much about routine stuff but would like lots of human interest and local color. Let me assure you, Arch, there is no lack of local color here.

So I hope you'll not mind that buck a day that I have to pay for my room, and the two bits taxi fare each way from hotel to camp. I'd walk to save the two bits but it's been pretty consistently rainy and besides my dogs are fretting considerably, what with having to stand so much of the time because of crowds at the training camp. But otherwise I'm being very careful with my expenses. Hoping you are the same. Regards.

HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

SENATORS, 12; TIGERS, 7.

Detroit, Mich., June 23.—(AP)—Wildness of three Detroit pitchers was a major factor in the Tigers' defeat by Washington today in the third game of their series, 12 to 7.

Greenberg, Tiger first baseman, who is leading the league in home runs, pounded out his 19th of the season with the bases full in the ninth.

Sox Defeat Boston, 4-2; Then Lose, 8-2

drawn in, Reynolds punched a hit past Hayes to score the two runners. R. Ferrell flied to Simmons and this incident was concluded when Reynolds was nipped in an attempted steal.

The scoring of three runs off Whitehead in the fifth began with Williams' looping single into short right. He was forced by Almada, who continued to second when Appling threw wild in trying for a double play. Johnson walked. Cronin grounded to Hayes and a double play was in prospect until the latter let the ball ship through his hands. Almada scored on the error. Reynolds singled to center, Johnson scoring and Cronin moving to third. After R. Ferrell had been purposely passed, Cronin scored on an infield out.

Sox Start Too Late.

After being limited to two hits for seven innings, the White Sox finally came up with a run in the eighth, but in this enterprise they enjoyed the aid of an error. Appling singled with one out, Dykes survived on a fumble by Werber, and the former scored on a hit by Washington, who batted for Salveson.

Wyatt's troubles in the ninth opened with a single by Johnson. After two were out he scored on a hit by R. Ferrell. Werber followed with a double. The bases were filled on an intentional pass to Dahlgren, but this piece of strategy failed because Welch also walked, R. Ferrell scoring. Williams was hit in the ribs by a pitched ball, forcing in Werber. Simmons halted the uprising by spearing Almada's liner.

The White Sox picked up a useless run in their half on a double by Haas, who went to third without attracting attention and home on an infield out.

Raymond Babe Phelps, the portly Alabaman, who was a howling success in his only two other starts, will handle the White Sox pitching today in the final game of the series with the Red Sox. Bob Grove will start for the visitors and it will be the southsiders' first glimpse of him this season.

Because they did double duty yesterday, the Sox will enjoy an off-day tomorrow. On Wednesday they open a two game series with the Tigers.

tional pass, filling the bases. Leiber walked after a three and two count, forcing Bartell across the plate. Koenig lined to Galan, Terry scoring after the catch. Jackson fouled to Hartnett.

The Giants added their fifth run after two were out in the fourth. Moore doubled to left center and scored on Bartell's single to right. Herman threw out Terry.

In the fifth Ott walked on five pitches and went to third on Leiber's single over second. Koenig singled to right, scoring Ott, and when Klein juggled the ball Leiber went to third. Warneke had enough and Bryant went in. Herman had a play at the plate until he juggled Jackson's grounder. Bill recovered in time to throw out Jackson, Leiber scoring. Mancuso singled to left, scoring Koenig, but was forced by Fitzsimmons. Moore popped to Jurges.

More Shadow Boxing.

Cavarretta and Galan singled in the ninth for tenth and eleventh Chicago hits. This brought the total number of Cub runners left on bases to eleven, there having been no walks off Fitzsimmons and no double plays by the Giants.

FOREIGN CONSULS OPEN PLUMBERS' EXPOSITION HERE

Convention Starts Today; Other Groups Meet.

The National Association of Master Plumbers, largest of three national organizations that will attract 10,000 visitors to Chicago this week, held a reception in the Stevens hotel last night for consular representatives stationed here as an event preliminary to the opening of the four day convention today.

To the assembled consuls went the honor of opening the exhibition of modern plumbing that features the convention.

Evidences of increased activity in the plumbing industry were present as representatives of this basic building organization convened.

Factories Will Reopen.

Typical of the optimistic trade indices was the announcement of Charles Nash, advertising manager of the American Radiator Standard Sanitary corporation, that factories of that concern in Pittsburgh and Baltimore will be reopened shortly after having been closed three years.

The $2,000,000 plumbing exhibit, principal attraction of the convention, included a range of products from massive watering troughs for horses to the newest in two tone enamel, streamlined bath fixtures.

Of interest to the industry and the housewife was the exhibit of the Briggs Manufacturing Company of Detroit, builders of automobile bodies. This company has introduced into the plumbing field the technique of automobody construction, building lightweight, two toned fixtures, including enameled walls.

Kitchen of the Future.

In the company's "kitchen of the future" exhibit was shown for the first time the "dream stove" of John Tjaarda, chief designer for J. A. Callahan, head of the concern's plumbing division. A five plate circular range of lightweight two toned enamel, the stove of the future includes a toaster, sandwich grill, and towel dryer. Indirect lighting, enameled walls, air conditioning, built-in electric clock, refrigerator, utility tray table, dishwasher, and built-in enameled cupboards are among the conveniences of the kitchen.

Registration of delegates in the annual convention of the American Home Economics association began in the Palmer house with 2,000 persons expected to attend sessions which will continue through Friday. A like number is expected to attend the four day session of the National Inventors' congress which opens today in the Sherman hotel.

New Photos Show Size of "Beggar."

Cambridge, Mass., June 23.—[Special.]—A "celestial nobody," a tiny speck in the heavens hitherto identified only by a number, has been revealed as the third ranking member among the spiral nebulæ in the cosmic royal family of island universes, it was reported here today by Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard university observatory.

The "celestial Haroun-Al-Rashid" is one of the nearest of all island universes, Dr. Shapley said, with the probability that it is less than a million light years from the earth. It therefore is a member of the "local supergalaxy," which includes our own Milky Way system, the Clouds of Magellan, the great Andromeda nebula, the gigantic spiral nebula known as Messier 33, and a few others in the earth's own "back yard."

Found 40 Years Ago.

The Arabian Nights' tale in the sky begins forty years ago. At that time a faint nebular nucleus, visually of the twelfth magnitude, first was noted by W. F. Denning, English amateur observer of shooting stars and comets, in the northern constellation Camelopardalis.

Denning's nebulous nucleus was reported to Dr. Dreyer, the compiler of catalogues of the clusters and nebulæ all over the sky. The "beggar" was assigned the number 342 in the second index catalogue, and thus became known as I. C. 342.

Astronomers at Mount Wilson observatory, studying the faint nucleus through the 100-inch telescope, measured the radial velocity of the nucleus and were puzzled to find that this particular system was not running away with the customary velocity that is found for almost all external galaxies. This gave the first indication that it is much nearer the earth than it had been thought to be.

Spiral Larger than Moon.

"A three-hour exposure made recently shows that the total diameter of I. C. 342, when the faintest extensions of this far-flung spiral arm are considered, is more than forty minutes of arc," said Dr. Shapley.

"In angular dimensions, therefore, the spiral is larger than the moon at full. It is the third largest spiral nebula now known, the first two places going to the great Andromeda nebula and to the long known open spiral Messier 33. The real linear diameter is probably more than 10,000 light years."

MILLION ASKED FOR U. S. DRIVE ON BOOTLEGGING

Check in 80 Cities Is Federal Plan.

Washington, D. C., June 23.—(AP)—A nation-wide check of retail liquor dealers in a drive against repeal bootlegging was proposed by the treasury today in a request for $1,086,941 of work relief money.

If the cash is allotted, the treasury said its alcohol tax unit would investigate the liquor trade in four-score cities with populations of 100,000 or more, including the national capital. It added:

"A test program of making a house-to-house canvass, in certain collection districts, has furnished evidence that certain dealers are being used as outlets for the untaxpaid products of bootleggers, and that the illicit operations of the post-prohibition period, due to the activities of organized bootleggers, are totally different from those encountered by collectors of internal revenue prior to prohibition."

Rebel Against Roosevelt.

Word was said to be waiting for President Roosevelt today that whether he "likes it or not," a house ways and means subcommittee is insistent upon permitting the sale of liquor in kegs and barrels as well as in bottles.

The differences with the administration were caused by attempts to draft a bill replacing the federal alcohol control administration, doomed to death with the Supreme court ruling on NRA.

Under treasury regulations, sale of liquor in anything but bottles was barred. Secretary Morgenthau and Joseph H. Choate Jr., chairman of the old FACA, sought to let those regulations stay in effect as well as to create a new, independent agency known as the "federal alcohol control commission."

Democrats on the house ways and means committee demurred. They rewrote the proposed bill to permit barrel sales and put alcohol control under the treasury.

"Army Needed": Morgenthau.

Then Secretary Morgenthau — who had an opportunity but did not appear before the committee during its hearings on the new bill—told newsmen that it would take an "army" to enforce liquor laws if barrel sales were permitted.

He added that the President agreed with him. And he said, too, that alcohol control ought to be under a separate agency.

Committeemen were obviously irritated at Morgenthau's press conference discussion. So the subcommittee resumed work on the bill in secret session.

First, it approved the ban against treasury regulations forbidding liquor sales in kegs and barrels. Then it voted to put the control agency under the treasury. And next, as one committeeman—who asked that his name be withheld—put it:

"We had Choate in and told him what we had done. And we told him to tell the President that whether he likes it or not, we're going to insist that they permit liquor to be sold in barrels."

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

There are indications that Jack Benny's reign as the radio favorite of the last two seasons may be nearing an end. Benny's own popularity is not waning, but he is probably being surpassed these days by Fred Allen. Allen has showed a steady climb in popularity throughout the last year until this last week he achieved the top rating in that private survey, made each month, which commercial radio regards as a reasonably accurate barometer. It is likely that the fact that Gracie Allen's broadcasts have been switched to a later hour has been of advantage to Fred Allen. They formerly were heard at the same time.

And now that he has reached this peak in popularity Allen is packing up for a vacation. Next Wednesday's broadcast will be his last for 13 weeks. [Benny goes off the air two weeks later for the summer]. Allen will go to Hollywood to appear in the picture, "Sing, Governor, Sing," and will thereupon take a vacation. Jim Harkins, Town Hall amateur show casting director, will carry on for Allen during the summer in a specially created rôle, "the mayor of Bedlamville." Jack Smart of the Allen Art group will be Harkins' head assistant. Lanny Ross will take over the Benny hour during his vacation beginning July 21. Lanny is also to play the lead in a current Broadway success, "Petticoat Fever," beginning tonight. A road company will open an engagement at White Plains, N. Y., this evening.

The public concerts in the Grant park bandshell, featuring the Chicago Symphony orchestra, the Chicago Woman's Symphony orchestra, and other leading musical organizations of the city, starting Monday, July 1, and continuing until Labor day, are to be broadcast. The first nine performances, sponsored by NBC and the Chicago Federation of Musicians, will be broadcast by NBC. Thereupon CBS will take over the broadcasts for a similar period. W-G-N will come in later in the season.

Phil Baker, Bottle, Beetle, and the rest of his radio crew will play at the Chicago theater the week of July 5. Guy Robertson, star of "The Great Waltz" and well known to radio listeners, will be there for the same period. Following week the CBS Hour of Charm cast, including Phil Spitalny and his all girl orchestra and glee club, will be the stage attraction.

Blue Steele, who recently concluded an engagement at the Trianon ballroom with his music carried by W-G-N, and Peggy Moore were married the other day. . . . Nat Vincent and Freddy Howard, singing duo known to west coast radio listeners as the "Happy Chappies," will be guests on the Midnight Flyers' program over W-G-N tonight. . . . Vivien della Chiesa, young soprano, and Billy Mills' orchestra will begin a new Sunday evening series over WBBM-CBS Sunday evening, 6 to 6:30 o'clock, July 7.

Ted Flo-Rito and his circus of Edgewater Beach entertainers are to launch a new half-hour Sunday evening sustaining series over CBS from 6:30 to 7 o'clock on July 7. Titled "Summer Serenade," the program will feature the Three Debutantes, Johnny Candido, Muzzy Marcelino, the Fiorettes, in addition to the orchestra.

MARY A. SPENCE DIES; LOST HOME IN FIRE OF 1871

Miss Mary A. Spence, pioneer resident of Chicago and survivor of the Chicago fire of 1871, died yesterday in the Augustana hospital at the age of 97. Since losing her eyesight eight years ago, Miss Spence had made her home at the hospital.

She was born in Leeds, England, Dec. 21, 1837. In 1858, her father, John Spence, took his family to Fort Howard, Wis., now Green Bay, where officials of the Northwest territory, of which it was a part, were offering land as an inducement to immigrants.

Miss Spence taught school at Washington Harbor, Wis., and in 1866 moved to Chicago, living at what would be Ontario street and Michigan avenue. The fire burned her home and Miss Spence lost all her belongings when a trunk in which she placed them at the edge of Lake Michigan floated away.

Miss Spence was a member of St. James Cathedral at Ontario and Cass, and with the $50 the parish gave each member made destitute by the fire, she succeeded in rehabilitating herself. She later purchased a lot on farm lands at Garfield and Hudson avenues, where she lived until 1925.

Miss Spence was the only survivor of her family. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Church of Our Saviour, 523 Fullerton parkway.

Mr. Fernbach was one of the founders of the Illinois Masonic hospital and was active in Masonic work. He was also a member of the Hamilton club and Temple Sholem.

Surviving are his widow, Rose, and three daughters, Mrs. Ruth Malver of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. Helen Sugarman, and Mrs. Grace Ettelson. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Scottish Rites cathedral, 935 North Dearborn street, with cremation at Graceland cemetery.

PEORIA AREA BUYERS VISIT FIELD CARAVAN

'Store on Wheels' in First Stop.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., June 23 [Aboard Merchandise Express.]—How an old idea can be profitably readapted to conditions of the present day was convincingly demonstrated here today by the reception given by merchants of this city and surrounding towns to the Marshall Field & Co. wholesale merchandise caravan—an eleven car train—at its first stop on a 3,000 mile tour of the Mississippi valley. Chicago's central wholesale market, or a comprehensive cross section of it, was literally brought to the door of the merchants of the Peoria territory and they liked it.

To the backers of the enterprising venture it gave every promise today of accomplishing its purpose—that of demonstrating to merchants that the Chicago market is the logical merchandise source.

From a radius of 100 miles of here merchants and buyers came to look over the six car merchandise display. Of the eleven cars in the specially designed, air conditioned train, six are given over entirely to displays. Other cars include sleepers, diner, office car, and a generating unit to provide power for lights and the air conditioning equipment.

Sales Staf of 25.

A sales staf of 25 persons was on hand to show merchandise and take orders in the same manner that a buyer is accustomed to in a wholesale house in Chicago. Each merchandise car represents, on a limited scale, a departmental branch of the big wholesale establishment. The lines displayed, each in its own car, are small wares and gifts, toys and household utilities, home furnishings, apparel and lingerie, fabrics, and accessories.

D. J. O'Grady, promotion manager of the company's wholesale division, pointed out that the careful selection of articles displayed makes it possible to furnish a view of representative lines from all branches of the store.

Orders taken by the sales force were relayed today from merchants to the office car. The teletype machine that was connected as soon as the train was spotted on the siding at the union depot made possible immediate transmission of orders to the central office in Chicago; quick deliveries were thus assured. The office car is also equipped with telephone service, furnishing ready contact between the train and merchants in the territory.

First Merchant on Train.

The first merchant to board the train today was Bertram Susdorf, proprietor of the Susdorf & Co. store in Rantoul, Ill., who motored 80 miles to inspect and place orders for new merchandise. Buyers from Farmer City, 65 miles distant from here; Leroy, 60 miles; Champaign, 97 miles, and Canton, 30 miles, were on hand, along with Peoria merchants, to look over the exhibits. Admission to the train was strictly limited to merchants and buyers. At none of the twenty-two cities in the itinerary will the public be allowed to inspect the train.

Today's attendance was in the neighborhood of 125. More than seventy-five different orders were placed for a variety of merchandise.

The merchandise is so arranged as to give the greatest possible display area. Seats were removed from the Baltimore and Ohio sleeping cars which make up the train. Racks and display shelves and counters were installed. The conventual railroad car lighting fixtures were supplemented by indirect lighting. The interiors were entirely redecorated to blend with the various lines of merchandise.

New Style of Selling.

There was no doubt as to the approval which the traveling store met here. If buyers approached in an attitude of somewhat tentative curiosity they left with the feeling that a new style of merchandising has been ushered in. The orders received reflected the attitude of the visitors.

Instead of making the buyer believe that the expedition eliminates the necessity of a trip to the Chicago market it is more likely, in the opinion of its backers, to bring buyers in. In effect it is an attempt to dramatize the attractions of Chicago to the out of town merchant, according to President John McKinlay of Marshall Field & Co.

The store will remain here another day, departing tomorrow evening for Springfield, Ill., where it will be on exhibit Tuesday, after which it will proceed to St. Louis; from St. Louis it will go to Paducah, Ky., eventually visiting twenty-two cities in the middle west and south, including Atlanta, Ga., and New Orleans, and will be back in Chicago about July 26, according to the present schedule.

Milwaukee Plans to Spend $15,000,000 in Its Road

Spokane, Wash., June 23.—(AP)—The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railway will spend $15,000,000 this year on maintenance of way, the largest amount in three years, J. T. Gillick of Chicago, operating vice president, said today. Crop prospects along the line appear better now than for several years, Gillick said. He said the lumber movement was increasing in the face of the Pacific northwest strike and that copper shipments in Montana were improving.

N.Y. Central to Put De Luxe Coaches in Service Today

The New York Central, Big Four, and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads will place in service today the first consignment of a de luxe type of air conditioned passenger coach. They will be used on trains operated between New York, Buffalo, Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Chicago. Each car will seat 64 persons. Decoration will be in aluminum, straw yellow, and several tones of brown.

See Economic Distribution of Wheat Output

The wheat map of the world will show some important changes during the coming season. What the changes will be is as yet a speculative matter, but some observers believe they detect a trend toward a more economic distribution of world wheat production. This year may mark, in their opinion, the dawning of a saner attitude on the part of governments and producers themselves toward the wheat problem.

If these hopes are realized it will not be the result of international conferences, the futility of which has been fairly well demonstrated, but because nations, like individuals, may learn the penalties which follow flagrant violation of sound economic principles.

Outlook Not Reassuring.

The picture is by no means entirely reassuring. Canada is still engaged in the costly venture of showing that she can make her wheat the highest priced in the world, even if it results in the loss of all her markets to competitor nations.

Like the farm board in this country, the Canadian wheat policy has become an issue of bitter political controversy. With a general election approaching in the dominion and the present government fighting desperately to justify its record, the outcome of the Canadian situation is still clouded in uncertainty.

But nature and foreign countries are forcing Canada's hand, and she may give way without much warning. Canada is now holding a surplus 225 million bushels, acquired at prices above the present market. The coming crop promises to bulk larger than either of the two preceding crops.

Russia Looms as Factor.

And out of Russia is coming ominous news. The official forecast promises one of the biggest wheat harvests in Russian history. Again Russia may resume her rôle as a big exporter.

Reëntry of the soviet into the world market on a big scale would certainly put a crimp in Canada's attempt to dictate prices to the rest of the world. At the same time the United States will probably resume on a limited scale her historic position as an exporter during the coming year. These are factors which will certainly have an important bearing on nationalistic wheat policies.

Already there is evidence that some of the European countries are in a frame of mind to quit their attempts to stimulate domestic wheat production and resume their policies of buying foreign wheat. If they can buy wheat abroad more cheaply than it can be produced at home the subsidies which have been so freely offered to domestic producers are likely to be abandoned. The question, of course, is bound up with the larger one of international trade in general, which is still hampered by various tarif and exchange restrictions.

SHARE WEALTH PROGRAM FAILS TO STOP STOCKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 23.—In spite of the two day setback it suffered after announcement of President Roosevelt's share the wealth program, with its implications of a fresh turn to the left by the administration, the stock market finished the week nearly two points higher, with all sections of the list pointing upward. Trading volume showed an encouraging pickup on the rebound, Friday's sales topping the million and a half share mark and those of yesterday's short session running in excess of 787,000 shares.

Week-end commission house comment indicated a pretty general opinion that this latest bogey raised by the New Deal had been laid, at least for the time being, and that the market is in a position to capitalize on inflationary psychology and the growing evidences of slow business improvement. The federal reserve reported in its monthly bulletin that "profits of larger business concerns during the first quarter of 1935 exceeded that of any similar period since 1930."

Seen as Political By-play.

Brokers and traders alike seemed convinced that the Roosevelt proposal was nothing more nor less than a political by-play designed to head off a swing of radical party elements toward the camps of Huey Long, Father Coughlin, and others, and that there was little probability of any serious attempt to enact it into legislation at this session of congress, if at all. Indeed, some observers thought the effect of the proposal on market operations was exaggerated from the outset and that it was made an excuse rather than the real reason for much of the selling which bore the list down Wednesday and again Thursday.

Look to Supreme Court.

Those entertaining this view of the situation have come to believe that the various types of "surprise" programs emanating from the White House here of late not only have little chance of being enacted into law with their original fangs, but that any radical legislation that might be placed on the statute books under the head of New Deal reforms is very likely to be nullified by the Supreme court before it can do much damage.

This growing reliance on the highest court of the land to keep the Brain Trusters and their clan in line has brought about a brand new psychology in the street, and one that is coming in for more and more comment as the days go by. Given another decision or two like that invalidating the NRA, brokers believe that the market might reasonably be expected to buck up every time the President proposes some new scheme to help the "forgotten man" at the expense of his richer brother.

The market got some further help from the house committee's action in softening the Wheeler-Rayburn bill directed at public utility holding companies. The committee rejected entirely the so-called "death penalty" provision of the measure and gave further evidence of what the street referred to as "returning sanity and political independence among congressmen."

CHICAGO BUSINESS, BOTH WHOLESALE AND RETAIL, SHOWS UPTURN

Trade in Chicago retail and wholesale circles showed a noticeable pickup last week, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. There was good business in the retail clothing and other warm weather lines, the automobile trade getting its proportionate share of the improvement.

There was a better tone evident in the wholesale field as more interest was shown among buyers for stores in the local trade zone. It was generally believed that a good month lies ahead.

In the industrial field there was no marked change, although it is expected that a new upward movement will begin after the adjournment of congress and the state legislature. Railroads continued to report fair trafic in both the passenger and freight departments.

FEDERAL LAND BANK INTEREST CUT TO 4 PER CENT

Washington, D. C., June 23.—(AP)—The Farm Credit administration announced today that a reduction July 1 of interest rates by federal land banks will bring the contract rate on new loans to an "all time low" of 4 per cent.

A reduction of one-half per cent was made April 1, and an additional one-quarter per cent April 10. The reduction effective July 1 is another quarter per cent, bringing the rate to 4 per cent.

"This is not an emergency rate," Gov. W. I. Myers of the FCA said. "This new low 4 per cent rate is a direct reflection of the lower rate of interest borne by federal farm loan bonds sold by the federal land banks. It is in keeping with the policy of the FCA to lower or raise the interest rates on new loans as the rates on their new bond issues vary."

Railroads Have 305,218 Surplus Cars on Hand

Class one railroads on May 31 had 305,218 surplus freight cars in good repair and immediately available for service, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. This was a decrease of 31,262 cars from the total of 336,480 cars in this classification on May 14.

OMAHA ZEPHYR OF BURLINGTON ADDS FOURTH CAR

Lincoln, Neb., June 23.—[Special.]—After having been out of service for three days the Burlington road's original Zephyr tomorrow will resume its daily 500 mile round trip operation between Lincoln and Omaha and Kansas City as a four car train. The Zephyr was taken off its run to allow an additional coach to be inserted, thus increasing its capacity from 72 seats to 112.

Although the additional car could have been cut in within two hours, officials of the road desired a longer time to see how the streamlined train had stood up after the 138,937 miles it has traveled since it was christened. They found that not a single part was worn perceptibly, either the Diesel-electric engine, articulated trucks, axles, or wheels.

A daily record has been made of the operation of the train for study by all the railroads interested in trying to find the best equipment to meet their requirements. The cost of operation and maintenance on the 500 mile run during the 217 days it has been in service has been established at approximately 35 cents a mile as compared with a cost of 65 cents a mile with the steam equipment it displaced.

HOLC DEADLINE FOR HOME LOANS THURSDAY NIGHT

Washington, D. C., June 23.—(AP)—Interest rates on insured refinanced mortgages today was reduced by the Federal Housing administration from 5½ per cent to 5 per cent. At the same time the Home Owners' Loan corporation, which has been refinancing mortgages, announced that it would not receive applications after midnight of next Thursday, June 27.

The changes in the Home Owners' Loan regulations were announced by Stewart McDonald, acting administrator.

The housing administration, besides limiting to 5 per cent the interest rate on all types of insured mortgages, also reduced the premium on refinanced mortgages to one-half of 1 per cent the same as new financing. Previously it had been 1 per cent.

TRADE LEADERS OF 35 COUNTRIES MEET IN PARIS

PARIS, June 23.—(AP)—A resolution urging the earliest possible currency stabilization and the easing of trade barriers will be presented by 100 members of the American delegation to the eighth annual congress of the International Chamber of Commerce, which opens tomorrow.

One thousand business leaders of 35 nations are here for the session. Elliott Wadsworth, Boston banker, is drawing up the resolution on trade and currency.

One central problem—how to re-establish equilibrium in world trade and international economic relationships—occupies the conference. To it is tied the question of foreign exchange and stabilization.

U. S. WILL SELL $100,000,000 BONDS ON HIGHEST BID

Washington, D. C., June 23.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau tonight offered to sell $100,000,000 of 3 per cent bonds of 1946-'48, on a "highest bid" basis. Taking advantage of favorable market conditions, Morgenthau last month sold a similar issue at an average price of 103.04 to yield the purchaser less than 2.60 per cent.

Today's issue will be dated June 15, 1934, and mature on June 15, 1948, but will be called for redemption on and after June 15, 1946. No bids for less than par and accrued interest will be considered.

BUSINESS GROUP RAPS EFFORTS BEING MADE FOR STABILIZATION

The organization of business men, advocates of dollar devaluation, in telegrams to Duncan U. Fletcher, chairman of the senate banking and currency committee, and Henry B. Steagall, chairman of the house banking and currency committee, and all other congressmen, declared:

"This committee believes it unwise and unconstitutional to take the question of what the buying power of our dollar shall be away from congress and having it decided in secret conference, or by bargaining, with nations or foreign banks, whose objectives and interest are, for the most part, different from and hostile to our own.

"Control of its money is the most vital and important power that a nation has. It should never be surrendered. . . .

"Our monetary system is deranged because of the neglect and default of our congress to perform its plain constitutional duty. With other nations recovering before our eyes, by simply managing their money and the price of gold, our congress neglects this and leaves the way open for internationalist efforts to tie us into a straight jacket of permanent monetary disadvantage by so-called stabilization agreements."

Rail President Blames NRA for Cost Rise

Higher prices caused chiefly by NRA code regulations were held responsible for a large share of the $8,968,084 increase in operating expenses of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company by Daniel Willard, president, in the 1934 annual report issued last night.

Net loss for the year, previously reported, was $3,825,752 compared with a profit of $204,772 in 1933. Willard said, however, that the 1934 loss was "after a charge to expenses of $7,583,759 for depreciation of equipment, indicating a cash realization from operations of $3,758,007.

Surplus Down 8 Millions.

Corporate surplus declined $8,179,535 because of the deficit and various adjustments, including a net decrease of $6,348,548 in investments. Retirement of obsolete equipment accounted for most of the latter.

Discussing the toll of rising prices, Willard said that fuel cost $2,400,000 more than in 1933 and that higher prices for materials cost the road $1,000,000. Restoration of part of the 1932 wage cut cost $850,000 and two further increases this year are estimated to rais 1935 expenses by $4,500,000 from 1934.

Operating revenues last year aggregated $135,539,395 for a gain of $3,747,142 from 1933. This was more than canceled by the $8,968,084 rise in expenses to a total of $99,337,784. Taxes, equipment, and joint facility rents took $12,523,672 more to leave operating income at $23,677,939, or $5,171,262 less than in 1933.

Freight Revenue Gains.

Revenue from freight trafic increased $2,918,167, or 2.57 per cent. Carriage of mail and express brought in $479,738, or 5.57 per cent more than in 1933. The gain of $349,237, or 3.56 per cent, in passenger revenue was attributed by Willard partly to improved service and more comfortable travel, including air conditioned coaches.

Willard quoted sections of reports by the Interstate Commerce commission and Federal Coördinator of Transportation Joseph B. Eastman urging regulation of highway and water transportation, and asserted that surveys of the coördinator "should be productive of much good."

"The rail carriers have not contended for less regulation to enable them to meet the charges and practices of competing forms of transportation," he said, "but have argued that their competitors in other forms of transportation should be brought under similar regulation and control."

BANK DEPOSIT INSURANCE WILL BE CONTINUED

Washington, D. C., June 23.—(AP)—Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, said today there was "no occasion for an impression [bank] insurance coverage is to cease."

"Federal deposit insurance is not expiring on July 1," Crowley explained, "but under existing law would undergo a transition from a temporary to a permanent form for all eligible banks now covered by the insurance of deposits or for those not now covered which apply and qualify.

"Depositors in banks as well as bankers should clearly understand that deposit insurance is not expiring, but continuing either under the plan provided by existing law or under such modification or extension as congress may determine."

FINISHED STEEL DEMAND EASES; OUTPUT LOWER

Production Falls 3½ Points to 35½%.

While there was a substantial increase last week in structural shape awards to 32,000 tons, largest since March, a sharp drop in the demand for finished steel products in general caused the steel mills' operating rate to decline 3½ more points to 35½ per cent of theoretical capacity, the magazine Steel says in its current issue.

Despite this downward trend in production, sentiment in the market continues moderately strong, according to the journal. A further reduction is anticipated by steelmakers, but the transition from June to July is not expected to be accompanied by such a slump as developed last year, when the rate fell from 53 to 26 per cent.

Labor Legislation Minimized.

"Labor legislation, passed and pending at Washington, is far less a disturbing influence on the markets than would have been true before the Supreme court's decision," the review says. "The effect of the Wagner bill's passage is minimized by doubts as to its constitutionality.

"The majority of steel producers now have pension plans and so are exempt from the social securities legislation. The proposed tax program means an increase of 22 per cent for most steelmakers, as they fall in the highest bracket, but the proposal for the use of taxing power against corporate surpluses appears too indefinite at this time to be of any immediate market significance."

Operating Losses Vary.

Operations in the mills were off 24 points to 70 per cent in Detroit, 2 to 30 at Pittsburgh, 2 to 39 in Chicago, 3 to 48 at Cleveland, 3 to 32 at Buffalo, 1 to 29 in eastern Pennsylvania, 4 to 56 in New England, ½ to 30 in Birmingham, and 1 to 41 at Youngstown. Wheeling was unchanged at 48 per cent.

The magazine's iron and steel price composite was off 1 cent at $32.40 a ton and the scrap composite was 8 cents lower at $10.38 a ton, while the finished steel index remained at $54 a ton.

CORPORATE BOND PRICES ADVANCE ON GOOD DEMAND

Utility Issues Display the Most Strength.

New York, June 23.—(AP)—Except for a temporary setback following President Roosevelt's tax message, corporate bond prices moved upward in orderly fashion last week under heavy speculative and investment demand.

Utility issues were especially strong and active as a result of elimination by the house committee of the "death sentence" clause in the Wheeler-Rayburn holding company bill and were able to stand alone in the face of sagging tendencies elsewhere when the administration's tax objectives were placed before congress.

Utility Average at 1935 Peak.

The Associated Press average of 10 utility bonds made new 1935 highs on three days in succession.

While railroad and industrial loans showed no signs of running away and were as thin-skinned as stocks when selling pressure was applied, they were quick to recuperate and worked modestly higher for the week.

Increased car loadings and improvement in the longer-term outlook made junior carrier obligations attractive to speculators while overflow investment funds took up the slack in other types.

Federals Fairly Steady.

Other than a brief sinking spell on Thursday, following announcement that the treasury would go on the "auction block" again and sell another batch of fixed coupon bonds, U. S. government loans were quiet and generally steady throughout the week. This method of meeting immediate requirements aroused the ire of government bond dealers when first introduced a month or so ago.

Plans to refund outstanding obligations at lower interest rates were pushed by several corporations, including some of the large packing houses and several well-known utility and communications companies.

Further improvement in French government bonds and a number of South American loans were features of the foreign division.

West Penn Power.

Investors' Guide: Inclosed find stamped envelope and shall appreciate whatever information you may be able to give me about West Penn Power 7 per cent preferred.—M. F. C.

Answer: West Penn Power company is a unit in the American Water Works and Electric system. It operates through wholly owned subsidiaries which furnish electricity in western and northern Pennsylvania over an area of 3,700 square miles, reaching a population of 1,080,000.

Earnings have covered preferred dividend requirements by a wide margin over a long period of time. During the first quarter of 1935 preferred dividend requirements were earned 3.46 times, against 3.69 times in the corresponding 1934 period.

Net income in 1934 was $6,399,000, against $6,480,000 in 1933. Per share earnings on the preferred were $21.54 in 1934, $21.81 in 1933, $20.85 in 1932, and $27.17 in 1931.

Current position at the close of 1934 was satisfactory. Current assets were $4,981,000 and current liabilities were $2,647,000.

Capitalization consists of $49,500,000 funded debt, $29,708,000 of 6 and 7 per cent preferred stock of equal priority, and $27,750,000 of common stock. The preferred is high grade.

Electric Auto-Lite.

Investors' Guide: Relative to strike early in 1934 at the Toledo plant of Electric Auto-Lite company papers published reports that the plant was damaged by strike sympathizers to the extent of $150,000 and that Ohio state troops were guarding plant indicating responsibility for these damages. Did the state of Ohio ever settle for these damages?—B. D. C.

Answer: We have the following letter from F. H. Landwehr, secretary of the company:

"We do not have any claim against either the state of Ohio or the city of Toledo in connection with the damage done during the strike last year."

We understand, however, that the company collected a substantial amount as compensation for the damage under a riot and civil commotion insurance policy.

American Commonwealth Power.

Investors' Guide: I shall appreciate it very much if you can give me some information in regard to American Commonwealths Power corporation class A stock. I have about 200 shares.—H. M. G.

Answer: American Commonwealths Power corporation was reorganized on June 27, 1934. The plan made no provision for any class of stock of the company because assets were insufficient to pay debts. Stock of American Commonwealths Power corporation is therefore worthless.

many nationally known banks fight shy of the preferred stock idea. The accompanying table shows that many banks with a tradition of independence, have never sold stock to the RFC.

Notable among these are the Union Trust company and Mellon National bank, both of Pittsburgh, and each dominated by the Mellon family. Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, who is now bitterly fighting a New Deal attack on his income taxes, is reported to have made one of his few recent appearances at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Clearing house, in order to oppose sales of stock to the RFC by banks in the clearing house.

Lists Some of Banks Paying Off.

The fifteen banks which have paid off their RFC stock in full and the amounts paid, are: Guaranty Trust company, New York, 20 million dollars; Bankers' Trust company, New York, 5 million dollars; Central Hanover Bank and Trust company, New York, 5 million dollars; Bank of the Manhattan company, New York, 3 million dollars; Irving Trust company, New York, 5 million dollars; Chemical Bank and Trust company, New York, 5 million dollars; New York Trust company, 2½ million dollars; Corn Exchange bank, New York, 3 million dollars; Bank of New York and Trust company, 1 million dollars; Commerce Trust company, Kansas City, 3 million dollars; Brooklyn Trust company, New York, 2 million dollars; Citizens National Bank and Trust company, Los Angeles, 1 million dollars; First National Bank, Dallas, 2 million dollars; Marine Midland Trust company, New York, 1 million dollars; Fifth Avenue bank, New York, $200,000.

Several other banks have made substantial reductions in their preferred stock totals, while others have made little or no repayments. Among those making only small reductions or none at all since March 31, 1934, are:

National City bank, New York; Continental Illinois and First National banks, Chicago; Security-First National bank, Los Angeles; Manufacturers Trust company, New York; Cleveland Trust company, American Trust company, San Francisco; First Wisconsin National bank, Milwaukee; San Francisco bank; Northwestern National Bank and Trust company, Minneapolis; National City bank, Cleveland; Manufacturers' and Traders' Trust company, Buffalo, and Detroit Savings bank.

These Banks Sell Stock.

The nine banks which have sold stock or notes to the RFC since March 31, 1934, and the amounts outstanding, are:

First Wisconsin National bank, Milwaukee, 10 million dollars; Fidelity Union Trust company, Newark, $6,988,931; Central United National bank, Cleveland, $7,929,008; Mississippi Valley Trust company, St. Louis, $500,000; Fifth-Third Union Trust company, Cincinnati, 5 million dollars; New York State National bank, Albany, 1½ million dollars; Lincoln-Alliance Bank and Trust company, Rochester, 2½ million dollars; Central Trust company, Cincinnati, 2¼ million dollars; First Trust and Deposit company, Syracuse, 7 million dollars.

LARGE BANKS IN WHICH RFC OWNS STOCK

Washington, D. C., June 23.—[Special.]—The following table lists the ninety-nine largest banks on the basis of total deposits, giving their total capital funds and the share of their capital held by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The figure for the total capital includes surplus and undivided profits and also includes the amount of RFC stock shown in the second column of figures. The RFC stock holdings, as of May 31, 1935, are given in the second column of figures, while the right hand column gives the RFC stock holdings as of March 31, 1934, the last date on which THE TRIBUNE made a survey. RFC control depends on the ratio of its holdings to total capital, surplus, and undivided profits.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

MAN TO MAN

ARE YOU QUALIFIED FOR A BUSINESS OF YOUR OWN?

WE NEED MEN

For Chicago and the Middle West.

The observation of the writer is that most men who are seeking a job have been associated in their old time too long.

STOP AND THINK. Does your product or idea justify your time? Are you convinced that there is an absolute buying demand for your article NOW?

Men who are without jobs and men who are unprofitably employed should immediately interview the writer at this ad and hear the amazing story of an electric hygiene unit that is going over big and making men comm. from $40 to as high as $150 a week.

Sales ability is not essential; we will discount sales experience in favor of a genuine desire to work hard and learn.

WE FINANCE YOU for your own business and pay you weekly.

This product comes close to selling itself—in fact it has been adopted by prominent institutions all over the United States. It is passed and indorsed by the U. S. Bureau of Standards—is being used in government institutions all over the U. S.—in fact the White House, Senate, Coast Guard stations, etc.—hospitals, medical authorities and individual homes are adopting it almost instantly after witnessing its revolutionary performance.

In our organization we have representatives from all walks of life—mechanics, ministers, doctors, lawyers—in fact the former prohibition commissioner of the U. S., Roy T. Haynes.

There is no depression in this business.

Our books are open for a complete investigation by good men. You have nothing to lose but your time, and we invite a complete investigation. Come prepared to spend the day if you like. We will show you a real business.

Apply for personal interview Monday 11 a. m. or 3 p. m. promptly. Mrs. J. H. Welsh, Mid-West Distributor. 75 E. Wacker-drive, Room 1042.

"E" MEN ARE IN ACTION WITHOUT COMPETITION

By "E" men we mean Electrolux dealers. Men whom we finance in business for themselves. (Not refrigeration.)

A dealer makes anywhere from $45.00 to $150.00 a week and in a permanent business. This business, of course, is a business of selling. Many men doubt their ability to sell, therefore any suggestion is that you set to thinking in terms of making a living; if you are able-bodied and willing to be taught and shown to make a living for the balance of this year, next year and for many years to come, on a comm. basis.

'TIS NO SECRET —ANSWER—

We don't believe in sales—but we are LOADED WITH CARS and we think it is the only sensible thing to do—to cut prices and sell them out now. THIS IS NOT AN AUCTION SALE OR TRICK SALE, or one of those 99c sales or $10 down payment sales—but bona fide Sale of Automobiles where the prices have been drastically reduced—and backed by Studebaker's 83 year old reputation for fair dealing — and by Studebaker's famous nationally advertised pledge.
